DEMOCRACY'S WAR BOOST FOR BRYAN.

Revolt of Tammany from Clark's Rule Forces South Back to Standard of the "Peerless Leader."

WELL LAID PLAN IS AWRY

Hopes That Seeds of Discord Among Republicans Would Give Majority in House Are Smashed.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—When William Jennings Bryan was decisively beaten in the last campaign, it was assumed by the country at large that the Democratic party would devote itself at once to the important task of a reorganization on an entirely new basis.

Mr. Bryan did not seem to join in with this plan with any great amount of enthusiasm, and he announced he would hold himself in readiness at any time to respond to the call of his country as expressed in any regularly organized Democratic national convention. On the other hand, the northern and eastern leaders generally assumed that, after having been beaten three times by constantly increasing pluralities, Mr. Bryan might fairly be counted out of the running so far as availability was concerned.

There was, therefore, a great deal of talk about coming unity in the Democratic party and a reorganization which would center around the nomination of some popular or conservative man like Gov. Johnson of Minnesota or Gov. Harmon of Ohio.

Leaders Drifting Farther Apart.

Recent events have proved extremely disappointing to the Democratic leaders. Instead of getting together on a harmony basis they are actually drifting farther and farther apart. The split between Tammany and the south has become significant since the opening of the special session of congress and the fight on rules, and there are developing other lines of cleavage, particularly over the tariff and the treatment of trusts, which do not make for unity in the party, at least at the present time.

There are some years to elapse before the next national campaign, and it may be that the warring elements in the Democratic party may agree to bury the hatchet. It does not look that way at the present time, however, and the most conservative men in both wings of the party now say they do not see how they can possibly get together in time to carry the next congressional election, as they had fondly hoped to do.

It was the plan of the Democratic leaders to do everything the insurgent Republicans wanted in the way of a revision of the house rules, with the idea that the regular Republicans would retaliate. Then there would be strife among the Republicans in a number of the congressional districts, with the possibility of two candidates in that party. The result would be, as a matter of practical politics, that a Democrat would slip into the house from the districts which were normally Republican.

Well Laid Plan Goes Awry.

By increasing the disaffection among the Republicans and fomenting in the west a campaign against that condition of affairs which is mysteriously known as Cannonism the oldest and sanest of Democratic leaders believed they could elect a majority in the house in 1910. Thereupon they would be in control of legislation, because they could dictate to the administration in the matter of appropriations and general policy.

This plan of campaign involved the permanent shelving of Mr. Bryan and the choice of Johnson or Harmon or somebody of that type from the middle west who would make a rattling campaign against Taft two years thereafter.

All of these plans have been smashed by the serious split among the Democrats in the house of representatives. They are getting farther and farther apart, and bad blood seems to be cropping up between the two factions to such an extent that any successful campaign for control of the next house is almost out of the question. There now is no Democratic leader in the lower house of congress who can draw after him more than a respectable fragment of his party, and the situation in the senate is not much better.

Cannon Forces the Break.

The split was manifestly engineered by Cannon, and Fitzgerald and the other New York Democrats were almost open in their defiance to Champ Clark as the representative of Bryan. If the split had been between the north and south, as such, it would have been easier to understand, but unfortunately the Tammany men were not supported by any Democrats from the Mississippi valley with the single exception of McDermott of Chicago. The other men of the party from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Missouri stuck by the caucus and are still lined up with the nominal Democratic leader.

Most of the southern Democrats have long memories, and when Tammany sends a delegation to the next national convention the famous organization is likely to be openly stigmatized as a traitor to the party. It used to be said of Tammany Hall that regularity was made to take the place of charity and

MRS. LORILLARD JR. COMMITS SUICIDE.

Wife of the Tobacco Magnate Slays Herself by Turnng On Gas in Her Residence in Washington.

LEAVES FETE FOR DEATH.

Jewels Worn at Dinner, Attended by Many Prominent Persons, Still on Head When Her Body Is Found.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—Weary of society, and face to face, as she believed, with years of physical suffering, Mrs. Pierre Lorillard Jr., aged 49, wife of the tobacco magnate, committed suicide by asphyxiation at her home near the fashionable Dupont circle early today.

Her tragic death has shocked the first social circles of the capital as nothing else in years. Tonight the members of the Lorillard family, famous because of its wealth, are gathering here to mourn over the unexpected blow. In spite of the coroner's certificate of death by suicide, members of the family declare Mrs. Lorillard died of heart failure.

Mrs. Lorillard left a note which the coroner has seen, but which Mr. Lorillard refused to allow to be made public. While addressed to no one, it is said it is personal in its nature. It is understood that it contains no declaration of an intention on the part of Mrs. Lorillard to take her life.

Husband Calls It Accident.

Mrs. Lorillard was subject to frequent attacks of despondency, it is said. Tonight Mr. Lorillard stated that in his opinion the death of his wife was not due to suicidal intent, but was the result of an accident. He is said to have denied that his wife had left a note.

Extreme reticence is being maintained by the Lorillard family and all others who possess information concerning the sudden death. Only a few of the most intimate friends have been admitted to the home since the news spread of Mrs. Lorillard's death.

Inquiry at the residence met with the declaration that Mrs. Lorillard had not committed suicide.

"She died of heart failure," retorted the servants.

When Coroner Nevitt notified the police of Mrs. Lorillard's death an officer was sent to the residence to investigate, but he was denied admission, being referred to the coroner for such information as the police department might desire.

Death Follows Social Event.

The death was made more dramatic by occurring only a few hours after Mr. and Mrs. Lorillard had been the guests of Mrs. Richard Townsend, in Massachusetts avenue, at a dinner given in honor of Lady Paget. In fact, it is believed that as soon as Mrs. Lorillard arrived at her home, 2030 Hillyer place, shortly after midnight this morning, she began to prepare for her death.

About 8:30 o'clock this morning the butler in the Lorillard residence detected an odor of gas. With little difficulty the origin of the fumes was traced to Mrs. Lorillard's apartments. Opening the door of the bathroom just off of her suite the butler was horrified to behold the body of the mistress of the house stretched out lifeless on the floor. Her face was turned to the mat on the floor.

The alarm given by the butler brought Mr. Lorillard from his apartments across the hall. Together they carried the limp body to Mrs. Lorillard's room. Panic stricken, the servant was dispatched for a doctor, while Mr. Lorillard attempted to revive his wife by means of artificial respiration. Dr. M. F. Cuthbert, the family physician, was summoned, and arrived about the same time that Dr. H. B. Deale was admitted to the residence. Both resorted to every scientific method within their power to restore life, but after an hour's efforts gave up in despair.

Coroner Calls It Suicide.

Shortly afterward Dr. J. Ramsey Nevitt, the coroner, was notified. He visited the Lorillard home, and after an investigation ordered Deputy Coroner Glazebrook to perform an autopsy, upon the completion of which Dr. Nevitt issued a certificate of death of suicide by gas poisoning. He said later that gas was escaping from one or more jets in the bathroom when the body was discovered and the condition of the lungs indicated death by gas poisoning.

The last person to see Mrs. Lorillard alive was her husband. He bade her good night as they separated to go to their apartments after returning home about midnight from the Townsend residence. Mrs. Lorillard was seemingly in the best of spirits.

She had joined freely in the social festivities of the evening at the Townsend home, where had gathered the Brazilian ambassador and Mme. Nabuco, the Danish minister and Countess Moltke, the secretary of the navy and Mrs. Meyer, Senator and Mrs. Lodge, Senator and Mrs. Aldrich, Senator Root, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Endicott of Boston, Lady Clifford of England, Col. and Mrs. Colin Campbell, Col. and Mrs. McCawley, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moore, the Hon. Maude Pauncefote, Commodore Rodgers, Rear Admiral Cowles, and Capt. Archibald Butt, military aid of the president.

Diamond Still on Head.

Mrs. Lorillard's bed had the appearance of not having been occupied during the night. Mrs. Lorillard had disrobed after arriving home and when found her body was clothed in a dressing gown. The dog collar of diamonds she wore at the dinner had been removed before she went to the bathroom, but the costly circle of diamonds that adorned her hair had not been displaced.

The Lorillards have lived at Hillyer place, which is only a stone's throw from Dupont circle and in the heart of the fashionable community between Dupont and Sheridan circles, since January. Immediately preceding that time Mrs. Lorillard was in Europe, and while in France consulted an eminent physician in regard to her ailment. The family has been prominent each summer for several years past at Tuxedo Park, and they have spent their winters in Washington. About a year ago they leased a fashionable residence on Connecticut avenue for the season, and the winter before entertained in a house on Massachusetts avenue.

Mrs. Lorillard, before her marriage to Mr. Lorillard in 1881, was Miss Caroline J. Hamilton. She is survived by two sons, one of whom is now traveling in the orient, and the

WHO WANTS SERVIAN THRONE?

Both Sons of King Peter Push Aside a Crown.

MAY BE POLITICS IN MOVE.

Crown Prince George Notorious in Europe for Excesses.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BELGRADE, March 25.—Crown Prince George of Servia has sent to the premier his renunciation of the right of succession to the throne. It followed upon the campaign of comment which has been carried on in the press against the excesses which the young prince has carried out. The climax of this comment was reached when the prince was practically accused of having slain one of the palace servants.

The premier returned the letter of renunciation to King Peter upon the advice of parliament that he had no legal right in accepting any message of such grave import from the hands of the prince.

The situation is further complicated by the action of Prince Alexander, the second son of the king, in declining to accept the succession and declaring that neither his father nor the parliament had the right or power to force him into the place.

Public Wants Younger Prince.

This action of the younger son of the royal house was a blow to the general public, which was greatly pleased with the renunciation of the elder prince, and hoped it would mean his permanent obliteration. Prince George's wild career and contempt of law have scandalized the country. Alexander, the younger brother, is much more intelligent, and would be a much more acceptable heir to the throne.

One thing definite is hoped for. This is a lightening of the war clouds which have hung for so long over the Balkans. Prince George has been considered the leader of the war party, and his firebrand speeches have done much to inflame the people against Austria-Hungary. For this reason it is thought the renunciation of his rights may have been due to pressure brought upon George by the peace party.

The letter of Prince George was sent to Premier Novakovitch without the knowledge or consent of the king. Immediately on the receipt of the letter, the premier notified the members of the cabinet of its contents and summoned an urgency meeting of the cabinet for this afternoon, at which King Peter presided.

Cabinet Turns Down Plea.

The cabinet decided that the premier is incompetent to receive a direct communication from Crown Prince George, who is subject only to his father's authority. The premier will, therefore, advise the prince to address himself to the king. The prince's letter reads as follows:

"Driven by unjustified insinuations, based on an unfortunate occurrence, I beg in defense of my honor, as well as my conscience, to declare that I renounce all claims to the throne as well as any other privileges to which I am entitled. I beg you to take the necessary steps that this action may receive sanction. I place my services as a soldier and a citizen at the disposal of the king and the fatherland. I am ready to give my life for them."

The "unfortunate occurrence" of which George's letter speaks was the death of one of his servants, a man named Kolakovits, and it is now learned that the prince took this action because of a threatened interpellation in the national assembly on this subject.

The servant Kolakovits, was removed to a hospital last week suffering from serious internal injuries and he died after an operation. According to the report of the doctors who performed an autopsy, the man suffered from hernia, and his death was due to serious injury consequent upon falling down stairs. In the current reports Kolakovits before his death asserted that the injuries to his head and abdomen had been inflicted by the crown prince.

There have been many previous reports of the brutalities of this hair brained youth since he came to Belgrade after the murders of King Alexander and Queen Draga in 1903. Statesmen and officials of high and low degree are said to have been beaten and fired on by the prince during fits of crazy anger. Another story credits him with the murder of a gamekeeper and still another with an attempt to kill two footmen who opposed his efforts to force his way into a Belgrade nunnery.

London Sees New Hope.

LONDON, March 25.—The Balkan difficulty has assumed a new aspect owing to the news of the abdication of the Servian crown prince.

There are not wanting those, both here and at Vienna, who believe that a political move underlies his renunciation. Whether or not this is the case, it is certain that the removal of the crown prince from the scene is a step making for peace. It will be easier under present conditions for Servia to retreat from a difficult situation.

Peace Moves by Austria.

VIENNA, March 25.—The joint council of the Austro-Hungarian ministers, presided over by Archduke Francis, decided to postpone for the present the delivery of the next note to Servia, and it is reported that an inclination was shown to accept the last Anglo-Russian proposal on behalf of Servia.

THREATENS TO KILL GIRL AIDING COUNCIL ASPIRANT.

Anonymous Letter Writer Also Says He Will Commit Suicide Unless Young Woman Deserts Kahnweiler's Cause.

Threats of murder sent in an anonymous letter have been used to intimidate one of the young women campaign workers for Sidney Kahnweiler, Democratic candidate for alderman in the Sixth ward.

The letter was received by Miss Lillian Grossman, 5757 Calumet avenue.

The letter, which is in the hands of Postoffice Inspector J. E. Stuart, is said to be of an exceedingly vulgar character and to close with the following threat:

If you do not stop working for Sidney I will kill both you and him.

The name signed to the missive is "Willie Everett" and the writer says he is chauffeur for the family of Franklin C. Jocelyn, 4247 Drexel boulevard. He requests that an answer be sent in the care of a member of the Jocelyn family and says he will commit suicide if an answer is not sent.

Members of the Jocelyn family do not know the man and say they have no chauffeur.

The letter is written in an apparently disguised hand, beginning with letters slanting to the left and closing with perpendicular ones. Inspector Stuart thinks it was written by a woman. Mr. Kahnweiler is inclined to think a man wrote it with the intention of interfering with his campaign.

"A number of young women have been doing most effective work for me," he said, "and I am inclined to think some one wants to stop them."

Miss Grossman refused to discuss the letter last evening.

WIDOW ASKS POLICE AID.

Her Husband Was Killed by a Patrolman and Subscription May Be Raised.

Mrs. Joseph Finn, widow of the man who was shot by Patrolman Scott of the Twenty-second street police station, yesterday made formal request to Chief of Police Shippy for financial assistance. When Mrs. Finn left his office Chief Shippy said he was considering the advisability of taking up a subscription among the members of his department for Mrs. Finn and her infant child. The collection must be voluntary, according to the chief.

NEW STATESMEN ARE MODEST

Senator W. L. Jones Never, Never Worked for Any Octopus.

CROW SAVED U. S. MILLIONS.

Coloradoan Admits He Is Champion American Legislator.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—Some of the autobiographies of new members in the congressional directory are refreshing.

Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington, who with Senator Burton of Ohio was promoted from the house, pays a warm tribute to his wife, an unusual contribution to an official publication.

The sketch of Mr. Jones says he "was married to Minda Nelson at Enfield, Ill., in the fall of 1886, and whatever success he has attained is due to her earnest, faithful help and cheerful self-denial."

Mr. Jones also unfolds an unusual professional experience—"has never acted as attorney for any railroad, telegraph, or express company, or for any public service corporation."

Champion of American Lawmakers.

The house of representatives of the sixty-first congress embraces in its membership the champion legislator in American history, for Edward Thomas Taylor, representative at large from Colorado, says of his twelve years' service in the senate of his state:

"Has the reputation of having been the author of more important laws and constitutional amendments than any person that ever sat in any legislature of any state of the union during the history of the government—over forty general statutes and five separate constitutional amendments that were adopted by a vote of the people."

While serving as postmaster at Caruthersville, Representative Crow of Missouri relates that "several times he called the attention of congress to the manner of weighing mails; congress finally revised the method, whereby it is estimated that a saving of $10,000,000 a year was effected."

Built "Bright Angel" Trail.

An interesting figure in the house is Delegate Cameron of Arizona, Republican. He defeated veteran Mark Smith last fall, whereupon the story went the rounds that this result was a part of a scheme to secure statehood—allaying the Republican opposition by the idea that two Republican senators would be chosen by the new state. But Mr. Cameron has a better claim to fame than any based on politics. He located and built the "Bright Angel" trail into the Grand Cañon of Colorado and still maintains it.

The baby of the house is Palitte Elvins of Missouri, who was sworn in on the day on which he completed his thirty-first year.

Secretary Dickinson of the war department makes no reference to his politics in the sketch of himself. The one political fact stated in Secretary MacVeagh's biography is that he was a Democratic candidate for the United States senate in the '90s.

"Bill Club" Banquet Proposed.

A banquet unique in the history of official Washington may be held here before congress adjourns. The new congressional directory has disclosed that there are forty-four men in the house and six in the senate who rejoice in the Christian name of "William."

The "Bill club" of congress already has been organized and the suggestion has been made that it should signalize its existence by holding a dinner with William H. Taft as the principal guest. Men with the Christian name of "William" predominate in the house.

The date for the proposed festivities has not been decided upon, but the "bill" has met with general favor among the "Bills," and its final passage probably may be spoken of as assured.

YOUNG IN RETREAT FIRES HOT VOLLEY

Asserts Prominent Citizens Misrepresented Attitude of Municipal Voters' League.

REFUSES TO BE FALL GUY.

Declares False Promises of Support Induced Him to Enter Race Against Ald. Foreman.

When Hobart P. Young filed his midnight withdrawal as an independent candidate for alderman in the Third ward against Ald. Foreman he started something.

It wasn't so much his formal withdrawal which sent political Chicago into tantrums of surprise, chagrin, or satisfaction, depending upon who was expressing his feelings, but it was what the late candidate had to say about the Municipal Voters' league both Wednesday night and yesterday morning.

Mr. Young twirled a second stinger at the league, charging fifty-seven varieties of bad faith, and then caught an eighteen hour train for New York City, where he will remain a few days thinking over how near he came to being a real aldermanic candidate.

It is the first time the Municipal Voters' league had been jammed in first class shape, and it felt the blow. The executive committee met at noon and discussed the spot where the explosion had occurred.

Mum Until Formal Report.

Dr. Henry B. Favill, the president of the league, hurried to the tall and uncut immediately after the committee had adjourned, and the result was that the league officially stood mute.

"Nothing doing until the executive committee issues a formal report," said Secretary Fairbank.

The formal report will be out Tuesday, and the probabilities are that it will indorse Ald. Foreman upon his council record and give a meed of praise to M. A. Mergentheim, the Democratic aldermanic candidate against Foreman.

The hardest lick smashed between the eyes of the Ettelson-Schuyler Republican organization, which had expected to ride into political success through a Young victory and perchance win the boss-ship of the ward next primary day. Daniel J. Schuyler Jr. epitomized the feelings of himself and of all his lieutenants in the expressive quotation, "Stung." The Ettelson-Schuyler Republicans probably will refrain from going to the polls. It is said no effort will be made to get them to bolt to Mergentheim.

Douglas Club Not Pleased.

The Douglas Improvement club was disposed to order the charter draped in mourning for thirty days anyhow, and certain members of that organization were disgusted, regretful, and resentful over the way in which the anti-Foreman fight had dropped through the trap door. The club Saturday night indorsed Young and Mergentheim as against Foreman. The result is that Mergentheim will get the support of the organization.

Organization Republicans chuckled and admitted that "somebody had put something over." Mr. Young had so declared in his public statement, and the big fellows in the city hall and the county building agreed that a lot of people had caught their fingers in the buzz saw and that Hobart P. Young was not one of those on the injured list.

Clears Sky for Foreman.

Ald. Foreman, visibly satisfied with the clearing of the political skies in his section of the city, maintained silence except to say that his campaign will be carried on as advertised, and that he had expected to be elected anyhow.

What puzzled all hands round was what had happened to send the Young candidacy in on the derailing switch just before the stroke of 12. The general impression was that behind the returns might exist a reason which if generally known would throw a strong light upon the situation. The only official returns in evidence was a statement given out by Mr. Young just before he skipped to a New York bound flier.

Complains of Being "Fall Guy."

That statement, which sent all sorts of thrills through the body politic and which sent representatives of the Municipal Voters' league scampering to the high grass, said:

"I have been made the 'fall guy' in this fight. I was given to understand that I would receive the support of the Municipal Voters' league, and now I understand the league will indorse Mr. Foreman.

"Men prominent in the league and among the most prominent business men in Chicago came to me and asked me to become a candidate against Ald. Foreman. One of these members was Albert Keep II., chairman of the finance committee, an attorney, and a millionaire.

"I was told that for eighteen months there had been an investigation of Ald. Foreman's record. They gave me to believe that Mr. Foreman was not honest and would be reelected unless some other Republican ran against him. They said if I would make a fight they would be with me.

Says Promises Misled Him.

"It was understood the league would send out bulletins condemning Ald. Foreman's record and his affiliations with concerns having business with the city.

"Relying on these representations and believing the evidence would be given me to make a campaign against Ald. Foreman I consented to become a candidate.

"I am utterly unable to explain the sudden change in the attitude of the Municipal Voters' league. It was President Favill himself who told me the league was investigating Mr. Foreman's record. He said he could not state officially what would come of the investigation or what they would discover.

"Dr. Favill told me yesterday they could not find any evidence to support these charges. On Saturday the league had a long session with Ald. Foreman. I am informed. No one was able to produce any evidence against him, I am told.

Refuses to "Hold the Bag."

"Personally, I know nothing against Mr. Foreman, except that he is attorney for a number of companies that have contracts with the city, or are interested in franchises. Under the circumstances I do not feel called upon to enter a fight the issue of which is whether Mr. Foreman shall control Republican politics in the ward or some one else.

"Mayor Busse did call me into his office and explain this was the real issue. At that time I told him Mr. Foreman ought to be re-

TO WOMEN: THE PAYNE BILL PROPOSES A HIGHER TAX ON COTTON DRESS GOODS.

DEAR MADAM: Gloves and hosiery are not the only necessities for your wardrobe which congress asks you to pay more for in the new tariff bill. There is proposed a higher tariff on mercerized cottons—wash fabrics which are now so popular and which, as you know, may well be considered indispensable. An additional tax of 10 per cent has been placed on every yard of these goods.

Figure out what this will mean to you in some of the purchases of mercerized cottons you will make for dresses for yourself and children—how far this increased tax will go toward buying the linings and other findings for these dresses.

We also want you to know that congress in a way that almost defies detection has placed heavy increases on the prices of figured cottons. In this instance you will have to pay 15 per cent more for your dotted Swisses and other such fabrics.

If your preferences run towards ribbons for trimmings, here again you will meet unreasonable increases. The present rate is 50 per cent. You are asked by congress to pay 60 per cent. Even the domestic manufacturers are satisfied with the 50 per cent rate.

Can you see any good reasons for these inordinate increases? There is none. So let your congressman and your senators know your views. Write them today.

And, in passing, let us remind you again not to forget the increased taxes on gloves and hosiery.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

tired from public life. The mayor told me I was being put up as a candidate for an ulterior purpose. I am now convinced that is the real fight, and I do not intend to hold the bag as to who will be committeeman in the ward. The mayor never offered me anything to withdrawn. I have nothing to fight for."

Action Deferred by League.

The Municipal Voters' league refused, through Secretary Fairbank, to make any reply to the Young charges. The executive committee had met prior to the issuance of the second Young statement. President Favill had left the city, it was declared.

Lessing Rosenthal, vice president of the league, not talking officially but strictly personally, discussed the statement of Mr. Young.

"Mr. Young is seriously mistaken if he is under the impression that the support of the Municipal Voters' league had been promised to his candidacy," he said. "No person nor persons had the slightest vestige of right to extend promises of support on behalf of the league. That is a prerogative and the sole right of the executive committee. I am violating no confidence in saying the executive committee has not prepared its mind on the Third ward situation."

On Record for Foreman.

Mr. Rosenthal referred to the preliminary report of the league concerning the retiring aldermen in which this reference was made to Ald. Foreman: "Finishing fifth term, in which he has added to his former record of great usefulness by efficient and valuable services as chairman of the committee on local transportation in its constructive work looking to the solution of transportation problems."

"The league was on record on that point before the candidacy of Mr. Young was even thought of," said Mr. Rosenthal. "When Mr. Young became a candidate he was given the same opportunity to be heard by the representatives of the league as is given in all cases. The investigators of the league followed all the affidavits and statements which had been made by the Rev. Morton Culver Hartzell and the Douglas Neighborhood club. The executive committee sits more as a judicial body than as anything else with the added fact that the court obtains its own evidence.

Young's Hopes Too Strong.

"It is my personal opinion that no charge which has been made against Ald. Foreman was substantiated sufficiently to warrant opposition to him upon his council record. I do not know what the executive committee would have done had Mr. Young remained in the contest. I doubt much whether a report would have been issued which condemned Foreman and indorsed Young."

Such a report as Mr. Rosenthal refers to is exactly what the earnest supporters of Mr. Young's candidacy had expected. Several of them went so far as to say that had they not received assurances to that effect they never would have gone into the game so deeply.

From a compilation of statements made by various interested parties it appears that President Favill, Secretary Fairbank, and Mr. Rosenthal, three of the nine members of the executive committee of the M. V. L., strongly opposed a report on the Third ward which would condemn Ald. Foreman. The other six, in all probability, had favored strong support of Young to the end that Foreman might be defeated.

Possible Cause of Withdrawal.

The deduction is that Young realized that he could not win without the cordial and unanimous support of the league, which would go into his campaign to the limit and openly attempt the defeat of Foreman. This on the part of the league being impossible with a strong minority of the executive committee demanding an even break on the recommendation as between Foreman and Young, Mr. Young saw the light and quit the job.

Undoubtedly the strongest political pressure was brought to bear upon Young to get him out of the running. Mayor Busse, Congressman Lorimer, and other Republican leaders tried their hand, it is declared, but their underlying reason was that they believed in the organization brand of politics and felt that the independent candidacy of Young, backed by Senator Ettelson and Daniel J. Schuyler Jr., was a covert blow at the regular Third ward organization led by Ald. Foreman and Congressman Madden.

Dewey Still with Ettelson.

Col. Chauncey Dewey was asked about his views on the Third ward affair.

"I am still with Ettelson," he said. "We have been allies and I hope we shall continue to be so. Ettelson has the strongest organization in the ward. His fellows got 174 more Republican votes in the last primary than did the Madden-Foreman crowd. At the right time Ettelson will win out."

There is no question but that the attempt will be made to throw down Foreman for the committeemanship at the next primary, notwithstanding the punctured political tire which the Ettelson-Schuyler machine carries as a result of the Young flunk.

Congressman Martin B. Madden was quite optimistic over the situation. "I am delighted that Mr. Young has joined with us in furthering the candidacy of so splendid an alderman as Foreman," he said.

HOY STILL FEDERAL MARSHAL.

Chauncey Dewey's Nomination for the Place Sure, but May Be Delayed for Thirty Days.

It may be thirty days before the nomination of Chauncey Dewey as United States marshal for the northern district of Illinois to succeed Luman T. Hoy is sent to the senate by President Taft. A combination of conditions prevented his nomination yesterday, according to private advices from Washington. Confirmation was received by men in close touch with Washington officialdom that the agreement to make Col. Dewey marshal is signed, sealed, and delivered.

Marshal Hoy still occupies his office in the Federal building, and up to a late hour at night had received no notice to quit. His term of office extends for more than a year longer.

"I have not heard that I am to be removed, and I certainly have not resigned," he said. "If the president sends in another appointment for this office and the senate confirms it, I suppose I would be automatically removed, but it would be an unusual proceeding. In fact, for the last twenty years it has not been customary to remove officials until their terms expire, unless for cause. If President Taft starts in to make a clean sweep of the appointive offices it will upset precedent. I am not worrying, however."

HOSTILE DEMONSTRATION FOR AMERICAN FIANCEE OF JAP.

Miss Helen Gladys Emery and Mother Hooted and Given Ironical Shower of Rice on Leaving Home.

San Francisco, Cal., March 25.—Amid hoots and yells, banging of tin cans, and an ironical shower of rice and flowers, Mrs. John Emery, wife of Archdeacon Emery of the Episcopal church, and her daughter, Miss Helen Gladys Emery, whose engagement to Gunjiro Aoki, a Japanese, has aroused public sentiment against them, left their home at Corte Madeira last evening.

They came to this city, but almost immediately departed for Tacoma. Aoki was not with them when they left here, but it is supposed he has arranged to join his fiancée and her mother before reaching Sacramento.

Archdeacon Emery did not appear at the ferry nor was he at the Corte Madeira station when his wife and daughter faced the hostile crowd. Apparently he has not abandoned his opposition to the prospective marriage.

PUPILS BAR USE OF TOBACCO.

Every Boy in Stuart School in Springfield Signs Agreement to Abstain.

Springfield, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—Every boy in Stuart school, 281 in number, has signed an agreement to refrain from the use of tobacco in any form during the remainder of the school year. Principal Kilbride believes the action of pupils has not been duplicated by any public school of like proportions in the country.

START ON SUBWAY WITHIN 2 YEARS.

Busse Hopes to Have Terminals Electrified Also Before His Term Expires.

TO END SMOKE NUISANCE.

Entire New Plans for Underground Lines May Be Submitted to City Council.

Chicago will be digging its street car subway and the railroads will be digging a belt tunnel inclosing the downtown business district within the next two years if Mayor Busse is allowed to have his way in the matter. In addition the terminals of the railways will be electrified and the smoke nuisance practically abolished.

These are the great achievements the mayor hopes to accomplish before the term of his office expires two years hence, according to one of his closest advisers.

It developed during the day that the administration probably will take the initiative in the creation of the railroad subway as it has in the building of the underground street railway system. The city will coöperate with the Illinois Central in its plans for a subterranean loop, but it will insist on the broadening of the scheme to include all of the roads and will take the proposition out of the Central's hands if any disposition is shown to exclude competitors.

New Plans May Be Ordered.

At the same time it transpired that an upheaval in the plans for the traction subway is impending. It is probable that an entirely new set of plans for this underground system will be drawn before a single spade is set in earth and that Engineer Bion J. Arnold's ideas of construction will be adopted.

The present subway plans are contained in the special report prepared by the subway division of the city engineering bureau of which City Engineer Ericson is chief. The report was presented to the council's committee on local transportation, where it now is pending.

Whether these plans will be recommended to the council remains to be seen. It originally was intended that the subway division merely should gather information of the state of underground Chicago on which the actual subway construction plans later would be based. But the division went the whole route, delivering a full fledged set of plans of the subway itself in addition to the data of present underground works.

Clash Over Arnold Possible.

These plans were drawn without consultation with Mr. Arnold. He already has outlined pronounced ideas on Chicago's proposed subway, and as he now is the chief engineer, overseeing the rehabilitation of Chicago's surface traction system, many aldermen think it is the logical thing to retain him in the shaping of the subway project.

That there will be a fight on this demand appears likely at this time. A certain coolness between influential figures in the administration and Mr. Arnold has arisen. It is said to be explained by the refusal of the chief engineer to bend under the pressure of certain politicians who wished to interfere with his management of the street car rehabilitation.

The day was productive of additional indications that the Illinois Central is moving quietly to put through its scheme for an underground loop on as large a scale as the city council can be induced to authorize. There also were further indications that the railroad subway is inextricably bound up with Mayor Busse's pet project of the electrification of all railroad terminals in the city.

Would Abate Smoke Nuisance.

The mayor is set on eliminating the smoking locomotive in the city and is doing a lot of quiet maneuvering to bring about a condition which will make electrification of all the terminals an assured thing. He still is the sponsor of a legislative bill granting authority to the city to compel the railroads to electrify their terminals, and it is understood he will make a hard fight for the enactment of such a law.

The railroads are lying low and watching intently the movements of the mayor in this direction. They are asking few favors from the city and a subway is about the last thing they will demand so long as it is bound up with the costly project of electrification.

At the same time the mayor may find a handy club to his purpose in one of the overtures made to him by the Illinois Central. When he insisted that all the roads should share the subway alike, the Illinois Central officials responded that this was fair enough, but that the rights should be limited to those roads with electrified terminals.

Electrification May Come Soon.

One engineer said the motive of this rejoinder was to be found in the fact that the Central expected to achieve electrification fully ten years ahead of any other Chicago road and for that length of time at least would have exclusive enjoyment of the subway under that limitation.

It is not improbable the mayor eventually will give serious consideration to this proposed limitation. Any road that has rights in the subway will have a tremendous advantage over any competing line. It will be able to deliver its passengers almost at their office doors. It will be able to enter into traffic agreements with interurban trolley roads by which the electric cars from suburban points and even from down the state can enter the business district.

If one road obtained occupational rights in the subway because of the fact that it had electrified its terminals the chances are that its competitors would hasten to qualify. That would help along the mayor's smoke abatement policy tremendously and is a lever not to be ignored lightly.

PERKINS' TRAIN RACES DEATH.

Special Bearing Wife of Morgan's Aid to Bedside of Sick Mother Makes a Record Run.

Cincinnati, O., March 25.—[Special.]—Racing against death, a special train bearing the wife of George W. Perkins, who is J. P. Morgan's right hand man, made a record run from Stuart, Fla., to Cleveland to reach the sick bed of Mrs. Perkins' mother.

The special left Stuart early on Wednesday. At 7 o'clock it had reached Chattanooga, Tenn., and was away again in nine minutes. Only the baggage and private car constituted the train.

Cincinnati was reached at 4 o'clock this morning, and it took four minutes to change engines. The night run from Chattanooga, 337 miles, was made in 530 minutes. The 253 mile run to Cleveland was made in 288 minutes, and twenty minutes were taken up in necessary stops.

Mrs. Pierre Lorillard Jr., wife of the present head of the Lorillard family of tobacco fame, was found dead in her home at Washington, D. C., yesterday morning. Mrs. Lorillard had committed suicide by asphyxiation during the night. The deed is attributed to ill health. VOTERS ROUSED IN ROSELAND Largest Meeting of Present Primary Campaign Held There.

STIRRED BY POWELL'S TALK.

Five Candidates for Judicial Honors Also Make Speeches.

Roseland holds the palm for political meetings of the present primary campaign. Republicans of the Thirty-third ward last evening drew the largest crowd of any of the ward meetings of the year and had the largest number of prominent speakers that have been brought together in months. The meeting was held at 11028 Michigan avenue.

Besides Isaac N. Powell, candidate for the nomination for city treasurer, who is making a strenuous campaign, there were present five candidates who are seeking judicial honors, and the aldermanic candidate of the ward, A. C. Metzger.

There was nothing lacking in enthusiasm. The 500 workers gathered were representative of the district and showed their eagerness to get out and work for the success of the party. Mr. Powell had spoken at two meetings in the Fifth ward, one at 3737 Wood street and at Thirty-sixth and Lincoln streets, and was late in arriving at the Roseland meeting, but the judicial candidates, Kickham Scanlan, Charles G. Neeley, Homer Tinsman, Henry Price, and Mr. Salisbury held the interest of the audience till his arrival.

Powell Praised by Scanlan.

Attorney Scanlan voiced the sentiments of the crowd when he declared that the Republican party owed the city treasureship to Mr. Powell because of his long and faithful service as chief clerk in the office of the election commissioners.

"He is the man who has made clean elections possible," declared Mr. Scanlan, "a thing that was unknown in the old days."

Mr. Powell said if elected he would conduct the treasurer's office on the same lines that he has followed as chief clerk of the election board—that of giving the best there is in him to the office.

"I have always held that it was a duty as a citizen to give the best there is in me—all the intelligence and faithfulness at my command to the office which I hold. I think my work during the last fourteen years shows I have carried out that idea. If elected to this office I shall perform its duties in the same careful manner. Most all of you are familiar with my name. It has been on every ballot you have voted for years, but this is the first time that it ever appeared among the lists of candidates. I want you to vote for me and I want you to vote for the entire Republican ticket."

Democrats Plan Campaign.

The Democratic county committee held a consultation at night with all of the city and aldermanic candidates. A whirlwind campaign was ordered to begin tonight and 300 meetings of importance were scheduled. The meetings will be held by congressional districts, the several wards in a district holding a series of meetings on the same night, the better for the speakers.

Judge Henry V. Freeman heard the arguments in the petitions of Henry P. Heizer and Ferdinand J. Karasek regarding the position of names of candidates on the Republican judicial primary ballot.

There will be three propositions on the little ballot at the municipal election, April 6, as follows: For the annexation of Evanston to the city of Chicago; for the annexation of Cicero to the city of Chicago; for the levying of a one mill tax for the establishing of a public tuberculosis sanitarium in the city of Chicago.

Republican Meetings Tonight.

Republican meetings for tonight are announced as follows:

Thirteenth ward—65 Congress park, 1027 West Van Buren street, and 1544 West Harrison street. Speaker: Ald. A. W. Fulton.

Fifteenth ward—Behrends hall, 285 Augusta street. Speakers: Isaac N. Powell, Jacob H. Marks, Abel Davis, and Ald. Bellfuss.

Twenty-fourth ward—Kipper's hall, Lincoln and Nelson streets.

Twenty-eighth ward—Merrick's hall, Milwaukee avenue and Rockwell street. Speakers: Isaac N. Powell anad Jacob H. Marks.

Thirty-first ward—Salvation Army hall, 1240 West Fifty-ninth street. Speakers: Charles Alling Jr., Edwin A. Olson, and James A. Kearns.

Thirty-fifth ward—Zieck's hall, North Forty-eighth avenue and West Superior street, and Star hall, Fortieth and Grand avenues. Speakers: Ald. Charles J. Forsberg, Thomas M. Hunter, and Ald. Frank I. Race.

MRS. LORILLARD JR. COMMITS SUICIDE.

Invitations Out for Luncheon.

Since the Lorillards began spending the winter social season in Washington they have entertained and been entertained largely.

Invitations were out for a luncheon today at the Lorillard home, which were recalled. Sunday evening last Mr. and Mrs. Lorillard entertained at one of their usual Sunday night dinners.

Dr. Cuthbert, the family physician, when seen tonight, refused to shed light upon the tragic affair. As to events that preceded Mrs. Lorillard's death, Dr. Cuthbert said he was entirely uninformed.

"I had not been called to see Mrs. Lorillard within the last two months, and I was startled when the message came to my office this morning," he said. "I do know that Mrs. Lorillard was much alarmed over the condition of her heart. She had suffered considerably. When she visited Paris last summer she sought an eminent specialist whom she consulted as to her condition, but when she returned to America she had been ill frequently. I must decline to discuss any other phases of the case."

Arrangements for the funeral are incomplete, but it is said that the body will be taken to New York for interment.

New York Friends Shocked.

New York, March 26.—The news of the death of Mrs. Pierre Lorillard Jr. in Washington was received with regret by her many friends here and in Tuxedo. Pierre Lorillard Sr. founded Tuxedo Park, and the Lorillards have two residences there, but both of these have been closed the greater part of the winter. Pierre Lorillard Jr. and his wife having decided to join the social colony in Washington, while Mrs. Pierre Lorillard Sr. has been living quietly at the Buckingham hotel here.

Mrs. Pierre Lorillard the elder was greatly shocked at the news and was the more deeply affected owing to the fact that her health recently has not been of the best.

When the report that death was due to suicide was communicated to the companion of the aged woman steps were taken at once to prevent any hint of that nature reaching her ears. The companion declared she felt the gravest responsibility would rest upon her until the arrival of a letter from her son in Washington. Her son could, she was sure, communicate the news in the gentlest way, and in the meanwhile she regarded it as being of the utmost importance that it did not reach Mrs. Lorillard from any other source.

The death of Mrs. Pierre Lorillard was a shock to her friends in this city. None could ascribe a satisfactory reason for the suicide.

Friend Talks of Death.

"Mrs. Lorillard was one of the most charming and accomplished women in New York society," said one of these tonight. "She enjoyed all that wealth could supply, and at no time did she appear to be other than perfectly normal. She spent most of her time abroad.

"A devoted student of art, a lover of the best in literature, a linguist and musician of high order, and accomplished in every way, she was a woman far above the ordinary. That she should have committed suicide, particularly when she knew that such an act must cause her aged mother in Switzerland the keenest agony, must be attributed to a fit of insanity or melancholy which attacked her suddenly."

A friend of Mrs. Lorillard who visited her in Washington two weeks ago said Mrs. Lorillard then was in the highest spirits and was planning for her customary trip to Europe, where she was to meet her mother, Mrs. Hamilton. She spoke in terms of affection of her sons, Griswold and Pierre Lorillard III., and seemed to be more than usually happy.

Pierre Lorillard is a director in the Pierre Lorillard Tobacco company, the American Tobacco company, and of the Empire Trust company. The Lorillard fortune was established by Peter Lorillard more than 100 years ago in the tobacco industry.

Children Find Abandoned Baby.

A 2 months' old baby girl was found wrapped in a blanket under the porch in front of the house occupied by Mrs. Madaline Lacroca, 197 Austin avenue, last night. The child was found by Charlie and Rose Marino and Ermine Maggia, who live at the same place, and were playing near. The child was taken to St. Vincent's orphan asylum.

CHICAGO WOMAN HOLDS FORT.

Mrs. Ella Voorhees, Wife of School Principal, Routs Highway Commissioners Near Alton.

Alton, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ella Voorhees, wife of the Chicago school principal who recently was involved in matrimonial differences, today routed three road commissioners who wanted to cut a fence erected on her land. She reminded the commissioners of her fame as a good shot and displayed a gun. The men then desisted in their efforts to cut down the fence and had her cited before the court on a charge of obstructing the highway.

Mrs. Voorhees owns Sunnyside farm, near Alton. The commissioners planned a highway to extend across her farm, but she barred their entrance with a fence. She then dared them to open the fence and they backed down.

MYSTERY CLOAKS DEATH FROM ACID

Vincennes, Ind., Police Are Baffled in Case of Poisoned Woman.

CLEW POINTS TO SUICIDE.

Relatives, However, Insist It's Murder and Impugn a Former Rival.

Vincennes, Ind., March 25.—[Special.]—The sensational poisoning case, wherein Mrs. Russell Culbertson died today from a dose of carbolic acid which she had swallowed or had been forced to swallow, remains shrouded in mystery. The police are working upon both the suicide and murder theories, but have been unable to bring about a solution of either.

Tonight, however, they found in Mrs. Culbertson's room the muslin cloth from which had been torn the bandage found about the woman's head. The muslin was found in Mrs. Culbertson's trunk. The officers admit this discovery strengthens the suicide theory.

But if, the police say, Mrs. Culbertson committed suicide, she carefully and cleverly arranged the scene of the tragedy so that suspicion of murder should be thrown upon another woman, who, she knew, had been her husband's sweetheart before her own marriage with him.

Seek Another Woman in Vain.

This woman the police have tried all day to find. They were informed that she was in Paris, Ky., but a telephone message from there said she gave up her position about three months ago and left, presumably for some town in Illinois. A rumor that she was with a sister in Hillsboro, Ill., also was investigated, but it was learned that she had not been there, and that her sister did not know her present address.

The husband of the dead woman and the members of his family insist that Mrs. Culbertson was murdered. They point out that a deep bruise on her hip, where she had received a heavy blow, and bruises on her arm are conclusive proof that she had a desperate struggle with assailants before she was overcome.

They say they have carefully and minutely followed the actions of Mrs. Culbertson from the time she left the house of Joseph Brazleton, her father-in-law, with whom she lived, until she was found unconscious in a shed in the rear of the house. Neighbors were attracted to the shed by hearing loud groans.

Accuses Man and Woman.

They found her stretched on the floor of the shed, almost unconscious, and carried her into the house. Whisky was poured down her throat and she revived long enough to exclaim:

"A man and a woman dragged me out of the closet into the shed and forced me to swallow something."

In the closet of Mrs. Culbertson's room her apron was found hanging. In a pocket was a letter bearing the words "good-by" and containing a small plaster of paris replica of a cross bones. Mrs. Culbertson did not speak again until she died.

Her husband, arriving last evening from Lawrenceville, Ill., where he is employed as a bookkeeper for a lumber company, sat by his dying wife all night, entreating her to speak and tell him more of the alleged attack. But Mrs. Culbertson did not regain consciousness.

When Mrs. Culbertson was found a strip of muslin was tightly wrapped under her jaws and over the top of her head so as to hold the mouth tightly closed. This bandage had prevented her lips from being burned by the acid. It had burned the inside of her mouth and her throat and enough of it had passed into the stomach to cause death.

Family Insists It's Murder.

The members of her family maintain that she could not herself have placed this bandage about her head and then swallowed the acid. Her teeth must have been pried apart and the acid forced into her mouth by others, they say, who first suppressed her cries by having bound her jaws after they had knocked her down with a club.

Mrs. Edna Culbertson, sister-in-law of the dead woman, was her intimate companion. She said that the woman she charged with the murder had declared in her presence that she would murder Russell Culbertson if he married the woman now dead.

"I am confident," said Mrs. Edna Culbertson, "that the murderers will be arrested, and that it will be found that the crime was done by the woman that Russell used to go with and a man I do not know. This woman used to follow Russell wherever he went. In my house one night before Russell even had met Jessie, this woman said to Russell: 'You do not love me any more, but I'll follow you to the end of this earth.' To me on one occasion she said: 'Edna, I am going to get him. I will take poison, and with my dying breath I will say, "Russell, why did you do this?"'"

JURY TO LOOK UP CANDIDACY

Fraud Charges Against Backers of Uplift Representative.

WAYMAN ACTS IN THE CASE.

Investigates G. W. Halleman's Race for Alderman in the Twenty-seventh.

Indictments for perjury and forgery may be voted against a half dozen men as a result of the methods said to have been employed in promoting the candidacy of Gustus W. Halleman for alderman in the Twenty-seventh ward.

Six men are suspected and State's Attorney Wayman expects the evidence to develop from a grand jury investigation today. Subpoenas were issued yesterday for twenty-five witnesses.

Halleman's friends got his name on the official ballot as the independent candidate by filing petitions with 1,122 names, but it is alleged investigation proved many of the signatures were forgeries, 236 were not registered voters, and fifty-three were not residents of the district. Joseph F. Capp, the regular Republican candidate, filed the charges against Halleman's petition and succeeded in having the election commissioners take the independent candidate's name off the ballot. Then the matter was brought to the notice of Mr. Wayman.

Aims at the Leaders.

Mr. Wayman's first step was to impound the petitions. He feared the men responsible for the alleged irregularities might succeed in removing them from the city clerk's office. Mr. Wayman showed little inclination to discuss the matter during the day, but what he did say indicated that some men well known in the ward were aimed at.

Halleman is a business man of high standing and was referred to as the "uplift candidate." He promised to make things interesting for Capp and Hanse Blase, the Democratic candidate. Friends of Halleman believe he was duped by men who had political axes to grind.

Handwriting experts are ready to swear that many of the names were written by the same hand and detectives claim that men who made false affidavits regarding the residence of the alleged signers did so with full knowledge that they were swearing falsely. It is understood the suspected men were kept under police surveillance in the evening. Men prominent in the regular ward organization are back of the charges.

Wayman Hides His Hand.

The entire investigation was conducted with the utmost secrecy, and care was taken to prevent the names of any of the witnesses becoming public. All of the subpœnas issued were made out in the name of "John Doe."

In addition to the charges mentioned the investigators allege: Fraudulent methods used by Halleman in obtaining signatures to his petition; that more than fifty of the signers also voted at the primaries; that ninety signers registered only after signing the petition, and that the names of more than 100 persons were forged.

WHITLA KIDNAPER IS CHICAGO WOMAN?

Mrs. Boyle Identified by Her Alleged Uncle as Anna McDermott.

DISOWNED BY FATHER.

Couple Taken from Cleveland to Pennsylvania to Face First Trial.

Cleveland, O., March 25.—[Special.]—That the woman identified by "Billy" Whitla as one of his kidnapers is Anna McDermott of Chicago, the daughter of a wealthy business man of that city, was the declaration of her uncle, a wealthy vessel owner of this city.

This vessel owner, a half-brother of the woman's mother, Mrs. Catherine McDermott of Chicago, saw the mysterious prisoner, known as the wife of James H. Doyle of Sharon, who, "Billy" says, carried him away from the Sharon schoolhouse last Thursday. He visited the police station and, unknow to the woman, watched her and heard her voice.

"She is the daughter of my half-sister," he told the police. He had been called into the case by Chief Kohler, who gained from the mysterious prisoner the thread of her life history. She has been disowned by her father for three years. She is said to have left her home to go on the stage and to have sorely displeased her father by so doing. Her parent, a wealthy man, cast her off.

Keeps Father's Name Secret.

Who the father is the vesselman has not said, nor could he be induced to do so tonight. He told who his sister is, however, and said the prisoner's brother, William McDermott, is in a Chicago bank and that she has two sisters, one recently married living in Chicago and another in an Indiana town.

The vessel owner's brother, also a resident of this city, is aware of the girl's identity.

Anna McDermott was born in Chicago twenty-two years ago. Before she was cast off by her father when she fell into associations of which he did not approve, three years ago, the girl was given a convent education and was the life of the circle in which she moved in Chicago—bright, witty, talented, and a singer of great promise.

"She began to live at a pace her father would not countenance and he cast her off," said the vesselman tonight. "The family has not known where she has been. She has married Doyle in the last three years. He is not her equal socially or in the way of education."

Woman Admits Story in Part.

While talking with Chief Kohler the woman admitted part of this history and it was this clew which led to the calling of her uncle. She declared that she was born and reared in Chicago. She also denied that she ever was on the stage, or that she had been known under the name of Helen Faulkner.

"Please say that I do not get up on tables and dance, won't you?" she said. "And say also that I never made the remarks attributed to me."

"You mean about there being hell in Sharon?"

"Yes, but I guess that's what Sharon had, wasn't it? But I never blasphemed. And I never was a burlesque actress, nor have I ever been on the stage at all."

"Did you know any of the Whitla family or their relatives before you saw them in Cleveland?"

"I never saw any of them except the boy before yesterday.

"I came from New York; no, I wasn't born there; I don't think I care to say where I was born. I have lived in the west a good while, and I met Mr. Boyle there. We were married about a year ago; I couldn't say exactly.

"Yes, I was educated in a convent and spent several years there. What convent? Well, I think I'd rather not say. It might be embarrassing to the nuns, you know.

"You see, I've been instructed not to say anything about myself or this matter. You recognize our position here; it is bad enough without talking too much about it."

Denies Part in Kidnaping.

Both Boyle and the woman are determined to make it clear the latter had nothing to do with the actual kidnaping of Willie Whitla. Boyle said that although he expected to be "railroaded" when tried in Pennsylvania, there is absolutely no way to connect his wife with any offense committed in that state.

Mrs. Boyle said she first saw "Billy" in Cleveland and that she "had nothing to do with the other part of the case."

Although they have been turned over to the Pennsylvania officials the Cleveland police have a club over the heads of the Boyles in a joint indictment returned today charging blackmail. This charge is based on the payment of $10,000 ransom by J. P. Whitla here last Monday. It will be used by the local officials in the event that the case in Pennsylvania fails of conviction.

[William F. McDermott, 590 Cleveland avenue, is a bookkeeper for the Illinois Trust and Savings bank. He denied any relationship to or knowledge of Annie McDermott. Mrs. Catherine McDermott, who lives at 1287 North Clark street, evidently is not old enough to be the mother of the woman. Further efforts to locate the kidnaper's Chicago relatives were unsuccessful.]

Lodged in Pittsburg Jail.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 25.—Fearing for the safety of their prisoners if they were taken to Sharon or the county seat at Mercer, officers tonight brought James H. Boyle and his wife, accused of kidnaping Willie Whitla, to the Allegheny county jail here. They were brought here in a special car, guarded by sixteen detectives and officers.

The car was kept securely locked and no one was granted admission to the car except a few newspapers men, who boarded the train at Youngstown.

On the arrival here the prisoners were placed in an automobile and rushed to the county jail. Boyle was manacled and guarded by two detectives. Mrs. Boyle chatted with the officers and seemed to be in a happy frame of mind.

On the arrival at the jail, Mrs. Boyle looked around and said: "This looks a little better than Cleveland, anyway."

Boyle and his wife have made it easy for the officers by waiving extradition papers and coming voluntarily to Pennsylvania. They have also waived formal arraignment, which will admit of their being taken to Mercer direct without being taken first to Sharon for arraignment.

Boy's Father Reaches Home.

Sharon, Pa., March 25.—After an exhaustive investigation into the circumstances surrounding the kidnaping of Billy Whitla, District Attorney Lininger believes the two kidnapers stand revealed as the only criminal participants.

Guarded by several private detectives in plain clothes, James P. Whitla returned home tonight, bringing with him the money which was recovered when the Boyles were arrested in Cleveland. The bills were taken to the safety deposit department of the Sharon Savings and Trust company. The money was carefully placed in a safety deposit box to remain till it may be needed as evidence in the trial.

Death Penalty in Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—Senator Brown today introduced a bill providing the death penalty for persons who kidnap children of under 14 years of age. The statutes now allow the imposing of the death penalty in case of conviction for kidnaping and holding for ransom, but allow also life imprisonment as an alternative punishment.

Word was sent to authorities at Sharon today by the Springfield police department advising that in the event of James F. Boyle and wife, kidnapers of Billy Whitla, secure release from the kidnaping charge, they are wanted in this city on a charge of forgery. They were arrested here last September, but were released on receipt of word from East St. Louis vouching for their innocence.

TELL OF LIBERAL EDUCATION

Three College Heads Speak at American Academy of Medicine

BROAD KNOWLEDGE NEEDED.

Many Subjects of Study Said to Be Vital Before Technical Training.

A tendency of the time to shelve the classics and laud natural sciences as a superior means to the developing of a liberal education was pointed out by the speakers who addressed the second midyear meeting of the American Academy of Medicine in the Auditorium hotel last night.

"What Constitutes a Liberal Education in the Twentieth Century" was the subject of discussion of the concluding session of a conference which began yesterday morning. The speakers were George F. MacLean, president of the state university of Iowa, Charles F. Thwing, president of Western Reserve university, and Thomas McClelland, president of Knox college.

"The methods of the old colleges were proper, but the student of today has a range of subjects much broader," said President McClelland. "Allow me to quote one definition which seems to me to grasp the scope of a liberal education today:

"A Liberal Education."

"'Everything that puts a man in touch with the world in which he lives is considered a liberal education. The natural sciences are today taking the place of the classics. This change is going on everywhere.'

"The college courses should not be shortened for the benefit of the professional schools. The educated man is not the specialist. Today the student should have an acquaintance with a broad range of subjects before he begins his technical studies."

"The liberally educated man has entered the arcana of learning, but he is not weighted down and incumbered with the treasures he brings forth," said President Thwing. "He is still intellectually alert. He has made himself a partner in humanity's life. He can judge truth and assess truth at a fair value.

"A contribution to liberal education lies in what I may call atmospheres. An atmosphere is the spirit of a place, and it may come from many different sources to affect the life of an individual.

"I have seen worshipers on the Ganges lift hand in prayer to the rising sun and bathe their faces in the golden light. I believe it was good for them thus to do. The worship drew them out of themselves. It gave them affiliations with what they regarded as divine. In a liberal education there must be this same element of the infinite.

Must Open the Mind.

"If an Italian painter 300 years ago wished to paint an interior he always left a door open or an outlook at some window. It saved the beholder from narrowness and closeness. A liberal education must open the mind to the supreme.

"The teacher himself is of signal importance in all the things that go to make up a liberal education. The force which creates a liberally educated man is a liberally educated man."

"A liberal education is a free, divine, human spirit of the ages, Greek, Roman, Hebrew, and Teutonic making personality with ideals of perfection and human service," said President MacLean.

"Its means are the teachers and the taught, devoted to truth and living it. Its peculiar institutions are the schools of all grades that in 'America converge and radiate from the colleges of liberal arts.'"

The conference adjourned at the conclusion of the papers. The subject selected for the next meeting of the academy is "Prevention of Infant Mortality, Our Most Important National Problem in Conservation."

FELT LIKE A HOUSE AFIRE.

South Chicago Man Hurries Home Just in Time to Rescue Wife from Burning Room.

A South Chicagoan's intuition yesterday saved his wife's life and the destruction of his home from fire. The man was Henry Roennau, 327 Roberts avenue.

He was in the city in the afternoon, according to his story, when he had a "funny feeling" that his house was on fire. He took the first train to South Chicago and found the place ablaze. He was just in time to dash upstairs and reach his wife, who was sleeping on a lounge.

The fire, which had been caused by an overheated stove, was extinguished without much damage to the residence.

CAPTURED IN FORT WORTH.

W. M. Arrington Held on Charges of Embezzling $2,500 from Illinois Central in South Chicago.

William M. Arrington was arrested in Fort Worth, Tex., last night on charges of embezzling $2,500 and violating a $22,000 bond while employed as an agent by the Illinois Central railroad at South Chicago. He disappeared Jan. 24. The prisoner said he tramped through the south seeking employment before he got work at the Armour packing plant, where the capture was made by the Fort Worth police. He believes that a letter he wrote to his wife fell into the hands of the Chicago police, for whom he is being held.

Mrs. Frohman Here on Way East.

"I have nothing to say regarding my separation from Mr. Frohman," said Mrs. Daniel Frohman (Margaret Illington), at the Auditorium Annex last night, on her arrival from California. She will leave for New York today.

LOVE CHANTS FAIL; SO SUES

Girl Tries to Win Back Sweetheart by Mystic Means.

SHE NOW WANTS HER MONEY

Fortune Teller Accused of Reciting a Black Mass in Cemetery.

Forlorn because her sweetheart had deserted her, Mary Slimak resorted to the power of chants and charms to win him back. She paid $117 without result, she claims, and now seeks to recover that amount from Mrs. Sigmund Wysocki, 777 Milwaukee avenue, a card reader, who, among other things, is said to have celebrated a "black mass" in a graveyard for a consideration of $25.

Miss Slimak, who lives at 594 Milwaukee avenue, yesterday told her story before Judge Uhlir, saying that all the incantations were for the purpose of driving away evil spirits which, she believed, prevented the return of her sweetheart.

None Other Like Tony.

"Anton Sororoicz, my former sweetheart, left me in July, 1907," the girl said. "I heard of this fortune teller and that she could find lost lovers. Tony was so good looking. I never found another man in Chicago so good looking. He was tall and stout and had the tiniest little white mustache. He left me and went away. I know not where.

"Mrs. Wysocki said she would find him. She gave me several readings and as a final effort about a year ago she said she would drive the evil spirits away by holding a 'dead mass' in a graveyard. I paid her $25. She said she would go to the graveyard late at night in the dark of the moon and dig up earth, clothe herself in black robes and burn candles and sing chants and the evil spirits would vanish and Tony would return."

"Did your lover return?" asked Attorney L. J. Haigler, representing Miss Slimak.

"No, he did not; but I would give ten times $25 if he would."

Denies She Has Mystic Power.

Mrs. Wysocki, after admitting that she read cards for the gratification of lovesick swains and forlorn maids, denied she received the $25 for the graveyard incident. She also denied she ever promised to return the lost swain or held the "graveyard séance."

"Can you effect the return of the lost lover now?" asked Judge Uhlir.

"No, I never promised to return the lover."

"Did you go out to the cemetery to hold the black mass?" asked Attorney Joseph La Buy, representing Mrs. Wysocki.

"No, I did not," Mrs. Wysocki replied.

The case was continued for further hearing today.

CANNOT FIND BODY OF MAN REPORTED SUICIDE IN RIVER.

Police of Logansport, Ind., Now Believe A. L. Boyer of Chicago Is Demented and Wandering About.

The body of Arthur L. Boyer, secretary of the Boyer Harness and Trunk company, 400 West Madison street, who yesterday was reported to have committed suicide by jumping into the Wabash river at Logansport, Ind., has not yet been recovered.

According to a telephone message received in Chicago last evening by George A. Boyer, a brother, from his father in Logansport, the police are skeptical about the suicide story. The water is only nine feet deep where the alleged drowning occurred, and careful dragging of the river for a considerable distance about the spot has failed to bring up the body.

Arthur Boyer, who recently was divorced from his wife, left Chicago last Saturday to visit Miss Agnes O'Conner of Logansport, to whom he was soon to be married.

Sunday morning he had a slight hemorrhage, and was sent to bed under the doctor's orders. Early yesterday morning he got out of bed in a delirious condition and ran out of the house.

DISAGREE IN 'BUNK ALLEN' CASE

Members of Jury Unable to Reach Verdict on Charge of Selling Liquor to Minor.

A jury which heard testimony in the trial of Henry E. Allott, better known as "Bunk Allen," owner of a saloon at 171 Dearborn street, who was tried yesterday in the Municipal court on a charge of selling liquor to a minor, failed to reach an agreement after several hours' discussion and was discharged by Judge Scovel.

FAILS TO SHIELD SLAYER

Woman Breaks Down and Admits Brother Shot Stranger.

SHOULDERS BLAME IN VAIN.

Mrs. Janovics Explains Her Surrender and "Confession."

Mrs. Julia Janovicz broke down last night and admitted it was her brother, Martin Kopec, who fired the shot that killed the man who was found early yesterday on the porch of her home, 1158 West Forty-seventh street.

All day long the woman, with her 1 year old baby in her arms, occupied a cell at the stockyards police station and persisted in her statement that she had killed the man. She was subjected to a grilling by Inspector Clancy.

"Yes, my brother killed the man," she sobbed. "I took the blame because I love him and believed more sympathy would be shown to me by the police than to him."

Kopec, who had refused to talk following his arrest, sat at his sister's side during the examination and nodded assent to her story. The two were locked in cells to await the action of the coroner today.

Gives Herself Up as Slayer.

Mrs. Janovicz appeared at the police station early in the day and said she had shot a man who appeared at her rooming house and requested to remain for the night. When informed by her that he could not stay, he became violent.

At this point, the woman said, she took a revolver from a bureau in the room, and while her husband, Martin Janovicz, sat with her brother and three boarders in the rear part of the house, she fired three shots through the door.

She joined the party in the other room, she said, and they did not find the body on the porch until morning.

Agrees to Take All Blame.

Kopec told the same story as that in his sister's false confession, except that he named himself as the murderer. He said that after the body was found, his sister agreed to undertake the blame and accordingly went to the police station.

Nothing was found on the body by which the victim could be identified. The inquest will be held in McInerney's undertaking rooms, 4635 Wallace street.

Held Pending Inquest.

William Kelley of 579 Root street is held at the Stockyards police station pending an inquest on the death of John Crawford. The men are alleged to have fought in Kelley's home on St. Patrick's day. Crawford died on March 23 in the People's hospital. He lived at 4175 Emerald avenue.

GIRLS ARRESTED AS TRUANTS.

Two Young Misses from Du Quoin, Ill., Found in Cigar Store, Are Taken Into Custody.

Two girls, 17 years old, each wearing a pillow slip as a hat, were found eating sandwiches last night in a cigar store at Twenty-sixth and State streets and were taken into custody by Sergeant Homer of the Cottage Grove avenue police station.

They said their names were Ethel Reeves and Estelle Reed and that they came here three weeks ago from Du Quoin, Ill., to find employment.

The police do not believe the girls' parents know their whereabouts and that they were living in a hotel at Twenty-fourth and State streets. The girls' mothers will be asked to come here and get them or send money enough for them to buy railroad tickets to their homes.

EASTERN MEN SEEK FROST LINE.

They Have Recently Secured Large Blocks of Chicago and Milwaukee Electric Railway Bonds.

Purchases of large blocks of bonds of the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric railroad during the last few days led yesterday to an explanation that eastern capitalists have begun an effort to obtain ownership of the company, which is now in the hands of receivers.

Bloodgood & Co., Milwaukee attorneys, began buying bonds of the Illinois corporation some time ago and their activity led to several rumors. The statement that eastern capital was back of the bond purchasing was made by W. W. Gurley, local representative for Bloodgood & Co. He refused to give any further information regarding the deal.

FIVE MEN KILLED BY FALLING WALL

Fire Ruin Collapses at Swift Plant, Crushing Workmen on Reconstruction.

TWO REPORTED MISSING.

Tons of Brick Take Overseer and Employes Unaware, Fragments Injuring Others.

Two men were crushed to death under tons of brick, three were so seriously injured that they died, and two were badly hurt yesterday by the collapse of a thirty-five foot wall of Swift & Co.'s butterine plant, which was destroyed by fire at West Forty-second street and Ashland avenue on Feb. 27. Two men are missing.

The men were laying cement for a new foundation in the ruins of the plant of Darling & Co., adjoining, which was burned on Jan. 6. The excavation work and heavy winds are believed to have weakened the Swift wall.

The Dead.

ALBERT, JAMES, 25 years old, West Forty-seventh street and Marshfield avenue; laborer.

CLOSINIE, TONY, 27 years old, 2358 Wentworth avenue; laborer.

RATLEDGE, E. H., 36 years old, 900 West Harrison street; manager Schmidt company.

SCHMIDT, R. A., 40 years old, 856 West Thirteenth street; secretary R. A. Schmidt company, contractors, which had charge of the work on the Darling & Co. ruins.

WIGGINS, EDGAR, 38 years old, 5490 Lexington avenue; timekeeper, Schmidt company.

The Injured.

JARUM, CHARLES, laborer, 305 Center street; internal injuries; cut and bruised; unconscious in Provident hospital.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN, about 30 years old; internal injuries; unconscious in Provident hospital.

The Missing.

AUSTRIAN, TONY, Twenty-fourth street and Wentworth avenue.

HERDY, JEREMIAH, West Forty-seventh street and Ashland avenue.

Mr. Schmidt had active charge of the work on the Darling building and was directing the workman. He and Albert were standing a few feet from the north wall of the Darling ruins when the Swift wall fell. They had no time to escape.

The men who were injured were working some distance from the wall. They escaped by running, but were struck down by flying bricks.

Rescuers Led by Foreman.

W. J. Ratledge, brother of E. H. Ratledge and general foreman of the Schmidt company, led those who were only slightly injured or uninjured to the aid of the buried men and sent calls to the new city and stockyards police stations and to the fire department.

The police and firemen uncovered the dead and hurried the injured to the hospital.

Peter S. Shaughnessy, president of the Bricklayers and Stone Masons' union, said an investigation would be made by the labor organization to fix the blame.

COURT HIDES WOMEN'S NAMES MENTIONED IN ALIMONY SUIT.

Long List Given by Kenosha Physician's Former Wife Ordered Stricken from Records.

The names of a long list of women prominent in Kenosha, Wis., were ordered stricken from the records in the hearing yesterday of the petition of Mattie J. Spalding for an increase in the $5 a week alimony she is receiving from her former husband, Dr. J. B. Spalding. Judge Ludwig of Milwaukee, who is sitting in the Kenosha County court for Judge Belding, held that the evidence connecting the names of the women with that of the physician was material, but that the names should not be made public.

The defense had tried to show that Mrs. Spalding has ruined the physician's practice, so that he could not pay the $200 a month demanded, by circulating stories concerning him and women patients. She testified that he told her the stories and she repeated them on the witness stand, naming the women.

Mrs. Spalding admitted that her father, the late William R. White, had given her $10,000 when she obtained a divorce in 1904, but she asserted that was paid to her in worthless notes. She explained the gift with the statement that it was to replace an equal sum given to her on her marriage, which, she said, had been spent on her husband's education.

PENS FAREWELL AS LIFE EBBS.

Would-Be Suicide Turns on Gas and Writes to Dear Old Bat," but Is Saved by Neighbors.

While his life was ebbing, William Tarley sat in a gas filled room yesterday afternoon writing a message of farewell to "Dear Old Bat."

He was tired of living, he said in the note, and for that reason had turned on the gas at his boarding place, 2954 Cottage Grove avenue. Occupants of the house detected the fumes and he was taken to the Michael Reese hospital, where it is thought he will live.

Despondent because he was out of work, Ernest Meyer, 16 years old, swallowed laudanum at 2626 Wentworth avenue. The physicians at the People's hospital say his condition is serious.

PAINT GOLD BRICK ON CHINA.

Women Tell How They Were Taught by Charles Gottschalk.

ODD CODE OF ETHICS SHOWN.

One Pupil Buys the Studio and Now Wants Money Back.

Several women testified in Municipal Judge Blake's court yesterday that they were swindled by Charles Gottschalk. They were witnesses at the trial of Gottschalk on charges of obtaining $350 from Mrs. Ella Barnes and Mrs. Emma Dickinson by false representations.

Mrs. Barnes testified that she and Mrs. Dickinson were induced to buy a china painting studio from Gottschalk on March 8 after he had made false representations as to the nature of the business.

She said Gottschalk was conducting a business in which he promised to teach china painting to women and supply them with all the work they could do. The price charged for the lessons was $3.50, and he promised to give the prospective student thirty-six transfers and half a dozen plates to experiment with.

"I was told I was a promising student and was paid for some work I did the second week," she said. "Then Gottschalk asked me to buy half his business, saying that he had contracts to furnish china to all the State street department stores. He told me he had eight men on the road and the business was growing rapidly."

The witness said she and Mrs. Dickinson bought the business for $350 and "got a lemon."

Queer Code of Business Ethics.

After she had purchased the business, she said, Gottschalk volunteered the following advice as to how to conduct it:

"Never sign a contract till the lady pays you the $3.50.

"You must not answer mail coming to the office.

"If a student squeals show her the contract.

"A lady too progressive in the work may be deterred by taking her out to dinner and being nice to her, and afterwards she may not want to do the work.

"Don't give the students too long lessons.

"A little turpentine will fix things if a lady gets too promising. Turpentine used with the paint will make the work impossible.

"Sugar also is good, for if it is put into the paint it raises blisters, and then you won't have to pay for the work."

Mrs. Barnes further testified that on hearing the advice from Gottschalk she remarked that she had received a "lemon," whereupon he told her that it was not necessary for her to get "cold feet at that stage of the game," but to continue in the business and make money out of it.

"He told me there would be no trouble in placing advertisements in the newspapers about the business," she said, "but when I attempted to place the ads they were refused."

Paint Spoiled by Turpentine.

Mrs. Christine Erwin, who lives at 56 Lincoln Park boulevard, told her experiences at the studio.

"I paid $3.50 for lessons and received twelve transfers and three plates. Gottschalk told me he would pay me 25 cents for each plate painted, and if the work was good he might pay me $1 each."

"Were you paid for the plates?" asked Prosecutor Clyde Smith.

"I should say not," said Mrs. Erwin. "He said I spoiled the three plates and charged me 25 cents each for them. "I got along all right till I used the turpentine."

"Did the paint stick when you used the turpentine?"

"Yes, it stuck too soon."

"Haven't you sworn to another complaint against Mr. Gottschalk?" Mrs. Erwin was asked by Gottschalk's attorney.

"I did."

Then the second warrant was served on Gottschalk by Policeman Reed of Central station, and on his giving bond the hearing was adjourned till this afternoon.

A score of women were in the courtroom eager to tell how they had paid Gottschalk $3.50 for lessons in china painting, which he purported to teach.

LITTLE BOY PLAYING TAG IS KILLED BY STREET CAR.

Knocked Down and Ground Under Wheels While Running to Escape One of His Companions.

Fleeing from companions with whom he was playing tag last evening, John Ziemba, 12 years old, ran in front of an Eighteenth street car and was killed.

The accident occurred in front of the lad's home, 772 West Eighteenth street.

Mrs. Catherine Tonsicz, who lived at 68 North Curtis street, was killed by a Chicago and Northwestern railroad train as she was crossing the tracks at Curtis street. She was 40 years old.

Mary Smith, 8 years old, was running across the street to welcome her mother in front of their residence at 4421 Wentworth avenue, when she was struck by a street car. Her right arm and left hip were fractured.

SERVE ONLY ONE EXECUTION.

Twelve Deputy Bailiffs Have Ill Luck During Their First Day's Work.

Twelve deputy bailiffs armed with 150 executions in city cases left the Municipal court building to serve them yesterday, and at night when they reported back but one had been served. Isaac Peivheimer, 40 South Water street, when served with the writ paid a judgment of $40. The other deputies tramped from place to place only to be told in most instances that the persons they sought had moved or had gone out of business.

"SIMONIZING"

If you can spare an hour a day say three days a week to begin with, I can make you a strong, virile man, ready to take up the "strenuous life" again with vim, vigor and confidence.

It does me good to hear these "students" of mine, men of all ages, fat men, and lean men, all of them men of affairs, talk of how good they feel after an hour of "Simonizing."

No medicine ever discovered can bring the results that come from such exercise.

Its lasting benefits lie in the application of the three essentials for successful physical culture, viz.: Rigidity, Resistance, and Relaxation, carefully administered.

An hour a day, three days a week, say for three months, is all I ask. You waste that much time every day.

If you are feeling run down and out of sorts, don't expect to correct those conditions by the pill route. I have a remedy that will result in a lasting cure. It is pleasant to take.

HOPES TO WRING DEADLOCK'S NECK

Shurtleff Thinks He Might Worry It to Death by Working It Overtime.

MAY BARE BLIND HANDS.

Hopkins Said to Be Agreeable to Several Votes a Day Program.

BY C. S. R.

Springfield, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—A return to the high pressure methods adopted in the joint session yesterday may be expected for next week, although the legislature today slumped back into the placid one ballot a day condition. Speaker Shurtleff has had enough of the deadlock and wants to end it in some fashion.

The speaker has not been allowed to sleep much since the contest was started, statesmen with rumors making it a practice to hunt him out at all hours, and the result is that his nerves have been set on edge. He is willing to admit that if the assembly does not kill the deadlock soon the deadlock will be killing members of the legislature.

He may change his mind between now and the beginning of balloting next week, but his present purpose is to run the deadlock into a state of complete exhaustion in the hope of making a quick finish. It is proposed to give the legislators a taste of four and five hours' work a day, holding them in session until ten or twelve ballots have been taken every day.

Think Something May Be Done.

It is the theory that such a procedure carried along for a week or two would bring the assembly into a high pitch of exasperation and eventually something would be done. The speaker has the power to run the legislature continuously at this pleasant occupation of balloting if he has the desire to use it.

The adoption of such a proposition would mean that the efforts at legislation would be stopped pretty effectually and that the candidates who have kept themselves under cover thus far would be forced into the open.

It would be almost impossible for the committee work of either the house or the senate to be done if the joint session, beginning at noon each day, were to be prolonged to 4 or 5 o'clock in the afternoon. It would be almost impossible for the hidden candidates to remain in their places of concealment if the legislature were taking from ten to twelve ballots every day and thus were going through all the motions of a serious endeavor to elect a senator.

Deneen Strengthened by Fiasco.

It is to Gov. Deneen's advantage that the deadlock be continued and that the ordinary legislative procedure be followed. He has been strengthened by the fiasco which endeavored to make him senator in place of Albert J. Hopkins. The Band of Hope has been brought under better discipline and is better organized now after the enthusiastic break which some of its members made.

Deneen has forty-six members pledged to support his program in the legislature and they can block any movement which is not favored by the governor, providing it does not get the support of Democratic votes.

Mr. Deneen is positive that unless Mr. Hopkins is reelected senator no one will be, and his positiveness may arise from his own intention to see that none other than Mr. Hopkins is chosen. With Democratic votes the Shurtleff organization can do almost anything, but while Democratic votes are recognized as the votes of patriots and of gentlement who wish their country well, nevertheless there is a sentiment which makes it inadvisable for any candidate of the Republican persuasion to use them.

So long as they be confined to the occupation of voting for other patriotic gentlemen of the Democratic persuasion Gov. Deneen will control the situation, and he is all the stronger because of the attempt which was made on his political being yesterday.

Admit Sincerity of Governor.

He is stronger with the Hopkins Republicans than he ever has been, although it has been dawning on the reluctant Hopkins intellects that the governor was the one man standing between their candidate and defeat. It is apparent now to the Hopkins people that Mr. Deneen would have been elected senator if he merely had allowed the program of Mr. Lorimer and Mr. Shurtleff to take its natural course.

Even the most reluctant Hopkins intellects admit now the sincerity of the governor's determination not to allow himself to be used as the means by which the ex-junior senator's defeat is to be accomplished. For this reason Mr. Deneen is regarded in the Hopkins circle as one of the greatest living Americans and is entitled to medals and encomiums.

Mr. Hopkins is said to be willing that the Shurtleff plan of running the joint session at high pressure be followed out. He believes that he would lose nothing by such a procedure and might gain a great deal. The summary of today's joint ballot for the election of a senator was as follows:

Candidate.	Senate.	House.	Total.
Hopkins	27	47	74

May Get Together on Waterway.

Gov. Deneen is particularly anxious that the legislature should get started in earnest next week on the deep waterway legislation. He hopes that the two houses will bring in the experts and hear their testimony as to the amount of work which it will be possible to do with the $20,000,000 authorized by the state at the November election.

He will ask that Lyman E. Cooley and Isham Randolph, the conflicting engineers, be heard, and that if they cannot get together on their estimates other experts be called in, and that the legislature decide which advice is the most practical. Congressman Lorimer is said to be willing that the engineers should be given an opportunity to reconcile their varying estimates, and to be willing to accept the most practical course, although he now supports the Cooley theories.

The senate deep waterways committee took up the question today, considering the advisability of having the state start work at once or of waiting for federal coöperation. Senator Richard Barr of Joliet was the principal speaker in favor of immediate action.

Says Work Ought to Be Begun.

"At best it will take a year to get the work started," he said. "We ought not to delay in proceeding along that line. Suppose we pass a bill providing for government coöperation and the government refuses to construct the locks—what then?

"It seems to me that in acting along such lines I should be open to charges of bad faith in my district. The people understood that we were to go ahead. The amount of money appropriated is sufficient to construct the channel, with twenty-four foot cuttings through rock. As for the earth, it could be taken out just as cheaply later on as now.

"The state could construct the channel and at the same time confer upon congress the construction of the locks. The sanitary district locks are not yet built. There is a turning basin, and the locks will be built when the government desires to install them. The actual progress of this work would be an inducement to congress to come in and help. At this session we ought to pass a bill and get to work."

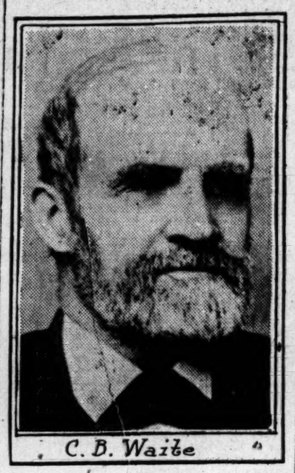
Chicago Pioneer Dies at His Home.



C. B. Waite

Charles B. Waite, a pioneer of Chicago and a judge of Utah territory under the administration of Abraham Lincoln, died early yesterday morning after an illness of three months at his home, 479 Jackson boulevard. He was 85 years old and had resided in Chicago sixty years.

The body will be cremated in compliance with a request made by Mr. Waite before his death. The date of the ceremony has not been definitely decided upon.

During the last twenty-five years Mr. Waite, who practiced law with Abraham Lincoln, had devoted his time to research work and the writing of books, one of which, "The Christian Religion the First Two Centuries," ran through six editions, and "Herbert Spencer and His Critics" attracted considerable attention. He was renowned as a linguist

Mr. Waite is survived by a wife and five children, Dr. Lucy Waite, Mrs. Jesse Wright of Washington, D. C., Joseph Waite, Mrs. Margaret Thornton, and C. L. Waite of Denver. Memorial services will be held some time in the near future.

PER DIEM BILL PAINS COOKITES

Commissioners May Have to Work to Get Day's Pay.

STATESMAN MAKES FAUX PAS

Senator Briedt Runs Off with Woman Suffrage Petition.

Springfield, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—The desire of the Ford county supervisors to have their pay raised from the alleged unreasonably low per diem of $2.50 to the more adequate allowance of $4.50 per diem has produced a bill which will cause the county commissioners of Cook county to think of Ford county unkindly.

It probably was in the generosity of their spirit that the Ford county supervisors took any thought of Cook county. Evidently they wanted to scatter the good thing all over the state, and for that reason in drafting the bill for their increase in pay they took thought of Cook county.

The measure, which was introduced by Senator Funk of Bloomington for the Ford county officials, provides for the increase for supervisors and fixes the same rate of pay for the county commissioners of Cook county.

Why They Might Object.

Further it is provided that the pay shall be allowed only for days actually spent at work and the Cook county board, which not long ago endeavored to raise its own salaries, would find itself enjoying the large reduction to $4.50 a day for actual day's work if the Funk bill in its present shape went through the legislature. The county commissioners probably will agree that this is an illustration of the dangers of being too generous.

Senator Gardner introduced the employers liability bill, which has been drafted as a substitute for all measures of this character pending in the legislature. It was drawn under the direction of President Edwin R. Wright of the State Federation of Labor.

Representative Flagg introduced a bill requiring telephone companies to construct joint exchanges and receive messages from other telephone companies.

Senator Downing's bill establishing an examining board for osteopaths was passed by the senate.

Runs Off with Suffrage Petition.

Senator Briedt has given offense to the suffragists by escaping from Mrs. Guerney Stubbs, in charge of the Springfield suffrage bureau, with a petition signed by a majority of the members of his committee asking that the suffrage bill be reported to the senate.

Mrs. Stubbs attended the governor's reception last night and secured the signatures of a majority of the members of the committee while they were under the influence of evening clothes. The petition was given to Mr. Briedt, who, knowing no other means of escaping from it, ran off with it. Mr. Briedt now is decidedly in bad.

KODOL WORKS WITH NATURE

That Is Why It Acts So Quickly in Cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

Undigested food is a dead weight in the stomach. You must get rid of it if you want to feel good. Don't get rid of it by purging, for in that way the needed nourishment is lost. Remove the weight by helping the stomach digest the food. The greatest help known to science is Kodol because it digests all the food at all times, and under all conditions. Every tablespoonful of Kodol digests 2¼ pounds of food. Kodol is a scientific preparation, pleasant to take, and is a liquid. It must be a liquid, because some elements for perfect digestion must go in liquid form.

Pepsin digests some foods, but not all foods. There is Pepsin in Kodol, but we cannot depend alone upon Pepsin. We rely upon other ingredients, else digestion would not be complete. Some preparations digest part, but they are only part good. Kodol contains the natural digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach. It digests as Nature digests. The penalty of Indigestion is nervous chronic dyspepsia that leads to catarrh or cancer of the stomach. Nearly all serious diseases are traceable to Indigestion. Help your stomach do its work. Give it help at once. Our Guarantee: Get a bottle of Kodol. If you are not benefited, the druggist will at once return your money. Don't hesitate; any druggist will sell you Kodol on these terms. The dollar bottle contains 2½ times as much as the 50c bottle. Kodol is prepared in the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

TRY FIRE VS. FIRE; REPLY TO STRIKE.

'Breakers' Form Full Fledged Union in Opposition to the Tile Layers Who Quit.

OLD MEN OUTNUMBERED.

Contractors' New Employes Name Officers, Adopt a Name, and O. K. the Old Scale.

A novel method of breaking a strike was adopted yesterday by tile layers imported from various parts of the country by Chicago tile contractors. The strikebreakers formed a full fledged union in opposition to the organization of strikers.

The new union was formed at a meeting of the strikebreakers held in room 408 Masonic temple. A complete set of officers was elected and 108 members signed the roster of the union. This is more than the total number of members in the union on strike.

It is likely the new union will receive the indorsement of the tile contractors' association at a meeting to be held this evening. Officers of the "strikebreakers' union" said several of the strikers signed the roster of the new organization, because they were dissatisfied, it was said, with the tactics of the strikers.

Hold Election; Adopt a Scale.

"Amalgamated Encaustic, Ceramic, and Mosaic Tile Layers' and Helpers' Union of America" is the name adopted by the new union. Following are the officers elected:

President—R. D. Wallace, Danville, Ill.
Secretary—F. D. O'Brien, Chicago.
Business agent—Anthony Kimma, Chicago.

A scale of $5 a day and car fare based on an eight hour day was adopted.

The strike of the tile layers began on March 1, when 100 men walked out because they were refused an increase in wages. They demanded an increase from $5 a day and car fare to $5.60 and car fare.

It is said the situation will develop a jurisdictional fight that probably will be carried to the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

Regulation of Agencies.

A meeting for the purpose of indorsing a bill drafted by the state labor commissioners designed to regulate private employment agencies will be held this afternoon at the office of Supt. William H. Cruden of the Illinois state free employment bureau, 429 Wabash avenue. Two additional proposed bills have been drafted and will be discussed. They were drafted by the League for the Protection of Immigrants and the Employment Agency association.

Among the features of the "administration bill" are provisions for prohibiting "blind advertising" in newspapers, separating the supervision of licensed agencies from the state free employment bureaus and the appointment of a chief inspector of private employment agencies to be responsible to the commissioner of labor.

ROOSEVELT BLITHE AS EVER; WALKS TEN MILES ON DECK.

Gossips with Fellow Passengers, Exercises in Gymnasium, and Chaffs Members of Party for Indisposition.

On Board Steamer Hamburg at Sea, March 25, 5 p. m.—Theodore Roosevelt is as chipper and fit as ever. The weather was nasty this morning and the ship rolled in a considerable sea, but the former president passed most of the time on deck.

Mr. Roosevelt walked persistently, halting only now and then to give cheery greetings to pale faced passengers who would not or could not move from their steamer chairs or to go below and visit his son Kermit, who kept to the seclusion of his cabin. Maj. T. Alden Loring, a member of the Roosevelt party, staid in his stateroom also.

Mr. Roosevelt exercised today in the ship's gymnasium and followed his determination to omit luncheon, eating only two meals, but only because he is trying to take off weight.

The weather changed this afternoon. There was scarcely any sea, the air was balmy and the sunshine invigorating. Kermit Roosevelt and Maj. Loring reappeared on deck. Mr. Roosevelt, laughing at Kermit, walked the promenade deck with his son. Mr. Roosevelt seemed to find a good deal of fun in chaffing Maj. Loring because he had to "go below."

HARRIMAN NAMES A CABINET

Magnate Plans Consulting Board to Manage Properties.

COVERS ALL HIS HOLDINGS.

Group of Four Men to Be Powerful in Business World.

San Francisco, Cal., March 25.—[Special.]—The real purpose of E. H. Harriman's western trip is said to be to form a consulting board of the most eminent officials of different departments of his railroad system. The men thus chosen will manage the big properties under general supervision of Mr. Harriman himself. This board will consist of the following officials:

WILLIAM R. HERRIN, chief counsel of the Southern Pacific.

JULIUS KRUTTSCHNITT, director of maintenance and operation of Harriman lines.

J. C. STUBBS, traffic manager of Harriman properties.

WILLIAM HOOD, chief engineer of Southern Pacific.

To this group will be intrusted the complete management of the gigantic interests which Mr. Harriman has built up throughout the United States. Mr. Harriman will dictate policies; his advisers will relieve him of active management of his holdings.

This arrangement, it is said, will not be limited to railroad properties, but will extend to numerous electric lines between Salt Lake and Los Angeles; the enormous oil interests in the United States and Mexico; the steamship enterprises on the Pacific and the gulf; and many power projects in western states.

Heretofore the responsibility has devolved solely upon Mr. Harriman, and he has been compelled to devote himself to the task with unceasing energy.

Physician Dictated His Course.

Prompted by his physician the magnate has reached the conclusion that it is too much for one man to handle and he determined to call more intimately to his aid the men who have been closest to him during the extensive operations. In doing this he has shown preference to western men, who laid the foundation for his commercial supremacy and helped him maintain it.

Mr. Harriman has been a slave to the principle of unification and standardization. For this reason he will have his interests centered under one main authority. Departments, he argues, must be created to insure maximum efficiency.

The new arrangement will make the Herrin, Kruttschnitt, Stubbs and Hood combination the most powerful in the commercial world. Each one an authority in his line of work, together they represent all the essentials of effective railroad management. The four men had their training in San Francisco.

Asks Profits from Harriman.

New York, March 25.—[Special.]—Edward H. Harriman is defendant in a suit now pending in the Supreme court, in which John Donovan of St. Joseph, Mo., demands $800,000 from Harriman as his share of the profit made by Harriman by the sale of the St. Joseph Railway, Light, Heat and Power company, which Harriman controlled.

Negotiations for an amicable agreement were begun, but on Oct. 1, 1898, Donovan alleges, a contract was made by which Donovan agreed to abandon all his plans for the competing road and devote his time and services to forwarding the interests of the Harriman road. In consideration of his agreement to abandon the competing line enterprise Donovan says Harriman promised to give him 25 per cent of all money Harriman might realize over and above the $1,100,000 which Harriman had expended in the purchase of the road and improvements.

Donovan says he adhered to his part of the contract until November, 1901, when he learned Harriman had sold out his holdings in the company for $4,400,000.

FINES LANDLORDS WHO BAR BABIES.

Bill at Springfield Makes Misdemeanor of Refusal to Take Families as Tenants.

PENALTY OF $50 TO $100.

Real Estate Men Divided in Opinion Over Effect of Measure on Grouchy Owners.

Discriminating and grouchy landlords will lay themselves open to the penalties of the law by barring families with children from apartment houses if the bill introduced at Springfield yesterday by Representative Frank McNichols of this city becomes a law.

The bill provides that it shall be unlawful and to be against public policy for any landlord to discriminate against families where there are children under 14 years of age. It is also declared to be equally reprehensible for any landlord to insert a clause forfeiting a lease in case a baby is born to the tenant family or a child adopted.

Violation of the act is made a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of from $50 to $100 for each separate offense.

Agents Think Law Futile.

The general sentiment seems to be that it will not be productive of any particular results for the reason that landlords will find some other excuse to shut out families with children.

That was the opinion of William A. Bond, who declared such a question could not be controlled by legislation.

"So far as we are concerned," said Mr. Bond, "we do not discriminate in this matter anything more than to inquire carefully into the reputation of those applying to us for apartments, but undoubtedly there are a good many landlords with new apartment buildings who do not take kindly to young children.

"There are tenants, too, who do not care to rent in buildings where there are many young children, so that considerable care has to be exercised at times in meeting this question.

"I never heard of the clause with reference to the birth of babies or the adoption of children being inserted in any lease."

Some Expect Good Results.

Other real estate men believe the proposed law will go a long way toward minimizing what has become a real hardship among families.

James H. Stover of Eugene A. Bournique & Co., who handle such high grade buildings as the Raymond, 23 Lake Shore drive, on the north side, and the Bryson on the south side, declared they did not discriminate against children, but that much of it was being done.

The Clothes Shop Essay.

SPRING THINGS

¶ Nature meant the springtime as a time of change. When the sap begins to run, and the first robin whistles—it is time to think about spring things—the spring suit and overcoat.

¶ No man can feel really spring-like in winter clothes—when Nature changes her clothes man must—or be taboo.

¶ This, then, is to announce the formal opening of our exhibition of men's clothes for springtime wear.

¶ To old friends who have worn our garments, and know the story of why this business has flourished like a green bay tree, there were no need to repeat it here. But there are still others unfamiliar with the changes which we have wrought in the production of men's clothes for immediate wear.

OUR garments are superior—they are in a class by themselves—not only in point of authoritative style, but in the methods of making. Our garments are made in our own tailoring shops at Rochester, where we have evolved the only organization of its kind in the world. Every part of the garment is carried out by a highly specialized workman. It is a new spirit, new methods and higher artistic standards which assure you superior clothes ready for immediate wear.

¶ Suits $25, $30, $35, $40 and $45.

¶ Overcoats $25, $30, $35, $40 and $45.

SOCIETY WOMEN POSE FOR CHARITY

New York Sees Leaders of Gay Set in Tableaux and Living Pictures.

AUTO GUEST LOSES SUIT.

Woman Injured Fails in Action to Collect Damages from Dr. Julian Thomas.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, March 25.

One poor artist had a vision up in the ballroom of the Hotel Plaza tonight—a vision which few poor artists could have afforded to see. Out of a shadowy wine bottle stepped Mrs. Arthur S. Burden, gowned in some rich Spanish stuff of yellow and wearing jewels beyond the dreams of all but the most imaginative of poor artists.

Society in Tableaux for Benefit of Nursery.

The sprite from the wine bottle seemed to have cheered the poor artist, known to society as Harvey Ladew. He arose from his barren easel and saw the vision from the wine bottle beckon him to the dance, and then, in common with a great roomful of society folk who were in attendance at the benefit arranged by Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt Jr. for the Lisa day nursery, this lucky artist watched the twinkling feet of Mrs. Burden. At first the dancer followed the slow and languorous movement of the music.

The artist, surprised into sudden ecstasy, attempted to catch the sprite of his dreams, and then the cadence of the dance quickened. The flowing golden skirts of Mrs. Burden whipped about her ankles with the crescendo of her movements, and finally her dance ended in a mad, fantastic whirl of elation. The vision of Ladew vanished just as he reached out his hand to grasp her.

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt Jr. herself appeared in one of the nine tableaux arranged for the evening, and with her in the framed pictures set with living models behind the flanking velvet curtains were Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas, Miss Cornelia Bryce, Mrs. Seth Barton French, and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, and other women of society.

The Allan line has arranged to place long distance wireless apparatus on the liners Victorian and Virginian so that the steamers will be in touch with news centers on either side of the Atlantic from the time of leaving one side until their arrival at the other. Daily dispatches of notable events will be published on board.

Guest Fails to Recover Auto Damages.

The novel legal question whether owners of automobiles are liable for injuries suffered by their guests while speeding was raised in a suit for $25,000 damages brought against Dr. Julian P. Thomas, the aeronaut, which was decided in his favor here today. The suit was brought by Miss Frances Haas, who was riding with Dr. Thomas when his machine was wrecked against a telegraph pole two years ago. She lost a leg and was otherwise seriously injured.

Justice Brady held that it was for the jury to decide whether the plaintiff assumed the risks of the ride when she entered the defendant's automobile. If they found that she did assume the risk or that she asked the defendant to increase speed she should not recover. If they found that the defendant recklessly and voluntarily and against the protest of the plaintiff exceeded proper speed the verdict should be for the plaintiff.

Moving Picture Censorship Board to Visit Chicago.

As a result of the recent public clamor against immorality on the stage and in moving picture shows a committee of citizens visited the offices of one of the large motion picture companies today by invitation and acted as censors for several hundred yards of films intended for exhibition in the various moving picture theaters throughout the country. The committee seemed pleased with the pictures shown, and it was explained that the board aimed at proper amusement as well as education, and would not object to pictures merely because they happened to be "pure comedy," or "thrilling."

A similar inspection or "censorship board," it is understood, will inspect views in Chicago.

Donor of $500,000 Fund Is Mrs. E. Anderson.

Despite efforts to keep her identity a secret, it was learned today that the donor of the $500,000 fund to the Children's Aid society of this city for the establishment of a sanitarium for crippled children is Mrs. Elisabeth Anderson, wife of A. A. Anderson, the artist, and daughter of the late Jeremiah Milbank, founder of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad.

Mrs. Anderson inherited half of her father's large fortune upon his death. During the last seventeen years she has given away $3,000,000 of which the public has learned, and probably a large fortune in secret contributions besides. She has given more than $1,000,000 to Barnard college.

Poses as Yale Man; Held for Forgery.

George Cheever, son of a former chief of police of Andover, Mass., who has been posing as a Yale man, was arraigned today and held in $2,000 bail for trial on a charge of forgery. Cheever, who is 24 years old, is said to have obtained $20,000 in the last six months by means of forged checks, mainly from the fathers of college men. One of his boldest presumptions happened in April, 1907, when he entered Chicago on a special train he had chartered in Denver, Colo. He got the train through posing as a stepson of Vice President Fairbanks.

SAYS "PANTS" WERE TOO TIGHT

Miss La Fond Gives Expert Testimony in Carter Case.

JURYMAN ASKS TO BE SHOWN

One Witness Explains "Empire Gown Waist" to Mere Man.

New York, March 25.—[Special.]—The jury sitting in the suit of Mrs. A. E. Heerman, a costumer, against Mrs. Louise Carter-Payne, the actress, for the price of certain costumes for the actress' productions of "La Tosca" and "Camille," gave its undivided attention to some expert testimony as to "fits" today.

The expert in question was Phyllis La Fond, who was to play the part of a boy in "La Tosca." She said the coat and waistcoat of the costume were not just what they should be, but that was not the principal trouble. To be frank, she finally let it be known that the principal trouble was that the pants were too tight, so snug, in fact, that she was afraid to try to squeeze into them lest something break.

Witness Educates a Juryman.

Miss Blanchard, another member of Mrs. Carter's company, showed how she thought some of the costumes ought to fit. One of the jurors did not know what an empire gown was, but she illustrated by showing on herself where the waist line came on such a gown.

Then the question arose if Miss Blanchard had been measured for a princess gown, why did the records show that she had been chalked down for a peasant's costume? Miss Blanchard said that it made little difference, as the bust measurement and dimensions were the same.

The court, a mere man, opined, though, that there must be essential difference.

Louis Myll, who for years was stage manager for Mrs. Carter, testified that the grade of costumes made by Mrs. Heerman was inferior and the material cheap. Paul Vernon, a costumer, who was a witness for the defense, proved to be a humorist. He told reporters that he had started in with Booth and had been with 'em all. When asked to qualify as an expert he named productions he was familiar with and said he had acted and built costumes for what sounded like a résumé of the history of the American stage.

"You made costumes for Miss Davenport's productions?" he was asked.

"I certainly did, and played in her company," Vernon answered, raising his voice to stage pitch. "I've not only sewed costumes of 'La Tosca,' but I've cut them."

"Is this the proper coat for Mario?" he was asked.

Calls It "Coachman's Garment."

"No, that is a coachman's garment."

"What would be a fair price for this suit built for Mario?"

"Fifteen dollars."

"Would you consider Mrs. Heerman's price of $40 too large?"

Mr. Vernon replied that he would. He smiled when he said that the coat of Scharione, the police spy, was made out of cotton and wool. He sized it up as worth $10, while counsel for the defense had stated that $40 was Mrs. Heerman's price.

"Would you call this a police spy's coat?" the witness was asked.

"No; it is a lackey's outfit—it would be fine for a bellboy or a waiter."

"Would you say that this costume for Scarpia was appropriate?"

"Not where 'La Tosca' has been seen," Vernon replied.

RACES CLASH IN OKLAHOMA.

Three Negroes Said to Be Dead and Forty Arrested at Hickory Ground.

Guthrie, Okla., March 25.—[Special.]—Three negroes are said to be dead and five are wounded, while Deputy Sheriff Fowler is dying as the result of a battle yesterday and last night between a posse of white citizens and a mob of negroes at Hickory Ground, the scene of the famous Creek Indian uprising last year.

Forty negro prisoners were brought to Henryetta late this afternoon and were taken tonight to Muskogee and Checotah.

The officers went to Hickory late yesterday to arrest alleged cattle thieves thought to be concealed in one of the negro huts.

The negroes refused to admit the deputies to the settlement and opened fire.

When the negro prisoners were brought into Henryetta the whole town turned out, and for a time a lynching was feared. The blacks were guarded by officers and farmers until a train could be made up.

CASTRO STARTS BACK TODAY TO RESHY CASTOR INTO RING.

Usurped President Says He Will Regain Power if He Has to Fight for It Once More.

BORDEAUX, March 25.—Cipriano Castro arrived today from Paris. He will go on board the steamer Guadaloupe tomorrow and sail for Trinidad. The agent of the French line notified him that he must leave the steamer at some port of call before Venezuela.

At the station in Paris Castro confided to a small group of Venezuelan adherents and admirers his intention of reëstablishing his power in Venezuela by a revolution should this be necessary.

"Like Francis I., all is lost save honor," Castro declared. "I am going back to Venezuela. My country needs me and my mission is there."

Continuing, Castro declared that his trip to Europe had been misunderstood both at home and abroad. He came to the continent not only because he needed medical treatment but also to serve his country by interesting foreign capital in Venezuelan industries.

He spoke bitterly of the treachery of Juan Vicente Gomez and predicted that those now in control of the state would drive the country into bankruptcy.

"In six months' time," he asserted, "the present government will be unable to meet the obligations of the republic."

The Harmony Of Home

Does Not Mingle With or Emanate From the Table of Dyspepsia.

In the home, meal time should awaken in all the inhabitants a peculiar harmony of joy which will make for the home the abiding place of interest and happiness.

If one member at the dinner table is out of sorts his influence is felt and the harmony is lacking. Conversation and mirth are absent. Devouring thoughts assail the diners and silence prevails.

"At the Dyspeptic's Table Ominous Quiet and Gloom Crowd Out Mirth."

All physicians agree that mirth and joy at meal time do much toward digestion. Mirth tingles the whole nervous organism of man, the cells wherein are stored valuable digestive juices empty their contents under the nerve stimulation and promote the highest degree of digestion.

If gloom and discomfort prevail at table the reverse action obtains and meals become necessities, not anticipated joys.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are little storehouses of digestion which mix with the stomach juices, digest food, retingle the mucous membrane and its nerve centers, give to the blood a great wealth of digestive fluids, promote digestion and stay by the stomach until all its duties are complete.

If dyspepsia sits at tables it makes the dining room a place of awe; these tablets should be taken after meals and dyspepsia of a consequence flees.

No need for diet or fasting. The dyspeptics who will use them religiously will find no sense of nausea in the sight of generous meals or in the odor of rich cooking.

It matters not what the condition of the stomach, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets only improve the juices and bring quiet to the whole digestive canal, of which the stomach is the center.

Forty thousand physicians use these tablets in their practice and every druggist sells them. Price 50c. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

DAYS OF BUELOW NEAR THEIR END?

German Chancellor Loses Power and Resignation Is Looked For Soon.

AT OUTS WITH EMPEROR.

Kaiser Said to Be Supporting Prince Only in Aid of Reform Bill.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, March 25.—Indications are that Prince von Buelow's career as a chancellor is nearly finished. The defection of the Conservatives has so weakened the bloc, on which the chancellor relies for his majority in the reichstag, that the passage of the financial reform bill seems almost impossible.

The financial secretary estimates the deficit from 1909 to 1913 at $500,000,000. The reichstag is willing to spend unlimited sums to outstrip British naval construction, but it is unable to agree how to raise the enormous amount necessary.

Chancellor von Buelow finds himself under double disability. He is unable to carry the finance bill and he no longer enjoys the personal friendship of the kaiser. The latter development is due, of course, to his stand against absolutism and the emperor's personal régime in the crisis caused by the imperial interview last November.

Revelations Are Expected Today.

Interesting revelations on this subject will be made tomorrow. On March 11 Prince von Buelow visited the kaiser and had a long conversation on the political situation. He informed the emperor that he desired to resign because he felt that he did not possess the necessary authority to carry through the financial reforms laid before the reichstag by the government. He also told the emperor there was a general impression in parliamentary circles that he had forfeited the monarch's confidence, so that the parties forming the bloc showed a tendency to obstruct his policy.

The emperor replied that Von Buelow had undertaken the task of carrying out the financial reforms which were urgently necessary in the interests of the whole empire, so that he must request him to remain in office in order to arrange a satisfactory settlement of the present financial problems.

The chancellor then stated that if he remained in office he must beg the emperor to give him some public sign of confidence, thereby disproving the statements freely made that unsatisfactory personal relations existed between him and the sovereign. The emperor thereupon said that he would dine with Prince von Buelow the following day and on March 12 he spent the evening at the chancellor's official residence.

Open Support as Aid to Reform.

Since that date he frequently has called on Von Buelow as he used to do when the relations between them were unclouded. It is stated, however, that the emperor has given the chancellor these public signs of confidence only in order to facilitate the acceptance of the financial reforms by the reichstag. It is even stated that the kaiser explained his attitude in approximately the following terms:

"Last November Prince von Buelow put the blame on me for everything that happened. I will not give him any opportunity for saying I was responsible for any failure to obtain the consent of the reichstag to the finance bills. Therefore I will support him publicly in the hope that the financial reforms may be realized."

It naturally is denied semi-officially that any chancellor crisis exists, but the general expectation is that Prince von Buelow's resignation will be given within a few days.

French Navy Trust Alleged.

PARIS, March 25.—The chamber of deputies today unanimously adopted M. Delcasse's motion to appoint a parliamentary commission to inquire into the state of the navy before fresh credits were voted.

M. Brousse, who investigated the navy accounts on behalf of the finance commission, recently reported that millions have been swallowed up without any benefit to the navy, that the highest prices always were paid for supplies, and that costly repairs were made to ships which were useless.

RECITES PERIL OF POLAR TRIP

Members of Shackleton Party Almost Died from Starvation.

HARD CLIMB TO PLATEAU.

Future Explorers Warned to Take Larger Supplies of Food.

CHRIST CHURCH, New Zealand, March 25.—Lieut. Shackleton's ship Nimrod has returned here with the exploring party aboard, all of whom are well. The members give some additional details of the trip.

Prof. David and his companions recount that when they started on the journey to the magnetic pole the weather was so hot that they had to pull their two sledges in singlets. There was half a ton of provisions on each sledge. After a comparatively easy 260 mile journey along the sea ice they had a hard and almost hopeless climb to the inland plateau. They carried their lives in their hands, and suffered great privations on the return journey.

Nearly Died from Starvation.

When rescued by the Nimrod they were a party of gaunt skeletons. The Nimrod had almost given them up for lost. When they were compelled to turn back their bodily strength was diminishing so rapidly that their temperature went down to far below normal, in some cases reaching to 93 degrees and in others considerably lower than that. They nearly died from starvation before finding one of the depots, and were always on short rations. Had this party been two days later in reaching the Nimrod it would have been frozen in for another season.

They declare that any future explorer attempting to reach the pole must be provided with much larger supplies of food, because there is no doubt that the south pole is situated on a high plateau and that the coldest and stormiest weather in the world prevails there, there being 70 degrees of frost under the mildest conditions.

King Extends Congratulations.

LONDON, March 25.—King Edward today joined in the congratulations which are being showered on Lieut. Ernest H. Shackleton since the keen enterprise of the Daily Mail brought to England an exclusive account of his achievement in almost reaching the south pole. In a telegram of congratulation, the king accedes to Lieut. Shackleton's request for permission to name a new range of mountains discovered in the far south after Queen Alexandra.

ACCUSED OF 300 MURDERS IN FREEING UNHAPPY WIVES.

Woman Arrested in Russia Held for Poisoning So-Called Tyrant Husbands Says She Did Good Work.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 25.—Charged with having committed some 300 murders, a woman named Popova has been arrested at Samara.

During the last thirty years it appears the woman made a practice of ridding capricious wives of their husbands by poison. She charged a small fee, and is alleged to have executed commissions with much dispatch. One of her clients, tormented by remorse, now has denounced her.

Mms. Popova has confessed having committed murders but protests she did excellent work in freeing unhappy wives from their tyrants. She says she never murdered women.

A mob sought to seize her and burn her at the stake, but was prevented by police and soldiers.

AROUSES NEW FOE TO STOCKING 'TAX'

John Maynard Harlan Tells Women of Fashion They Can Speak with Authority.

SPEAKS TO SCRIBBLERS.

Club's Members Say They Will Join Movement Against the Payne Tariff.

Indignation against the glove and stocking iniquities of the proposed tariff is stirring even those women whose apparel is invoiced in the imported stock, which will not be unduly taxed.

Mrs. Harold McCormick, Mrs. Lockwood Honoré, Mrs. Edward S. Adams, and other members of the Scribblers' club, heard all about it from John Maynard Harlan yesterday when he addressed the club at Mrs. McCormick's residence.

At the close of the afternoon most of the women expressed themselves as intending to take individual action, whether or not any concerted measures would be taken by the club.

"I will write a personal letter to Washington," said Mrs. McCormick, "and will address it to the ways and means committee protesting against the bill—and I wish that I could only feel that anything I could say would do any good. Any little influence of mine is certainly on the side of those who will have to pay this undue tax.

"I would be glad if I felt that a letter from the club would do any good, and I think they will vote to send one when they realize how much good it will do. We are talking the question over among ourselves, and there is a wonderful eagerness in all of the members to know more about it. I think they are now talking it over with their husbands and fathers, and when they exactly understand the situation will agree to take action. There is a most decided feeling that the club wishes to do something."

Mrs. Harlan Suggests Topic.

A fortnight ago Mr. Harlan received the invitation to speak before the club, which is an informal body of women of the fashionable circle, who meet every two weeks at the residences of the members.

Mr. Harlan during the day was reminded by his wife of the engagement. He had delayed the preparation of his subject and Mrs. Harlan, who has taken considerable interest in the stocking and glove agitation, suggested that the tariff on these article of women's apparel would form about the most timely topic on which he could speak.

Among those who gave their interest and attention were Mrs. Potter Palmer Jr., Mrs. Frederic Clay Bartlett, Mrs. John A. Carpenter, Mrs. Charles D. Norton, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. Charles Pike, Mrs. Lockwood Honoré, Mrs. Hugh McBirney Johnston, and Miss Ethel Hooper.

Can Speak with Authority.

An abbreviated report of Mr. Harlan's words to them was something like this:

"The influence of the high tariff extends to women. You have yourself interests and this gives you the right to protest. The tariff on cotton and woolen stockings and underwear of the lower grades will be increased for the protection of the man who manufacturers these garments here, and he immediately will put up the price when he has no foreign competition.

"Now is the time when the women of all stations socially can act to purpose, because the proposed measure touches them. Within a month it may be too late, the bill may have passed, but if the women act with organized effort they may now accomplish something which will be of permanent good.

"Women heretofore have complained they could not 'obtain a hearing' on public questions, but the recent developments have modified the situation. Here is a subject on which women are the experts. They can speak with authority, and the whole nation will listen."

Just What They Want to Do.

"This," said Mrs. Adams, "is exactly what we wish to do. Personally, I wish to know more about it and mean to find out. Then if the measure is what I think it is I should wish to write a letter to Washington about it, protesting whether the club did so or not. It takes so long for the club to act as a whole and it never has acted on anything. It isn't that kind of a club. It merely meets informally and doesn't consider questions like that. But I should think a lot of individual protests would do really more good. And I believe every woman after she has investigated a little further will wish to do that. I know that my friends have all been concerned not to have such an injustice done."

Mrs. Honoré and nearly all of the women said practically the same thing.

"I am interested. I mean to investigate further just as rapidly as I can," said Mrs. Honoré. "If the measure is really bad, I shall wish to use my influence against it."

"I am particularly interested in legislation," said Mrs. Bartlett, "and I feel, as every other woman did at Mrs. McCormick's this afternoon, that we must and will investigate and act at once. I shall wish to protest, if the measure is as it seems."

DEMOCRACY'S WAR BOOST FOR BRYAN.

was accordingly expected to cover a multitude of sins. Recently, however, in state and national conventions Tammany Hall has been an open kicker, and the last rebellion against the Democratic caucus has sown seeds of bitter enmity throughout the south against anything which Tammany Hall wants from the party in the future.

Tammany Revolt Reunites South.

There is not now a single Democrat of commanding influence in congress from any of the northern states. The acknowledged leader of the party in both house and senate is a southern man, and the inevitable result of the rebellion headed by Tammany is to consolidate the southern influence. Some of the men from that section even go so far as to say that if they have to take a man from the north it will in no case be anybody from New York or the surrounding states. There even is a disposition to creep back to Mr. Bryan, in spite of the fact that he has been three times defeated, because he at least is capable of making a smashing campaign on the stump.

There is no doubt that the southern leaders were prepared, like most of the rest of the party, to let the Peerless Leader alone for the future. The Tammany revolt, however, has started the feeling once more in his favor, and it is manifest that Bryan is much stronger among the southern Democrats than he was immediately after the election.

There also is developing a radical difference of opinion between the sections regarding the treatment of the trusts, the corporations, and the railroads. The southern Democrats who follow Champ Clark insist that Fitzgerald, Burton, Harrison, Goulden, and other New York Democrats who refused to recognize the caucus are corporation men pure and simple. The Clark men charge that the influence of the Standard Oil company, the sugar trust, the brewery trust, and the other great combinations was responsible for the attitude of Fitzgerald and his associates.

Want Bryan Principles Anyhow.

The southern men say they might be willing to give up Bryan merely on the ground of his lack of availability, as demonstrated by three unsuccessful campaigns for the presidency. They are by no means willing, however, to abandon any of the principles for which Bryan always has stood. They believe theoretically in free trade still, although they all want protection for local products, and they expect to carry on unceasing warfare against the trusts and big corporations generally.

They hope for a great deal from the decision favorable to the Standard Oil company in the Chicago case, and the southern leaders say that under no condition will they allow themselves ever again to become the tail to the Tammany kite. They might accept Johnson of Minnesota because they have been told he is even more radical than Bryan himself.

They will not follow any New York Democrat nor any leader who may spring up in New Jersey or Pennsylvania or that section of the country. Harmon of Ohio does not appear to meet their expectations—first of all, because he was in Grover Cleveland's cabinet, and secondly because he has been generally ranked as a corporation lawyer.

What worries the party leaders most is that the defection of the Tammany men has practically left them without any issue on which to appeal to the people in the next congressional election. The position taken by Mr. Broussard of Louisiana in voting with the Republicans to report the Payne tariff bill and his affiliation with the Tammany Democrats who have refused to give all their support to the party leader in the house make it extremely difficult to go before the people on the tariff issue, no matter how the Payne bill may be remodeled for the worse by the senate.

"Rules Fight" Issue Smashed.

In attacking the rules of the house the party leaders thought they had an issue which would be immensely popular in the Mississippi valley. They figured out that with three or four exceptions all the insurgents were from that section of the country, and it therefore was estimated that there must be a strong undercurrent there in favor of a complete revision of the house rules. When so many Democrats, more than a score in number, broke away from the party leadership and voted with Speaker Cannon and the Republicans, it became nearly impossible to conduct a campaign as a partisan matter with the house rules as the issue. The regular Republicans at any time will be able to point to the public record of a large number of Democrats in opposition to the reforms proposed by the party leaders, and it will at least be difficult to insist that opposition to the house rules shall be made a test of party regularity.

Practically the only hope of the Democrats lies in the action of the Republican insurgents in the house. If they carry the fight into the primaries and into the next congressional campaign the Democrats may be gainers to a small extent, but the breaking down of party lines in the house has been so complete that in the opinion of political leaders on both sides any campaign made in 1910 with the house rules as an issue will be dependent entirely on the local political sentiment in the individual districts, and will not be of such a character that it will have any great national significance.

DENY PAYNE BILL AIDS "OIL TRUST"

Vreeland and Smith Claim Countervailing Duty Would Help Rivals.

MANY ATTACKS ARE MADE

Both Republicans and Democrats See Faults in a Number of Items.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—A voluntary admission by Mr. Vreeland of New York that he was to some extent responsible for the retention in the Payne tariff bill of the countervailing duty on oil was the climax of the day's discussion of the tariff in the house today.

Mr. Vreeland had sat for some time and heard various insinuations that that duty, which some have characterized as a "joker," was to be levied solely in the interest of the Standard Oil company. This he denied, and explained that his action was in response to requests from thousands of his oil producing constituents and in behalf of 500,000 others engaged in the same business. The debate on the oil schedule called forth some bitter criticism of the Standard Oil company by Mr. Kustermann of Wisconsin and others.

Numerous speeches were made touching on the tariff. The arguments from the Democratic standpoint were for a tariff for revenue only, while the Republicans who spoke attacked such schedules as those on wool, wood pulp and print paper, and crude petroleum. Among those who spoke in favor of the bill was Crumpacker of Indiana.

Underwood Attacks the Bill.

The bill was called up by Chairman Payne immediately after the house convened and the debate was opened by Mr. Underwood of Alabama, who spoke at length in opposition to the bill. Mr. Underwood got into an argument with Mr. Morgan of Missouri regarding the zinc schedule. That schedule, the Alabama member insisted, would cost the government $685,000, and he said Mr. Morgan, who represents a zinc district, would have the honor of being the highest paid legislator in the world.

Much attention was given by Mr. Underwood to the subject of raw materials. He was opposed to free raw materials, but said he was in favor of reducing tariff rates down to a strictly revenue basis.

Charging that the Payne tariff bill "is a deliberate betrayal of the American people," and that "it is a fresh illustration of the perfidy of the Republican party," Mr. Sheppard of Texas bitterly attacked the measure.

"Amusing, indeed, were the ponderous assurances of Mr. Taft that the Republican party would revise the tariff downward," said he. "His volcanic predecessor realized the hopelessness of such a proposition and evaded it to the last. Is it possible that the complacent Mr. Taft may succeed where the bifocal wind that recently swept from Washington to Oyster Bay failed utterly? I say to you that there is more real power in one 5 cent cigar between the iron lips of Joseph G. Cannon, the standpat leader, than in the big sticks of a whole regiment of Roosevelts and Tafts."

Sheppard Sees Trade Threatened.

Mr. Sheppard said the Payne bill was in no way a sincere and equitable revision of the tariff and asserted that it was a declaration of commercial war with all the world.

"The enactment of the Payne bill," he said, "would paralyze what little progress we have made under the extension of our foreign trade."

He discussed the maximum and minimum provisions of the bill and said rumors of trade agreements in every corner of the earth would keep the American markets in a continual state of unrest.

He deplored the failure to remove or reduce the protection, which he claimed was afforded to the Standard Oil trust by the Dingley law.

He said it was true coffee was technically on the free list, but argued that the countervailing provision made it dutiable.

A directly opposite view of the effect of the operation of the maximum and minimum provisions of the bill was taken by Mr. Cole of Ohio. He charged that it always had been the cry of the Democracy that the markets of the United States shall be opened to the products of the world and it now was contended that to invite a commercial war would be disastrous to American industries. The particular provisions referred to, he said, would compel fair treatment from all nations. The burden of Mr. Cole's remarks, however, was a plea for better protection for the wool industry.

Mr. Kustermann then opposed the countervailing duty on oil, which, he argued, had enabled the Standard Oil company to sell oil in England at from 3 to 4 cents a gallon less than in the United States. He declared that he had received positive assurance that that feature of the Dingley bill would be omitted from the Payne bill. "But," he said, "here is the little joker standing before me in all its wickedness ready to take from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 out of the pockets of our people."

Oil "Joker" Slipped In?

That no one for some time knew of the presence in the Dingley bill of the so-called oil "joker" was the statement of Mr. Cooper of Wisconsin. How it was put in, he said, he did not know, "but it was put in with the knowledge of but few members of either the house or senate."

While asserting he was not defending the Standard Oil company, Mr. Smith of California said it had no advantage over others in the refining of oil. The trouble, he said, was in the transportation of the oil. He contended that if others could get the same price as the Standard as to transportation they could distribute oil. Indeed, said he, if the Standard Oil company had the decision of the question, it would strike out the provision with reference to the countervailing duty. Not Russia but Mexico, he said, was the competitor of the United States, and Mexico was the place where the Standard would go to buy oil if the duty were taken off, and leave the American oil producer with his wells shut down.

At this juncture Mr. Vreeland arose and said that to some extent he was responsible for the retention of that duty in the Payne bill.

"I did it," he declared, "in response to requests from thousands of men in my district engaged in producing oil. I did it in behalf of 500,000 American citizens engaged in producing oil."

Members of the senate committee on finance asserted today they would be ready to report a tariff bill whenever the house passed the Payne bill. While no agreement has been reached by the senate committee, the indication is that the rate on the manufactured articles may be increased.

STOCKING TAX ROUSES THEM.

Michigan Women Propose to Flood Congress with Protest Petitions Against Payne Bill.

Detroit, Mich., March 25.—[Special.]—While the women's civic league and several prominent women's clubs have taken steps to adopt resolutions protesting against the Payne bill tariff schedules which will advance the price of stockings, gloves, and other necessary articles of women's apparel and forward them to Michigan senators and representatives in congress, the most important action will come in the form of general petitions.

Detroit merchants themselves are emphatically opposed to the tariff schedules which will increase the cost of women's clothing.

Several of the largest retail houses have agreed to place petitions in the stores to be signed by women. These petitions will be later sent to Washington. Wholesale and retail houses throughout the state are being urged to join the movement.

Protests in a Big "Ad."

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—The following appeared in the advertisement of a leading dry goods house of Washington in one of the evening papers:

"Mr. Payne has charge of the bill which will increase the price of gloves and stockings. Let every woman and every man with a mother, wife, sister, or sweetheart, write Mr. Payne to this effect: 'If 40 and 50 per cent of protection has not given Mr. Littauer and others the skill to produce kid gloves and stockings that women will wear, will more protection do it?' You'll remember Littauer as the prime objector to the raise in salary of government clerks—and now he wants the government to further tax your gloves for his benefit. Object! Object! Object! You can be a good Republican and consistently object. Write Mr. Payne this very night."

Immediately following this exhortation, in bountiful display type, was notice that certain famous brands of hosiery will be higher priced if the increased tax "goes."

When Chicago shoe dealers and St. Louis shoe dealers who know the Chicago newspaper situation advertise in Chicago, they use The Chicago Tribune.

THE TRIBUNE is Chicago's big newspaper. Week after week, month after month, year after year, it prints more advertising than any other Chicago newspaper, notwithstanding the fact that to the Chicago merchants who give it as much advertising as is given to THE TRIBUNE, at least one Chicago newspaper cuts it's printed rate card 25%.

CUMMINS TO LEAD SENATE'S 'REBELS'

Progressives in Upper House Believe They Have Found a Moses in Iowan.

STANDS OUT FOR REFORM.

New Statesman Announces Vigorous Fight for Laws in Interest of People.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—The progressives in the senate believe they have found a Moses in Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa. They are gathering around him in the hope that he will lead them to victory against the old time leaders of that body.

They realize that if they are to play any part in the great economic reforms proposed by President Taft they must be united and respondent more or less to one will. The man who most nearly fills their bill of qualifications is said to be Cummins.

Various causes are responsible for their leaning towards the Iowa senator. In the first place the fight Senator Burkett of Nebraska, La Follette of Wisconsin, and one or two others declared they would make against the Aldrich-Hale control "petered out" before the blow was struck and ended in their complete acceptance of the committee assignments offered to them.

All He Must Do Is Make Good.

Finding none of the elements of leadership in the men who were circulating around seeking support to overthrow Aldrich and Hale, senators of the type of Bristow of Kansas and Brown of Nebraska have been examining the characteristics of various members of the upper house who are aggressive as well as progressive. If Cummins can make good during the extra session of congress, undoubtedly he will be charged with the burden of looking after the interests of the wing of the Republican party to which he belongs.

This is a situation the old leaders have endeavored to avoid. In connection with the committee assignments Cummins would have preferred the judiciary and interstate commerce. Aldrich and Hale had no desire to give him either. Not believing Dolliver would retire from the interstate commerce, Cummins was informed that he could be named for that committee only if the senior senator from Iowa would agree to withdraw in his favor. When Dolliver was approached he called the bluff of the senate managers by expressing a willingness to drop out if they would agree to appoint Cummins. There was nothing left for the committee on committees to do than to give Cummins the place.

It also assigned him to what has become known as "the budget committee"—the body which will supervise all appropriations made by the senate. It was believed that Cummins would be grateful for this consideration and would show it by his acts. At the same time the leaders felt it desirable to draw the teeth of the Iowan, and therefore in the organization of the interstate commerce committee decided to place him upon the subcommittee where he could do the least damage.

Will Make Vigorous Fight.

Cummins does not propose, however, to be relegated to obscurity, but has made it clear to the senators with whom he has affiliated himself that he intends to make a vigorous, aggressive fight for legislation and the senatorial reforms he deems necessary in the public interest. His attitude has been hailed with satisfaction by the men with whom he stands.

Frequent opportunity will arise during the consideration of the tariff bill for him to demonstrate the kind of stuff he is made of. Moreover, as a member of the budget committee, formed for the purpose of making expenditures and revenues meet, he ought to be in a position to exercise an influence of value to the movement he represents.

The senate insurgents feel that they have sung small before the country. The house insurgents at least received a bone. They want to demonstrate that they are not impotent, but to do so they realize they must have not only a principle but a man to lead them.

President Taft remarked to Representative Tawney, chairman of the appropriations committee, today that the budget committee ought to do work of high importance to the people. The need of a similar committee in the house has been suggested. Under the existing rules the bills authorizing expenditures are prepared by the military, the naval, and other committees besides that on appropriations. At the same time the last named committee is held responsible by the country for the aggregate appropriations made.

Plans for Keeping Down Expense.

Mr. Tawney called the attention of the president to the section of the sundry civil law passed at the last session requiring the chief executive to advise congress how appropriations asked for by the several branches of the government can, with the least injury to the public service, be reduced so as to bring expenditures within the estimated revenue. If the president believes the estimates should be adopted without modifications then he must recommend such loans or new taxes as may be necessary to cover the deficiency.

Mr. Taft announced that he would carefully carry out this direction. He will call the attention of each member of the cabinet to the imperative necessity of economy and require them in the preparation of their estimates during the coming summer to observe the most scrupulous care in excluding all but absolutely necessary expenditures.

In case it should become apparent to him that more revenue will be needed than the new tariff and other taxes will produce he will recommend in his first annual message an income tax.

Irrespective of this advice, however, Mr. Tawney and other members of the appropriations committee are satisfied that the recommendations of the president will be of great importance in keeping down appropriations. The committee, of which he is chairman, takes pride in the fact that for some years the appropriations it has recommended always have been below the departmental estimates. This is not true of certain other committees.

The fact that the administration is behind the appropriations committee will lend additional weight to the demand of the latter that the proposed increases be not granted. It also will be influential in enabling the house to prevent the senate from adding undue sums to the appropriation bills.

MANY ARE NOMINATED BY TAFT.

John Leishman of Pennsylvania Is Named as Envoy to Italy—Vermont Man Goes to Spain.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—The president today made the following nominations:

Ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to Italy—John C. A. Leishman of Pennsylvania.

Envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Spain—Henry Clay Ide of Vermont.

Envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Argentine Republic—Charles H. Sherrill of New York.

United States judge, western district of Pennsylvania—Charles P. Orr of Pennsylvania.

United States district judge, first division, district of Alaska—Thomas H. Lyons of Alaska.

United States attorney—William G. Wheeler, western district of Wisconsin.

Register of land office at Wausau, Wis.—John W. Miller.

Receiver of public moneys at Williston, N. D.—Minor S. Williams.

Assistant secretary of commerce and labor—Ormsby McHarg of North Dakota.

Collector of customs, district of Sandusky, O.—Charles A. Judson of Ohio.

Mr. Judson is generally known as a "Vorys man" and his reappointment is declared to be a victory for that wing of the party in Ohio. Judson was appointed four years ago, it is stated, at the instance of Senator Foraker, but went over to the Taft forces in the fight of last summer for control of the state.

The nomination of William G. Wheeler to succeed himself as United States attorney for the western district of Wisconsin was a victory for Senator Isaac Stephenson. Wheeler had been opposed for the renomination by some of Senator La Follette's followers. The senior senator himself took no part in the affair, the patronage being at the disposal of Senator Stephenson.

But Attorney General Bonaparte reported unfavorably on Wheeler's record and President Roosevelt served notice on Senator Stephenson just before March 4 that he could not renominate Wheeler. The term expired on March 4. President Taft yielded to Senator Stephenson and made the appointment.

INDIANA "DRYS" MAKE MORE GAINS

Antis Sweep Elkhart and Orange Counties, Banishing 47 Saloons.

RESORTS IN THE FIGHT.

French Lick and West Baden Hotel Men Say Groggeries Hurt Business.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 25.—[Special.]—Elkhart and Orange counties were added to the dry column today, the first by a majority of about 1,300 and the second by 677. Orange county contains the Taggert and Sinclair resorts at French Lick and West Baden, respectively, and it is said that the influence of the two hotels was thrown on the side of local option, the proprietors having found that saloons are a detriment rather than a help to their business.

In Elkhart county the Amish and Dunkards sects, which eschew politics and never vote at elections, turned out to a man to vote against saloons, and the city of Goshen gave a majority for the "drys." There was little or no demonstration in either county by temperance people, and the vote was not as large as expected.

Forty-three saloons are put out of business by today's vote.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 25.—Although seats to the debate between Mayor Rose of Milwaukee and President Samuel Dickie of Albion college, Michigan, on prohibition tomorrow night are free, the demand is so great that offers of money frequently have been made for seats. People have telegraphed from all over the country that they wished to come if they could be guaranteed seats. The 4,000 seats in the Hippodrome were given away to the various civic societies, but there have been approximately 20,000 calls for the 4,000 seats. The debate will be one of three on this subject, between the same speakers. The second debate will be in Chicago, and the third in some southern city, probably Atlanta or New Orleans. The debate results from Mayor Rose's challenge in the Louisville convention of the Model License league to any speaker in America on the right or wrong of prohibition. Mr. Dickie was chosen by the National Prohibition party to meet the challenger.

"Character" Law in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., March 25.—The Dean "character" law, which became a law last midnight without action by Gov. Harmon, and which was backed by the liquor interests, contains apparently some severe restrictions. The law provides that at the time of tax assessment the saloonkeeper must answer a long list of questions as to whether he has allowed minors in his place, whether gambling has been permitted, and so on down the line. If the saloonkeeper does not answer these questions his saloon is to be closed. If he answers in the negative he is permitted to continue in business on payment of his tax, provided his negative answers are true. The new law also provides that on the complaint of any five taxpayers living within 1,000 feet of a saloon the city solicitor must begin an action against such saloon as a public nuisance for its abatement.

Hisses and Cheers at Hearing.

Des Moines, Ia., March 25.—Hisses and cheers alternated this afternoon at the monster demonstration before the senate committee on constitutional amendments and suffrage during the prohibition hearing at which 2,000 persons attended.

Speeches against the adoption of the resolution submitting prohibition to the voters were made by Judge M. J. Wade of Iowa City, national Democratic committeeman; Father Joseph Nugent of Des Moines, William Milchrist of Sioux City, and Lamonte Cowles of Burlington. These men insisted they were not appearing for the liquor interests, but were convinced that prohibition could not be successfully enforced in Iowa.

Leading the prohibition forces was Mrs. Lillian Stevens, national president of the W. C. T. U. She produced figures to show prohibition is a success in her state. The Rev. D. Everest Smith of Indianola followed her.

Anti-prohibitionists declared that it would be safer to enforce the present liquor laws than to adopt prohibition.

MRS. YERKES SEEKS RECEIVER

Order Restrains Owsley Taking Court Action in New York.

LAWYER IS HURRYING EAST.

Executor Accused of Causing Estate to Lose Large Income.

Mrs. Mary Adelaide Yerkes, widow of Charles Tyson Yerkes, the Chicago traction magnate, filed a petition before Judge Albert C. Barnes yesterday asking the appointment of a receiver for the Yerkes estate. A temporary order was issued to restrain Louis S. Owsley, executor of the estate, from applying for letters testamentary in New York today.

Attorneys James J. Barbour and Francis Walker presented the petition and urged immediate action on the restraining order.

"In order to get to New York tomorrow in time to prevent Owsley from taking action with reference to the Yerkes interests there I must leave on the 2:30 p. m. train," said Attorney Barbour.

Order Sent East by Wire.

"That makes no difference. I will take no action until Owsley's attorneys have been notified," said Judge Barnes.

Ten minutes later Attorney Walter W. Ross reached the courtroom. He said the estate might lose $1,500,000 through alarmed creditors and a forced sale of stock if the restraining order was granted.

"I've got to catch that train," pleaded Attorney Barbour.

"Well, you go ahead," said the court. "I will look this petition over, and if I see fit the order will be granted and it can be telegraphed to you."

Mrs. Yerkes' bill in many respects is similar to the one she filed before Judge Cutting in the Probate court in an attempt to dislodge Owsley from the position of executor.

Assets Valued at $11,117,298.

The liabilities of the estate are placed at $4,316,183 and the assets are estimated at $11,117,298. Principal among these, the bill reads, are 4,494 gold bonds of the Chicago Consolidated Traction company with a par value of $4,494,000. It states that Mr. Owsley surrendered a majority of the stock in this line to a reorganization committee in New York in June, 1908, thereby depriving the estate of at least $200,000 a year. The bill further sets forth that Owsley refused to surrender title to the New York mansion until Mrs. Yerkes had paid him 6 per cent of its value. The petitioner declares that the action sought will be conducive to the best interests of the estate.

The sanitary district of Chicago brought condemnation proceedings in the Superior court to acquire title to property in West Argyle street 345 feet east of the east line of North Albany avenue, belonging to the Yerkes estate.

RELATIVES RECEIVE NO WORD OF CARTER GARY'S CONDITION.

Steel Corporation Chairman's Nephew, Wounded by Alleged Victim in Deal, Reported in Serious Condition.

Efforts of Wheaton relatives to learn of the condition of Carter J. Gary, son of the late Noah Gary of Wheaton and nephew of E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, failed yesterday. Gary was shot Wednesday afternoon in Los Angeles, Cal., by Edward Rainert of Glendale, who claimed Gary had victimized him in a $4,000 real estate deal. The victim, it is reported, is at the point of death in the Santa Ana hospital.

Rainert and Gary met in the office of Attorney H. J. Forgy to adjust their difficulties. The conversation hardly had begun when Rainert sprang up.

"You're a liar!" shouted Rainert, as he reached for his pistol and fired. The bullet grazed the head of Gary, who fell to the floor. Rainert, thinking he had killed Gary, laid his pistol on a table, but when the stunned man rose he seized the weapon and fired again. The bullet struck Gary in the abdomen and severed an artery.

Gary has two half-sisters and a cousin, Mrs. H. W. Sutcliffe, living in Wheaton. His sister is Mrs. Harry C. Foster of Chicago.

THE cost of the paint needed for your house is a good deal more important than the price of it; you may pay more than usual for the paint, and still have it cost less than usual; but if you get that kind of paint for less money than usual the cost is that much less.

Here's an illustration: A house owner bought for a job of painting 10 gallons of Devoe Lead-and-Zinc; his painter and paint dealer both said he would need 10 gallons.

He did a good two-coat job and had 5 gallons left. You see the cost of a thing isn't always in the price.

"COMMY" GIVES UP FIGHT FOR JONES

Fielder's Final Proposition, to Buy Interest in Club, Is Declined.

SUCCESSOR NOT NAMED.

'Timber King,' in Farewell Conference with Former Boss, Makes Known Stand.

Portland, Ore., March 25.—[Special.]—A short half hour's conference here today with Fielder Jones finally convinced C. A. Comiskey, president of the Chicago White Sox, that his former manager's determination to retire from active participation in baseball was irrevocable and that the only possible way to retain his services would be as a partner in the ownership of the White Sox, a proposition which the Chicago magnate declined to consider or discuss.

The conditions under which Jones could have been induced to remain in charge of the White Sox were not new to Comiskey nor were they sprung on him here without warning. They were contained in Jones' letter to the club owner which failed to reach him in Chicago, but did reach him in San Francisco.

President Comiskey has known for weeks that the only way he could keep Fielder in the business was as a co-magnate, and that idea he would not entertain seriously. Jones offered to return at the same salary as last year—$10,000—and an option for six months on a half interest in the Chicago American league club and franchise at a reasonable figure.

Big Block of Stock Required.

To friends here he admitted he might shade those inducements by accepting the option of buying less than half the stock of the club, so as to allow Comiskey to retain the controlling interest, but maintained he would not consider any chance to buy anything but a large block of shares. This he figured he would be in a position to pay cash for by next fall.

Any raise in salary within reason Jones asserted would be no temptation to him, and Comiskey's only hope in stopping off here today was in the possibility that the friendship between the magnate and former manager might be strong enough to cause Jones to weaken under personal persuasion at the last moment. That having failed, the Chicago man sadly admitted just before leaving for Vancouver, on his way home, that there was no chance of Jones' returning, but declined to name the player who would succeed him.

Jones reiterated the statements he previously made regarding his position. He said he was nearly through as a ball player, wanted to quit the game, and could last only a year or two more at best.

"Baseball or Timber" the Slogan.

As a bench manager, even if Comiskey would overcome in his behalf a dislike for bench managers, Jones argued he could not be of as much value as formerly, while playing. In another year or two the opportunity he now has to get in right in the timber business out here would be gone. But if he could be assured a permanent connection with baseball as part owner of the White Sox, he would be willing to stick to baseball.

"A life decision," was the way Jones put it in discussing the matter. It was timber or baseball for good with him, and, neither surprised nor hurt by Comiskey's refusal of his partnership proposition, Jones feels glad it is to be timber.

The only reason Jones had for making such a suggestion, he says, was that Comiskey often has expressed a desire to give up the worry and attention the team now means to him and take life more easily. Jones figured it worth while to give Comiskey that chance if he was in earnest and his proposition contemplated taking on his own shoulders all the details of conducting the club all the year round, in addition to managing it on the field, and, in payment for the additional worries he would assume, he was willing to take a chance on a dividend or a deficit on his holdings in the club if permitted to purchase a considerable amount of stock.

No Salary Offer Made.

Jones is "in right" out here, and his prospects are the brightest. It is doubtful if he will be able to make as much money in the next year or two as he could in baseball, but unquestionably he will be worth much more cash in ten years by staying here than by remaining in the game in any capacity other than as a club owner or part owner. No straight salary offer appealed to Jones at all, and Comiskey made him none today. He realized its futility as soon as he was convinced of his former manager's determination to stick to the partnership plan and after looking over the openings which Jones has.

The two men parted in friendly spirit, Jones accompanying Comiskey and his family to the station and bidding them good-by as the train pulled out. But for a time in the morning it looked as if there would be no meeting between them.

Comiskey reached Portland this morning and announced he had an appointment with Jones at 10:30 at the hotel. Jones did not show up at that time, and a few minutes later the Chicago magnate joined his family and friends in an automobile trip they had planned to see the scenery.

"Commy's" Persuasive Powers Fail.

Jones reached the hotel at 11 o'clock and, when given a message left for him by Comiskey, wrote his name and office address on a card, leaving it for the "Old Roman" of baseball. On leaving the hotel Jones made the statement that if Comiskey wanted to see him he would find him in at the office, and there were appearances of a misunderstanding. Nothing came of it, however, for on the return of the auto party, Comiskey communicated with Jones and in a few minutes they were in conference at the former's hotel.

At the conclusion of the session, when asked the results, Comiskey shook his head and said:

"I wish Fielder Jones every success in his business. I would put nothing in the way of his advancement, even if I could do so, for he deserves success. He is young and ambitious and has a good head on his shoulders. That's why I wanted him to lead my team. Oregon is a great state, and so is the entire northwest. I've nothing but good luck to wish Jones in whatever he undertakes."

Incidentally the Chicagoan intimated he might bring his White Sox to the northwest next year. He was delighted with the climate and weather he found here and promised that both the first and second teams would travel through Portland, Seattle, and Spokane as a part of their next training trip.

Promises to Visit Portland.

"Depend on it," he said. "The Sox are coming to Portland next year. I believe I could get as good results as by sticking to California. It's fine here and I guess I can't find too much fault with Jones for staying."

Jones declined to state the nature of Comiskey's opposition to his partnership proposition or even to admit Comiskey gave any reasons.

"Comiskey realized," he said, "that there is no salary consideration about the matter. I cannot play always, and have only a year or two more at most. Here I am in a country full of opportunities. It's my best chance and I am going to corral that chance with all the energy I have. Comiskey is not sore over my decision and I hope Chicago fans will not blame me, but will be pleased that I can better myself. I am not deserting Chicago for any other baseball undertaking. I am not going to play here or anywhere else. If I had remained in baseball it would have been in Chicago."

VETERAN BACKSTOP IS DEAD.

Edward Leahy, Once Catcher for the Phillies, Succumbs to an Attack of Pneumonia.

Cincinnati, O., March 25.—[Special.]—Edward F. Leahy, formerly a well known catcher for the Philadelphia baseball club, died today after a two weeks' illness at the home of his sister in this city. Mr. Leahy, since retiring from the diamond, has been traveling in the west for a New York mercantile firm. Exposure, incident to his work, precipitated an attack of pneumonia which terminated fatally.

Bloomington, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—George W. Cutshaw, last season's star second baseman for Bloomington, has signed a contract to play second base for Anson's Colts in their tour of eastern cities during April. He will join Bloomington on April 20.

ONLY A ROMP FOR WHITE SOX

RACE AROUND BAGS AT WILL.

Parent, Altizer, Owens, and Tannehill Lead in Slugging.

BY HEK.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 25.—[Special.]—The weather permitting and the grounds being not half bad, a game of ball was played this afternoon at Chutes park in the presence of 350 frenzied fans, and after a close and exciting contest it was won by the Sox by a score of 10 to 0.

It was the first time since Saturday that the athletes were permitted to parade in their smooth shoes, and the interest, therefore, was intense. The question involved was how many runs the Sox would make and how many of the Vernons would reach second base.

"Happy" Hogan called out all his reserves, including three pitchers, two center fielders, and two catchers and himself. "Happy" has a lot of them, such as they are. Owing to the generosity of the pitchers and the accommodating infield Comiskey's men were given base running exercise almost to the point of overwork. Annis, who pitched the first three innings, violated the Elkins law six times. When he wasn't issuing passes he was vouchsafing hits. The combination netted the Sox seven runs.

Newlin to the Rescue.

Then Newlin came to the rescue. Newlin had a wireless telegraphy delivery. That is, it was not hard to locate as long as he kept it within the lot. The Sox, although slowing up on purpose, helped themselves to two more runs at Newlin's expense. Newlin was not taking any chances with our justly celebrated clouters, and he walked every one whose appearance he did not fancy. The next pitcher "Happy" introduced was Hitt, and that goes both ways. The run that came in the ninth was simply an overflow. Parent got tired of standing on third base. None of the local pitchers wanted to have any business dealings with Hahn, who was passed four times out of six times up. Parent walked three times and made two singles and a double out of his many opportunities. Altizer made a single, a double, and two sacrifices. Cravath could not reach those that were sent to him with a telegraph pole, and he got his base on balls four times.

Scott Opens for Sox.

Scott did the pitching for us in the first five innings and only seventeen men faced him. Only two reached first base and they got there on infield errors. Miller came in in the sixth and came near being put out of business trying to stop a hard drive through the box with his naked hand. His essential fingers were crumpled up a bit, but he pitched out the game. The one he tried to stop was the only hit that was made off him. Owens caught the entire game and distinguished himself both in his position and with the stick. He made three of the fifteen hits and after a sprint picked a foul off the facade of the deep set grand stand that nine catchers out of ten, including Capt. Sullivan, would have passed up, no matter how much depended upon it.

Matticks Weak with Stick.

Matticks, who played Dougherty's position, took care of everything that came his way, but did not shine in the other end of it. Tannehill was a potent run getter, with a single, two doubles, and a sacrifice. We play at the Chutes tomorrow with this or a similar outfit today. Score:

RAIN BALKS YANNIGANS AGAIN.

Second Game with Oakland Team Is Called Off Because of Inclement Weather.

San Francisco, Cal., March 25.—[Special.]—The second game of the closing series with Oakland, scheduled for this afternoon, also was postponed on account of intermittent rain and decidedly moist grounds. The Yannigans are getting somewhat stale without workouts, but hope tomorrow will permit them to begin their last three game series with 'Frisco. The Oakland races enticed most of the players because of a "killing" of $5.90 made by Doc White yesterday.

FIRST TRIPLE PLAY OF YEAR.

Red Sox Pull Off Feature in Game with Memphis and Win Contest, Nine to Nothing.

Memphis, Tenn., March 25.—[Special.]—The Boston Americans beat Memphis 9 to 0 today, pulling off probably the first triple play of the year when McConville caught a liner, relaying the ball to Wagner at second, who in turn relayed it to Stahl at first.

SPARKS SAYS HE WON'T SIGN.

Unless Phillies Grant Him Additional Money Asked He Will Not Join Team.

New Orleans, La., March 25.—[Special.]—Frank Sparks, the veteran pitcher of the Phillies, has not signed his 1909 contract and declares no intention of doing so unless the club owners revise the figures. Sparks was a holdout in 1908 and got part of the raise he wanted. This year when he received the document he found the additional money he received in 1908 lopped off, the salary being reduced to the old figures.

STALLINGS BUYS MACON STOCK.

Half Interest in Georgia Club Obtained to Get Permanent Training Camp for the Highlanders.

Atlanta, Ga., March 25.—[Special.]—It is reliably reported here that Manager George Stallings of the New York Americans has purchased a half interest in the Macon baseball team, and that as a result the New York Americans will continue training in Macon so long as Stallings is at the helm. Macon probably will become a sort of farm for the New Yorkers.

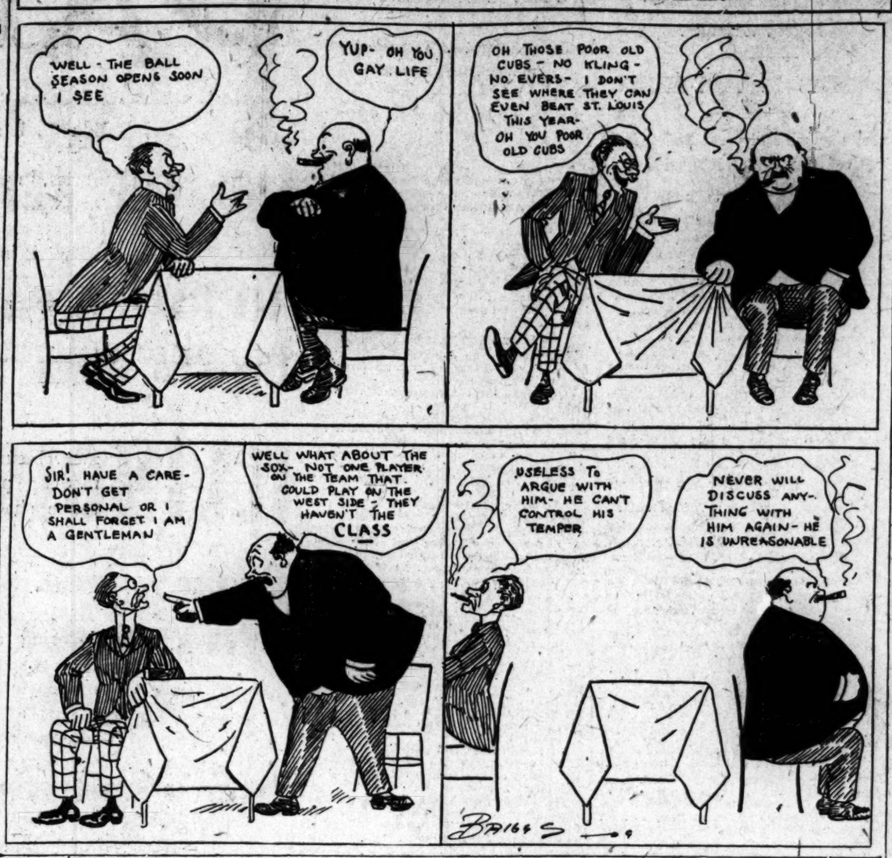
IT HAPPENED IN BUGVILLE.



CUBS MOVE; SCHULTE IS ILL

Yellow Jaundice Attacks Frank on Way to Little Rock.

OUT OF GAME FOR A WHILE.

World's Champions to Open Hard Campaign This Afternoon.

Little Rock, Ark., March 25.—[Special.]—Manager Chance, leading an army of ballplayers and retainers, thirty-six in number, struck Little Rock tonight ready to open the pre-season campaign.

The first hard luck of the training season befell the Cubs on the trip up from Shreveport today, when Frank Schulte was seized with a sudden attack of illness. When the team reached Little Rock tonight, Schulte was seriously ill, and the physicians who were called diagnosed the case as yellow jaundice. They stated he would be all right with good care within a few days.

Schulte has not been feeling well since he joined the team, and the hard preparatory work at Shreveport knocked him out. Besides, the water there was bad, and, having missed the trip to West Baden, Schulte fell an easy victim.

"Travelers" Hard to Beat.

The Cubs will tackle the first classy team they have struck and they are likely to have a battle before they beat the Small Boulders. St. Louis has had a hard fight with the "Travelers," and the Cubs will try to give them a beating. Brown and Pfiester are carded to do the pitching, and Jack O'Connor, who is managing the Little Rock team, declares he surely is going to beat the champions.

The Cubs got away from Shreveport at 12:30 today and started on their long southern tour, during which they will try out the best teams in the Southern and Central leagues. The leave taking at Shreveport really was a sad affair, and the crowd that gathered at the hotel and again at the station to bid the Cubs good-by seemed sorry to see them go away. The players made quite a hit in Shreveport and left behind them many real friends.

President Murphy "Fills Up."

The run to Texarkana was without incident, except when President Murphy drew three cards to an ace and king of spades and came up with a full house. When the Cubs arrived here, most of them insisted on walking to the hotel and later they went across the street to visit the St. Louis Cardinals, who will be their first opponents in the 1909 season.

They found Bresnahan, still comparatively sane, but rapidly getting into the condition of most managers. The illness of Schulte was a blow to the club, but will give Joe Stanley a chance to work in the game. Chance tonight announced morning practice tomorrow and will take his men out early.

President Murphy tonight closed a date with Buffalo, adopting a guarantee of $700 for a game to be played in Buffalo May 28, while the Cubs will be on their way east. That is $200 above the limit, but Buffalo will have to pay, rain or shine, so it was accepted.

TINKER ON WAY TO JOIN CUBS.

Champion Shortstop Will Arrive in Little Rock at Noon Today—Reulbach Departs Tonight.

Joe Tinker left last night for Little Rock, where the Cubs are booked to exhibit today. The shortstopper is scheduled to arrive in the Arkansas town at noon and will take part in the afternoon's festivities if invited to do so by Manager Chance. Pitcher Ed Reulbach, who has been working out at De Paul university, expects to depart tonight for Memphis, whither the Cubs journey after their Little Rock engagement.

MICHIGAN MAY LOSE RITCHIE.

Baird's Assistant Enters Politics and Will Resign if Elected Justice of the Peace.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 25.—[Special.]—The announcement today by Assistant Athletic Director Ritchie that he has entered politics may mean that the Athletic association is to lose not only its veteran head, but also the assistant. Ritchie has been nominated for justice of the peace on the Democratic ticket, and, as he has an even chance to win, it is possible Philip G. Bartelme will have to appoint a new assistant, as of course Ritchie's election to office would necessitate his retirement from his present position. Ritchie asserts the appointment of Bartelme to succeed Baird has nothing to do with causing him to accept the nomination.

MICHIGAN-C. A. A. MEET OFF.

Coach Delaney of Cherry Circle Unable to Muster Team for Event at Ann Arbor.

Martin Delaney, coach of the C. A. A. track team, yesterday was compelled to call off the meet between the Cherry Circle team and the University of Michigan aggregation, which was to have taken place at Ann Arbor tomorrow night. So many of Delaney's men are crippled that it was impossible for him to muster a team capable of making a creditable showing against the Wolverines.

Frank Sullivan, swimming director of the Illinois A. C., received word from C. M. Daniels, world's champion swimmer, that he would be on hand Saturday night to defend his title in the National A. A. U. championship 100 yard swim, to be held in the I. A. C. tank. Hebner and Prisalle of the I. A. C. and Huszach and Healy of the C. A. A. are the other entries who appear to have a chance of defeating the champion.

SETS NEW MOTORCYCLE MARK

Walter Goerke Breaks Hour Record of Sixty-nine Miles.

STUBBS GOES MILE IN :43 2-5.

Time Is Nearly Two Seconds Faster than Made Wednesday.

Daytona, Fla., March 25.—The third day's tournament of the Daytona Beach races was confined almost exclusively to motorcycle and bicycle races, there being only two automobile races, the Daytona handicap, which was run twice, a distance of four miles each.

The principal feature of the day's events was the breaking of the world's one hour motor cycle record by Walter Goerke of Brooklyn. He covered 69 miles in 58:25 4-5. The old mark was 68 miles, 1,380 yards.

Goerke also established a new world's record for the kilometer, covering the distance in 27 4-5 seconds. Robert Stubbs of Birmingham, Ala., also lowered the world's one-mile motor cycle record made yesterday by Goerke in remarkably fast time, 43 2-5 seconds, against Goerke's time of :45 1-5.

The Buick team, composed of Strang, Burman, Myers, and Dewitt, left today for Atlanta to enter in the hill climbing contest. The big record breaking Benz, after breaking its piston, was shipped back to New York today. H. J. Kilpatrick also shipped his "Red Devil" to New York today.

KIANG UPSETS OAKLAND "DOPE."

Stover Youngster, Held at 40 to 1, Takes 2 Year Old Event at the Emeryville Track.

San Francisco, Cal., March 25.—Kiang, a 40 to 1 shot, was the surprise at Oakland today, the Stover youngster winning the 2 year old event in clever style. Gilpin beat the barrier and set the pace, but quit in the last quarter. Duke of Ormonde, starting for the first time, was fancied, but he ran greenly. Fine weather prevailed, but the track was muddy. THREE RACING MEN SUSPENDED

J. M. Stokes, J. P. Williams, and John Pelter Charged with Pulling Horse at Santa Anita.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 25.—The Santa Anita stewards suspended today three of the most prominent racing men at the local track—J. P. Williams, trainer of the Pasadena stables; J. M. Stokes, and John Pelter. The men are charged with being implicated in the alleged pulling of Rey Hindoo on March 18, when the horse ran what was considered a disgraceful race.

It was charged at the hearing that Jockey Shriner, who rode Rey Hindoo, was given $350 to pull the horse.

Stokes, it was said, was given $1,000 with which to persuade Shriner to leave the country. The officials believe that the transfer of the money to Shriner and prevented him leaving the city. Williams is charged with trying to get control of the horse for his brother, owner of the Pasadena stables. Today's summaries:

First race, 1 mile—Pelleas, 105 [J. Howard], 15 to 1, won; Azo, 106 [Musgrave], 4 to 1, second; Donatus, 107 [McGee], 30 to 1, third. Time, 1:40. Guiet, Grand Rail, Harry Rogers, Wattiere, Solus, Daisy Thorpe, Buckthorpe, Yankee Tourist, and Robert Gray ran.

Hoppe Wins Benedt Games.

At Hicks' rooms last night Willie Hoppe and Al Taylor played 150 points at 18-1 and 18-2 billiards for the benefit of Jake Schaefer, who is trying to recover his health in the west. About 200 people crowded into the room and the receipts will net Jake about $100. Hoppe easily defeated Taylor in both games, winning the 18-1 game 150 to 88 and the 18-2 contest 150 to 79.

GOTCH RETAINS HIS TITLE

Champion Defeats De Rouen in Two Straight Falls.

ROUGHING FAILS FOREIGNER.

Attempts to Strike Iowan in Face, but Is Soon on Defensive.

Kansas City, Mo., March 25.—Frank Gotch of Iowa, champion wrestler of the world, tonight retained his title by defeating Raoul de Rouen of France in two straight falls.

The champion was never in serious trouble and it soon became evident that his ultimate victory was only a matter of time. Gotch really won the bout in the first fall, when he so weakened his opponent with the toe hold that De Rouen did not care to repeat the experience in the second fall. The time for the falls was 34:45 and 13:00 flat, respectively.

De Rouen was the aggressor at first, while Gotch seemed to take it easy, but the champion soon threw De Rouen with a leg hold and the Frenchman seemed to have all he could do to defend himself. De Rouen several times tried to strike Gotch in the face with his elbow.

In the struggle both men got to their feet. Gotch again secured a leg hold and then a toe hold on the Frenchman, whose face showed extreme agony. He struck Gotch feebly with his elbow, but finally broke the hold by bridging and rolling clear over.

Gotch secured a bar lock and only a supreme effort saved the Frenchman, who made no more effort to take the offensive. The Frenchman regained his feet and Gotch pushed him backward over the ropes. Gotch for the third time threw De Rouen with a leg hold, then secured a full nelson and put his shoulders to the mat in 34:45.

The Iowa farmer made short work of the second fall and De Rouen's shoulders hit the mat after thirteen minutes of grapping. The toe hold, that famous Gotch method of torture, was the cause.

A large crowd saw the bout, which was advertised to be for an $8,000 purse, of which $5,000 was the winner's end.

JACK JOHNSON NOT IN HIS SET.

Jim Jeffries Asserts He Will Not Discuss Fight with Champion Nor Meet Him Socially.

Boston, Mass., March 25.—[Special.]—When shown the dispatch from Chicago stating that Jack Johnson was coming to Boston for a conference which had been arranged with him Jeffries said today:

"Even if I make up my mind whether or not I will fight him I will have nothing to do with him. I have no business to discuss with him, and certainly I would not receive him socially."

Jeffries is in the throes of one of the worst storms of the winter, and the terrific wind and heavy rainfall compelled Jim Jeffries to refrain from any road work today, and confine himself to indoor training, but he hopes to get on the running track tomorrow and resume the work begun so auspiciously Wednesday.

He is working hard reducing his waist line. But busy as he is, Jim has not forgotten his most enthusiastic admirers, the newsboys, and the little street merchants of this city are to be his guests at the Orpheum theater Sunday, and Boston sports are awaiting the verdict of these sagacious youngsters before committing themselves to public statements.

KETCHEL-O'BRIEN GO TONIGHT.

Middleweight Champion and Philadelphian to Meet in Ten Round Bout at New York.

The attention of fight fans tonight will be drawn to New York, where Stanley Ketchel, middleweight champion, and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien meet in a ten round battle before the National A. C.

Ketchel probably will find O'Brien the cleverest fighter he ever has met, but Jack will tackle one of the hardest sluggers in the game, and it is believed that O'Brien will have all he can do to avoid a knockout punch. Ketchel declares he will stop O'Brien in six rounds and that he then will hound Jack Johnson until the colored champion agrees to take him on.

Danny Goodman and Freddie Cole signed articles yesterday for a ten round fight at Indianapolis next Wednesday night.

COFFROTH DUE HERE SUNDAY.

California Fight Promoter to Have Talk with Jack Johnson Before Seeing Jeffries in the East.

Jack Johnson, the heavyweight champion, received a telegram from Jimmy Coffroth, the California promoter, yesterday stating he would arrive in Chicago Sunday morning to have a talk with the champion before the latter starts for New York. Jack was pleased to hear from the Californian and said he would rather fight for Coffroth than any promoter in the country. Coffroth is on his way to Reno in the hope of persuading the former champion to reënter the ring and fight

PRISONERS PAID, ASSERTS SHERIFF.

Charges That Citizens' Association Induced Men to Give Jail Food Evidence.

HOT REPLY BY DIRECTOR.

Assertion Made That County Official Sent Spies to Find What Witnesses Would Say.

Charges of plots and counter plots in which ex-convicts and discharged prison guards were named as conspirators marked yesterday's session of the investigation into the feeding of jail prisoners conducted by the county commissioners.

Sheriff Christopher Strassheim directly accused Shelby M. Singleton, secretary of the Citizens' association, of paying jail prisoners to give the sort of testimony desired.

"You got permission from me to get into the jail," the sheriff said, "and then you ran around and paid the men to give you the kind of evidence you wanted. You had them come over to your office and you paid them for what they told you. Ex-convicts have been going there regularly and have been getting money."

Sheriff Strassheim was white with anger at the close of a day's testimony in which the evidence strongly supported charges of the Citizens' association that the jail food is poor and that the county is paying in excess of the cost.

Sheriff Wrathful.

Secretary Singleton, who sat next to Sheriff Strassheim at the table about which the hearing has been conducted, was particularly the object of the county official's wrath. Sheriff Strassheim was about to continue the attack on his accuser when George E. Cole, a director of the association, got between the two men and undertook to rebut the statements of the sheriff.

"The commissioners might as well know right here," he said, "that the sheriff has been sending jail birds over to our office to find out what we were doing. What do you think of that?"

"You can't prove it," cried the sheriff.

"We can," said Secretary Singleton. "Some of these men came over to my office and said that they were out of work and that they could give testimony about conditions in the jail. One fellow said he had waited there a long time for me. I did give him a dollar. Not for what he could say, but because he represented to me that he was hard up.

"From what he said afterward about the conditions over there I should judge that you had sent him to our offices. There were others who talked the same and whom I believe you sent over there.

Defends Whitman.

"And what is more, I would like to have the commissioners know right now that John L. Whitman had nothing to do with urging on this investigation. The sheriff has intimated time and again that he was back of this whole matter. He was not."

"Well, I reserve the right to offer some evidence," said Sheriff Strassheim.

W. R. Faddis, who operates several restaurants on Fifth avenue, testified that he had visited the jail on Sept. 24, 1908, at the request of Mr. Singleton.

"In the room where they make the coffee," he said, "I found half a barrel of chickory. I found that they gave the prisoners half a pound of meat and one vegetable every day. When they served potatoes they got less than half a pound.

"They served the bread in one chunk per man so that the prisoners could not steal it from each other.

"I found that the meat served cost 4 cents a pound. From my experience I should judge that the meals given the jail inmates cost 5 cents a day a man."

Concerning Cockroaches.

Faddis said that he saw a lot of cockroaches.

"They're gratis," said the sheriff.

"They don't cost anything, do they?" inquired Commissioner Busse.

"Costs about $1.50 a month to keep them away," said the witness.

Dr. George C. Hunt of the Municipal Lodging houses said that the average cost of feeding men there was about 4½ cents a day. He said that the food furnished was sufficient to support life, but was not appetizing.

Ernest M. Kimball, another restaurant proprietor, said that the coffee served at the jail was not as nourishing as hot water, and that if 9 cents a pound had been paid for it the price was steep. He testified that when he visited the jail early in January he found the poorest quality of meat stored there ready to be cooked.

Frederick W. Burlingham, a real estate dealer, said that he had visited the jail in the interests of the investigation being conducted by the Citizens' association.

"I think the food they had at the Municipal Lodging house was superior to that served at the jail," he said. "They used some flavoring there, while I found none at the jail. The bread I found there was dry and in big chunks. I understood that when the men did not like it they broke the windows with it."

The hearing was adjourned until next Tuesday or until the call of the chairman.

GIRL FORGES TO SEE PLAYS.

Spends $15 for Tickets and Candy, Then Promises Court She Will Repay Employer.

May O'Leary, 16 years old, who saw actors perform in a number of 5 cent theaters at the expense of her employer through a forged check, was paroled to her parents yesterday on her promise to Judge Pinckney in the Juvenile court that she would repay the $15 obtained by means of the check.

The girl was employed in the office of Jerome E. Monks, 1990 Wentworth avenue, and a week ago forged the name of Monks to one of his checks for $15, which she cashed in a grocery store. The money was spent in the next two days for theater tickets and candy.

The girl, who earns $3.50 a week, promised to repay Monks at the rate of $1 a week. She lives at 5252 Princeton avenue.

RISKS LIFE; SAVES CHILDREN.

Desk Sergeant Reilly Stops Runaway Team in Heart of Ghetto and Is Dragged Fifty Feet.

Desk Sergeant Reilly of Maxwell street police station saved several children from death or injury yesterday at Maxwell and Sangamon streets, when he stopped a runaway team.

As the horses dashed by, narrowly missing two little girls, the sergeant grasped hold of the bridle of one of the horses in an effort to bring them to a stop. He was dragged fifty feet along the pavement.

Jacob Goldberg, driver of the carriage, was arrested. The police say he left the team of horses untied while he was in a saloon.

FATHER ACCUSED OF CRUELTY.

Grand Jury Investigates Charges Made Against James Dancer by Humane Society Officers.

Testimony was given before the grand jury yesterday against James Dancer, who is accused of cruelty to his 7 year old son Donald. Dancer is a lather and lives at Glen View, Ill.

The father is alleged to have beaten his child and left him in a room lacking fire and necessary furnishings. The Humane society was notified, and the boy was placed in the St. Joseph's Orphan asylum.

According to G. A. H. Scott, secretary of the Humane society, this is the first case of its kind ever taken before the grand jury.

Boy Reprimanded Flees from Home.

CHARLES K. KELLUM

"Put my boy's picture where he will see it and tell him to come home," begged Samuel Kellum of 150 North Harvey avenue, Oak Park, last night. Kellum's 14 year old son Charley has been missing since Tuesday and the mother is prostrated in consequence.

The boy, who is a student in the seventh grade of the William Beye school, was reprimanded by his teacher in the manual training room for making unnecessary noise with his plane and was sent to his room in the other building a block away.

Instead of obeying, the boy roller skated about the village until school was out and returned home at the noon hour. At the afternoon session Miss Dora Carver, his grammar teacher, having been informed of his truancy, sent him to the basement to sandpaper some old chairs.

This mode of punishment was food for jests on the part of his schoolmates, and the boy, when released at 4 o'clock, said it was the last time he "would be laughed at."

MAN'S "GOOD-BY FOREVER" DRIVES GIRL TO END LIFE.

Young Woman Searches in Vain for Sweetheart and Takes Poison in His Brother's Room.

Mathilda Coombs, whose parents live at 175 Eugenia street, killed herself with poison in Milwaukee early yesterday because she could not find Joseph Pietschmann, with whom she eloped four months ago and from whom she parted two weeks ago in a quarrel which, dispatches from Milwaukee say, followed their ejection from their apartment because they were not married. Mrs. Coombs asserts her daughter was Pietschmann's bride.

After the quarrel the girl came to Chicago, but returned on Wednesday to search for Pietschmann, who had gone to Minneapolis. She met his brother and begged him to give her a place to sleep, for she was penniless and hungry. It was after midnight, so he took her to his own room.

In the night he was awakened by the girl's groans, and called the police. They found a letter in which she said:

"Dear Joe: I am sure I still have the right to call you so. I cannot live without you. My heart is breaking, and O, if you would only come back before something happens. I am going to do it, but I can't help it. You said 'Good-by forever,' and I know you meant what you said, so I am going to end it all. Forgive me, Sweetheart Joe, for the last time.

"I know you love me and I can't understand why you left me."

She died soon after reaching the Emergency hospital, recovering consciousness long enough to say: "Joe, I knew you were only fooling."

VITAL REVISIONS ASKED BY JUDGES.

Superior and Circuit Jurists Agree They Should Comment on the Evidence.

UNITE ON AMENDMENTS.

State's Attorney, However, Criticises Proposed Oral Instructions to Juries.

Judges of the Superior and Circuit courts met yesterday in joint session to discuss the proposed amendments to the court practice act and agreed upon the three amendments adopted by the Superior court judges at a recent meeting. One change, however, in the phraseology of the amendment relating to judges giving oral instructions to juries will bring about a revolution in the present methods, it is said, and means a reversion to the old common law system of commenting on evidence as practiced in the federal courts.

The amendments received the unanimous approval of the entire twenty-eight judges and a committee was named to place the matter before the legislature in the near future and to secure the coöperation of the civic bodies interested in the proposed changes. The Chicago Bar association, Chicago Law association, State Bar association, City club, and Association of Commerce will be asked to use their influence in having the amendments adopted by the legislature.

New Rule Goes Step Beyond.

The original amendment as drafted by the judges of the Superior court regarding oral instructions to juries merely grants authority to render oral instructions when advisable instead of the written instructions now required. Under the present system the judges are allowed merely to give instructions as to the law in the case, being barred from commenting in any way upon the evidence presented. The change approved yesterday gives the judges the right to comment upon the evidence as presented, but, of course, without their giving their opinion as to the weight of the evidence. This change was suggested by Judge E. O. Brown of the Appellate court.

In brief, the proposed amendments are as follows:

Granting the state's attorney authority to amend indictments.

Granting judges authority to give oral instructions to juries with comments upon the evidence presented.

Prohibiting the higher courts from remanding cases on mere technicalities when it is shown that no injustice has been done because of technical errors.

Judge Carpenter read from advanced proofsheets of an article prepared by Prof. Roscoe Pound of the Northwestern University Law school, which declares the present practice act as "nugatory and colorless," and cites the need for just such changes as are proposed by the judges.

Wayman Foresees Hardship.

State's Attorney Wayman vigorously opposes the proposed change giving the judges authority to give oral instructions to juries. According to his view, it will work a hardship in the Criminal court, and may result in error on the part of the presiding judge that would injure a defendant.

Mr. Wayman contends the idea of written instructions is the ideal one. Under the present system, he says, the attorneys on each side hand the judge written instructions embracing what they deem good law, and the judge has several hours to study these views and make them a part of his instructions. Mr. Wayman does not object to this feature of the amendment, however, so much as he does to the provision in the rule that all errors made by the court in giving instructions much be detected at once by the lawyers and pointed out to the court; a failure to do so, in order that it may be corrected before the retirement of the jury, will be deemed as a waiver of such error.

"Is it fair," asks Mr. Wayman, "to try to minimize the errors of the court by requiring counsel in the case to detect them at once? The question will not be how many errors did the court make in instructing the jury, but how many of them has he been able to get away with without being detected by counsel."

Held on Conspiracy Charge.

Charles H. Hatch was held to the grand jury in $500 bonds yesterday by Municipal Judge Hume, on a charge of conspiracy to ruin the business of the Chicago Engraving company. Hatch is charged with obtaining work with the firm with the intention of disorganizing the working force.

MANY VOTERS CLEAN STREETS

Men Wield Brushes, While Political Campaign Warms Up.

TUNNEL PERMIT IS REFUSED.

Council Committee Turns Down Pneumatic Tube Company.

Coincident with the warming up of the municipal and aldermanic campaigns this week the city street cleaning has set in with great activity. If the present efforts continue the city will be cleaned, street, alley, and vacant lot, before election day.

Of course the activity in politics and street cleaning is nothing more than a coincidence. Far be it from any one but a cynic to insinuate that the sudden outburst of housecleaning is occasioned or the choice of teams and men guided by the exigencies of aldermanic fights for reëlection.

"It's bad enough to have to clean streets before the frost is out of the ground and I suppose the time may come when we will have to put on the teams and men before the March primary," Supt. Frank Solon of the street cleaning division complained, according to one account. Mr. Solon, who is a practical politician, yesterday denied the report.

In all the wards the superintendents have put on extra teams and 160 will be working before the end of the week at the compensation rate of $5 a day. There are 403 men now scraping and sweeping the streets in outlying wards and 1,100 more will be put to work.

Tunnel Permit Is Refused.

The request of the Chicago Postal Pneumatic Tube company to construct a five foot tunnel under the Chicago river west of the Wells street bridge was refused during the day by the council committee on gas, oil, and electric light. The action was taken in accord with the opinion of the law department that the company under its ordinance has no right to construct tunnels, as it is authorized only to build two eight inch tubes in the city streets. The order was placed on file.

The company now operates pneumatic tubes to the stockyards and the various downtown depots, transmitting mail and small packages. The purpose of the tunnel was to connect with the Chicago and Northwestern depot.

Consider Rate Revision.

Ald. Bellfuss, Ald. Burns, and Ald. Forsberg were appointed a subcommittee to consider a revision of the present rates of electrical inspection. Mayor Busse recently drew attention to the hardship imposed on firms installing large dynamos, the fees sometimes running into the hundreds of dollars and being more than twice the amount the inspection costs the city. City Electrician Carroll appeared before the committee and advocated a change.

The committee postponed action on an ordinance requiring the department of electricity to inspect electric meters as gas meters now are inspected.

Doesn't Want Her Mining Stock.

Suit for damages of $2,500 was filed in the Circuit court yesterday by Allie M. Best against William C. Hunter. The plaintiff is the widow of Walter T. Best of Leland, Mich. It is declared that in 1907 Hunter owed $980 to Best and gave in payment mining stock valued at $1,000. Mrs. Best says Hunter promised to refund $1,000 if Best so desired. In February Mrs. Best avers, she elected to return the stock and receive $1,000. Hunter, though, declined to carry out his promise.

FRIDAY, MARCH 26, 1909.

ALL serene, O, Payne?

IT was a short and not overly brilliant career for the kidnapers.

ONE morning the robin's song wakes you from your slumbers, and the next day it snows.

WITH some shamefacedness it must be confessed that the newspapers owe an apology to the Cooper jury.

DO YOU remember, elderly reader, that there was a time when you thought Van Amburgh's circus and menagerie had about all the wild animals that were worth bringing away from Africa?

DOUBTLESS Mr. Mayer will admit that the voiceful Mary Garden, considered as an investment, has amply repaid cultivation.

CASTRO thinks his country needs him. His country probably would be glad to get its hands on him for a few moments.

VERACIOUS wireless dispatches assure us that Mr. Roosevelt paces the deck of the Hamburg 100 times before breakfast. As the deck of the ship is only 500 feet long, his morning walk is less than ten miles and is scarcely worth mentioning.

THEY tried an auto fire engine in Gary a few days ago and it stuck in the deep sand. The lesson in this, however, is that Gary's streets ought to be made good enough for an auto fire engine.

BRITAIN'S "far flung battle line" will have to be flung far enough now to protect the south pole.

DES MOINES has tried several bottles of the commission plan of running cities and is ready to give testimonials.

IT will be unfortunate if Mr. Roosevelt finds that the inhabitants of central Africa are disposed to take Mr. Foraker's side in the Brownsville affair.

MARKING a hog by slashing its back with a knife has been decided by a jury to be all right and not involving any cruelty. Marking a man in that fashion would seem cruel, but a man may be different.

IT is believed that a clear case of blackmailing can be proved against those kidnapers. But let us not be too confident.

A KIDNAPER of children is an undesirable citizen and deserves a short and ugly end.

DRINKING policemen who shoot inoffensive innocent men should receive at least a severe reprimand.

PERHAPS a mild frost now and then will teach the peach crop not to be too previous this year.

LIEUT. SHACKLETON has done nothing, so far as we know, that justifies any esteemed contemporary in calling him an "antartic" explorer.

IT should not be overlooked that Germany has a fine merchant marine all ready to use that Panama canal when it is completed.

THEY took another ballot at Springfield yesterday. Mr. Hopkins was not elected again.

OUR impression is that the Schleswig-Holstein question was settled at last. We may hope, therefore, that even the Yerkes estate will be settled some day.

CHICAGO'S decaying lake commerce—but that does not seem to interest the people of this city.

IT should be understood, however, that Mr. Badenoch stands ready to accept a call to the aldermanship whenever the voice of the people becomes loud enough.

MEN who wish to attract attention to their headgear these days will have to wear something much more violent than a green hat.

NORTHWESTERN'S GROWTH.

The opening of the Swift Hall of Engineering at Northwestern university is a gratifying event to the many friends of the institution. The university is approaching its sixtieth anniversary. It is an old school as age goes in Chicago. It has a large body of influential alumni, many of whom are energetic factors in the welfare of this city. The evidences of steady progress on the splendid campus along the lake front in Evanston bring encouragement to them and to many other friends of the university.

The importance of engineering work is being recognized by the colleges everywhere. The curriculum at Evanston has kept close to traditional academic lines. Except for Garrett Biblical institute, the professional schools of the university have been located in Chicago. The opening of the engineering school, therefore, has a special interest outside of that connected with the addition of a substantial new building to the physical equipment. It marks the broadening of opportunities for the youth of this vicinity.

With the long felt need of a gymnasium supplied and this department in engineering established, Northwestern has reason for satisfaction with the outlook. It is soon to celebrate the semi-centennial of its law school, a professional department which has trained a large number of able men who are bringing it great credit. It is gratifying to note the forward steps taken by the university in many directions.

GLOVES.

The representative of the glove importers of the United States went before the committee on ways and means and submitted figures showing the cost of production of the same kind of gloves in Germany, France, and the United States. These detailed statements showed that the cost of production is less abroad than at the New York center of the American glovemaking industry, but that the present duties more than cover the difference and more than satisfy the conditions set out in the Republican tariff plank.

It was suggested to the committee by the representative of the importers that the duties on men's gloves, being too high as compared with those on women's gloves, and almost prohibitory, could with propriety be reduced. It was suggested, also, that the duties on children's gloves, they being made of inferior material to that in women's gloves, should pay a lower duty than that now collected.

What the committee did in the way of reduction was to take 25 per cent off the duty levied on the leather which the New York glove manufacturers have to import. There it stopped. The committee was told by Mr. Littauer, glove manufacturer, that if the duty on his raw material were lowered he could stand a reduction of the duty on the finished article. The committeemen, being generous and willing to help a fellow member—Mr. Littauer was a member of the last house—decided not to give the men of the country a chance to buy cheaper gloves, but to give him increased protection.

The inequality of the duties between men's and women's gloves pointed out by the importers was removed by the committee in a characteristic way. It should have lowered the duties on men's gloves. It raised those on women's gloves, so that those now costing 75 cents a pair would go up to $1.85, and for those which now cost $1.50 the customer would have to pay $3. This was done on the advice of Mr. Littauer, who ran the committee.

He said that only 5, 6, or 7 per cent of the women's and children's gloves worn in this country are made here. It was, he said, "an accidental business," hardly deserving the title of "infant industry." He would like to make the "accidental business" a permanent one, he being one of the beneficiaries. "We believe," said he, "the wisdom of building up in ladies' goods what we have built up in men's goods will warrant you in adding to the duty on ladies' gloves. I will come back here, if I live, five or six years from now and show you that we have 25,000 more people at work on gloves in the United States."

So the committee on ways and means proposes to tax the women of the United States not for revenue purposes but to create and maintain an "infant industry" in whose profits Mr. Littauer will participate.

This is the way tariff bills are framed in committee. The manufacturer is allowed to dictate duties and the consumer is given the cold shoulder. The fact that his voting power is greater than that of the manufacturer is forgotten.

CASTRO'S PATRIOTISM WORKING.

Señor Castro's heroic determination to present his services to his country even at the cost of a revolution will not overwhelm a patient world with surprise. The attitude of a Latin American dictator-president toward revolutions depends upon whether he is to be revoluted in or revoluted out. Mr. Castro's readiness to bestow himself upon Venezuela by way of a revolution may be taken at its face value.

We advise the state department to load two or three four ring circuses on transports and dispatch them to Caracas forthwith. For, despite the ex-president's declaration that "all is lost save honor," we retain the firm belief that he has saved enough pocket money from the French surgeons to finance a very neat little uprising of the oppressed. Patriotism, in its military form, comes cheap in Latin America, and already we see the clamorous populace of the Venezuelan republic greeting the Libertador as he enters Caracas looking sharply for the smoking tracks of the treasurer of the asphalt company, in full retreat for the tall timber.

THE ANTHRACITE SITUATION.

All fears that President Lewis of the United Mine Workers might be ambitious to make a record as a strike leader have been dispelled. The conservative course he has adopted indicates that he is a worthy successor of John Mitchell. While zealous for the interests of his organization, he is not unmindful of those of the public. On his advice the questions at issue between the miners and the operators have been left to the district officials of the anthracite districts. He himself steps aside, while the men remain at work.

The miners are not pining for a cessation of work, and according to present appearances there will be none. They are getting good wages—better than those paid the men in the steel mills, and the conditions under which they labor are much less trying. Whenever local disputes arise they are settled by a board of conciliation. The six years since the findings of the coal strike commission were announced have been years of peace and reasonable prosperity for the miners. This pleasant condition should not be interrupted without grave cause.

The demands made this year by the miners seem just to them and especially so to their officers, but they were passed on unfavorably by the strike commission. In view of that fact public sympathy would not go out to the miners if they were to quit work because the operators have again rejected them. Apparently they will not be seriously pressed at this time, but they will inevitably be renewed in the future.

The operators would like to get a renewal for three years of the agreement that will expire at the end of the month. They should not make that an ultimatum. They should consider the interests of the public and be satisfied with a renewal for a year, if that should be all they could get. As there seems to be little doubt now about the men remaining at work during the present season, the operators should give their customary spring notice of a reduction of 50 cents a ton in the price of their product.

A BAD START.

Some of the high school pupils appear to be getting a poor start in life. Training in discipline is as important a part of the education of youth as gaining in knowledge. The failure to respect rules and regulations sometimes proves more injurious to the individual than neglect to learn the assigned lessons of the day. The lesson may be made up by extra study. The spirit of disobedience to authority is much harder to correct.

In many instances parents are to blame for the attitude of the recalcitrant boys and girls. The fraternities and sororities would soon disappear, as ordered by the school authorities, if it were not for the encouragement of the fathers and mothers who fail to appreciate the fundamental importance of discipline in the years of preparation for life work. The great majority of citizens will support the board of education in its warfare against the defiant pupils. The societies are counted evil in themselves. Their influence in developing the spirit of lawlessness is another strong argument for their extermination. Even if the interests of the schools are entirely omitted from consideration, the loss to the individual through the failure to respect law is incalculable. Such an attitude makes a poor preparation for responsibility and power by and by.

IN THE THIRD WARD.

Mr. Young's well advised withdrawal from the aldermanic contest in the Third ward removes any danger which may have existed of the city's losing the services of Ald. Foreman. It was not a serious danger, but it kept active a factional wrangle which, it is to be hoped, will flow be composed or at least reduced to a less dangerous temperature.

Mr. Young has many qualifications for public office, but both party considerations and considerations of the city's general interests prescribed his retirement in favor of a well tried public servant who deserves election on his record and will be chosen. Ald. Foreman's services in the council are greatly needed, for he is well informed upon the subway and transportation problems, both of which are now in an important formative stage. His record is among the most creditable, and the Third ward, for its own sake and for the city's, should not fail to return him by a rousing majority.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Lil's Voice.

Nan—"Lil's something of a musician, isn't she?"

Fan—"No; she sings."

Getting It Right.

They asked him if his name was Taht,
And merrily the big man laughed.
"Why, no," he said; "my name is Taft,
Which, as you will find by consulting the various dictionaries and paying particular attention to the marks, indicating the correct pronunciation of the words therein,
Almost, if not quite, rhymes with 'raft.'"

Practically Noiseless.

Gladys—"Does that noisy Archie Feathertop still come to see you?"

Maybelle—"Yes, he still comes; but he hasn't made a noise like a proposal yet."

Through the Graphophone.

"Ragtime music, you know, according to Sousa, is dead."

"Perhaps so, but it yet squeaketh."

Probably Not.

Provoked Mother—"Tommy, you're the plague of my life!"

Tommy (snuggling up to her)—"You wouldn't talk that way if somebody'd kidnap me, would you, mamma?"

How It Affected Him.

The rain, which had come suddenly and unexpectedly, was falling in torrents.

Among the persons who had taken shelter under a friendly Madison street awning was a fashionably dressed woman.

"I beg your pardon, madam," said a plainly attired man, considerably past middle age, stepping up to her and lifting his hat, "but I want to offer you my sincere thanks."

"What do you mean, sir?" she said.

"Thanks for what?"

"I never expected to see it again," he went on, with tears in his eyes. "It has been nearly thirty years since—"

"Since what, sir?" What are you talking about?"

"Pardon my emotion, madam, but I used to live in Salt Lake City, and—"

"I have nothing to do with Salt Lake City, sir. I never was there in my life."

"But I was. That was my home for many years. And when I saw—"

"When you saw what?"

"That hat of yours, madam! It brought back the old thrill! It's an exact reproduction of the great Mormon tabernacle, which my eyes have been aching, through all the weary years, to see once more before I die! My longing has been satisfied at last, and I thank you from the bottom of a grateful heart!"

Again lifting his hat, he stepped forth into the pouring rain and strode rapidly down the street, wiping his eyes as he walked.

Airships and the Smugglers.

[New York Press.]

While congress committees are wrestling with import schedules Maj. Baden-Powell projects the interesting theory that with the perfection of aerial transport the protection nations of the world will be faced with the necessity of stopping free trade. They will be unable to police the air and the terrestrial interior effectively enough to prevent the wholesale smuggling of the less bulky articles of commerce. An airship can cross international boundaries unseen and land a cargo of dutiable goods in a spot the customs officers cannot protect. Consequently, in the view of this expert, all duties will have to be abolished.

Too Many "Rights" for Criminals.

In the fight that never ends between the criminal and society more and more advantage is given to the former. He is handled tenderly. His rights are large, and they are respected even if honest men's rights suffer. Some of his privileges might be withdrawn with no loss to any one meriting much consideration.—London Times.

PRINCESS CAMPOREALE, who arrived in this country by the steamer Barbarossa, last week, is American sister-in-law of the chancellor of the German empire and of Princess Buelow. Born as the daughter of John Binney of Boston, and divorced from Thomas Kingsland of New York, she was married at Burlington, N. J., in 1888 to Paolo Prince Camporeale, duke of Adragna, who was at the time attached to the Italian legation at Washington and who is now a member of the Italian senate at Rome, where he has always figured as an expert upon American affairs and took a leading part in securing from the government its participation in the world's fairs of Chicago and St. Louis. His only sister, Dona Maria, is the wife of Prince Buelow, and his mother, Dona Laura, is a daughter of the historic Anglo-Italian house of Acton.

Dona Laura, after jilting the late Lord Granville, married the late Prince Camporeale, and on his death became the wife of Marco Minghetti, who was prime minister of Italy. As Dona Laura Minghetti she has for the last forty years been one of the best known women of Europe, her salon at Rome enjoying an international reputation. She is an intimate friend of Queen Margherita and, as the widow of a knight of the Order of the Annunciata, ranks as a cousin of the sovereign.

The Actons, who are one of the oldest Shropshire families, figured prominently in the reign of Edward III., received a baronetcy from Charles I., and have always had foreign affiliations. John Acton was admiral in chief of the Imperial navy of Germany in the seventeenth century, and his nephew, Joseph Acton, was a general in the service of the king of Naples and became his prime minister. This Gen. Joseph Acton had a son, Charles, who became an admiral of the Neapolitan navy and who left an extraordinarily numerous family. No less than four of his sons, William, Ferdinand, Emeric, and Gustav, attained flag rank as admirals, either in the Neapolitan or Italian navy, and two of them served in turn as Italian minister of marine. It is triste I only sister who is now Dona Laura Minghetti.

Sir John Acton, the Neapolitan prime minister, who played so important a rôle in connection with Admiral Lord Nelson, Queen Caroline of Naples, and the English ambassadress, Emma Lady Hamilton, was succeeded in his baronetcy by his eldest son, Ferdinand, his second son, Charles, becoming a cardinal and in his turn prime minister of the kingdom of Naples.

Sir Ferdinand married the only daughter and heiress of the last duke of Dalberg and died five years later, his widow thereupon marrying the late Lord Granville, who intrusted the education of his young stepson, Sir George, afterwards Lord Acton, first of all to Cardinal Wiseman and afterwards to the celebrated Dr. Dollinger at Munich.

Dr. Dollinger was the founder of the denomination known as the Old Catholics, and his pupil, young Sir John Acton, became imbued with his views and distinguished himself in 1860 and 1870 by his hostility to the doctrine of papal infallibility. Sir John in 1869 was elevated to the peerage as Lord Acton, married the German countess, Marie Arco-Valley, was a lord in waiting to Queen Victoria, and a great favorite of the Empress Frederick.

The present Lord Acton, his son, is secretary of embassy and lord in waiting to the king. He is, like his father, a modern and liberal Catholic, received his education at Magdalen college, Oxford, is married to the daughter of Thomas H. Lyon of Appleton hall, Cheshire, and owns Aldenham park and estates, extending over an area of about 10,000 acres in Shropshire. Through his grandmother, the wife of Sir Ferdinand Acton, he is the chief representative of the ducal house of Dalberg.

The latter claim to be the most ancient and illustrious family in Germany and to be able to trace descent to a near relative of the Savior, who became a Roman centurion and settled at Hermstein, near Worms. For centuries the Dalbergs played a conspicuous rôle in the history of Germany, on the pages of which their names continually appear. Whenever the emperor-elect was crowned as ruler of Germany and of the Holy Roman empire at Frankfort, a herald invariably demanded in loud tones, "Is any Dalberg here?" And if any one was present he was immediately knighted by the new monarch. The penultimate duke of Dalberg was arch chancellor of the Holy Roman empire in the closing years of its existence, and when the empire was overthrown by Napoleon at the beginning of the nineteenth century, and all further resistance to the latter had become useless, joined his fortunes and was appointed by him president of the federation of the Rhine, which Napoleon had created in order to take the place of the Holy Roman empire. Napoleon also created him grand duke of Frankfort, and designated Eugene de Beauharnais as his successor. He died without issue, being succeeded in his dukedom of Dalberg by his nephew Emeric, last duke of Dalberg, who was with Talleyrand at the congress of Vienna.

The recent trial in New York for felony of a prisoner who was both deaf and dumb serves to recall the strange manner in which offenders thus afflicted are dealt with by British tribunals. When a deaf and dumb prisoner is charged with crime a jury is first impaneled to determine whether the defendant is "mute of malice" or by "the visitation of God," and if the latter is found the next question before the court is as to whether he is capable of understanding the proceedings of a trial.

For these purposes experts in the deaf and dumb language are always employed. If these experts are of the opinion that the accused by reason of his affliction would not be able to follow the proceedings intelligently, even though mentally balanced enough to plead guilty, or not guilty, the usual course is for the judge to direct the jury to return a verdict of "not sane." The judge thereupon, by virtue of a statute dating from the year 1800, orders him to be detained in custody "during his majesty's pleasure," and he is consigned to the great and world famed prison for the criminally insane at Broadmoor.

In January last a deaf and dumb offender was placed on trial, and though the jury, on the strength of the testimony of the experts, decided that he was incapable of understanding the proceedings of the trial, it neglected, through an oversight on the part of the presiding judge, to return an additional verdict of "not sane." This neglect has just been repaired by the Court of Criminal Appeal in London.

So many American visitors to Egypt push on nowadays to Khartoum and are hospitably received there by the governor general of the Soudan, Sir Reginald Wingate, that it may be just as well to state that there is no truth in the reports which have been circulated to the effect that he is returning to England for good and all.

Sir Reginald, who is a lieutenant general of the English army and sidar or generalissimo of the Egyptian army, besides holding the appointment of governor general of the Soudan, both from King Edward and from the khedive, is for his rank and position a quite young man, being barely 47. He has therefore a number of years to serve before attaining the limit of age. He is in perfect health and condition, and has lately inaugurated a series of improvements at the governor general's palace at Khartoum, and has brought out an additional number of his belongings from his place in Scotland to his home on the Nile, which he certainly would not have done had there been any prospect of his relinquishing his position in the near future.

Possessed of an infinite amount of tact and of suavity mingled with firmness, Sir Reginald is a great favorite of the khedive, and liked and trusted by all the leading native notables and dignitaries, while the English government recognises in him a man who possesses an unrivaled experience, not only of Egypt, where he has served for more than a quarter of a century, but also of the Soudan, which, under his able administration, is rapidly recovering its former prosperity.

Literature the Last Resort.

People resort to literature exactly in proportion as they are unable to make a living any other way. Literature as a symptom of financial despair has received far too little consideration at the hands of economists.—Philadelphia Evening Post.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Opposes Tariff on Tea.

Chicago, March 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The proposition to tax tea seems to attract little attention and yet this is a tax which will fall chiefly on those least able to bear it. Duties on sugar, tea, coffee, cocoa, etc., as large revenue producers would no doubt be reasonable taxation under ordinary conditions, but in a country taxed as we are for protection purposes on nearly everything that enters into our lives, additional imposts on our foods are peculiarly objectionable.

As things now stand the laborer pays an enormously disproportionate part of the cost of running the government. Leaving out of the discussion the heavy revenue obtained from intoxicants and tobacco, of which, however, the laborer still pays the great bulk, there remains the enormous tax on sugar, some $75,000,000 a year, and on many other items of food which I will not particularize. To these it is now proposed to add tea, say, $8,000,000; coffee, even at 1 cent a pound, $10,000,000, and cocoa.

Against all this, what does the man of means contribute toward the support of the government? Precious little more than the man whose income is not one one-hundredth part so large.

Under such conditions any proposition to increase our revenues by a duty on tea seems an extremely unhappy one.

A TEA DRINKER.

Selection of Trial Juries.

Champaign, Ill., March 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The case now being ended, would it be out of the way to inquire under what rule or provision of constitution or statute the jury was selected to try the Standard Oil case before Judge Anderson? As reported in the newspapers, counsel for defendant insisted that his client was accused of what might be termed a "commercial crime" and that it could not have a fair trial except before business men who were familiar with business methods. He objected to the panel for the reason that it contained too large a number of farmers.

The plea of the attorney for the indicted oil corporation seemed to have weight with the court because a new panel was ordered, at least one-half of which should be residents of the municipality, i. e., city business men.

One is led to wonder where the thing will end if this practice becomes general. If it does why may not Mr. Patrick, convicted of murder in New York, insist that he did not have a fair trial because at least one-half of the jury were not lawyers. A physician accused of criminal malpractice may insist that one-half of the panel shall be doctors. A farmer committing crime in Cook county may object to the entire panel because there are not enough farmers or truck gardeners.

MANFORD SAVAGE.

Attacks Chain Letter Scheme.

Austin, Ill., March 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—My attention recently has been called to a chain letter system that is going the rounds, implying a threat of some terrible calamity unless you copy the same and mail for nine days to nine other persons of your acquaintance. At the same time you are requested not to sign your name. The letter or postal card embodies a prayer. Several have already come to my home.

The only party that I can see deriving any benefit by the operation is Uncle Sam by the sale of the stamps. For nine persons complying spend $1.62. There are many poor people who are superstitious enough to believe their lives are in danger and therefore are drawn into that which they cannot well afford. My object in writing this is to know if the United States mails can be used for such purpose. Certainly if it is done from a Christian standpoint the writer ought to be honest enough to put his signature to the same. The omission of it savors of doubt and makes the United States mail department a party to it.

A SUBSCRIBER.

Defends Standard Oil Decision.

Chicago Heights, Ill., March 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I believe the final disposition of the Standard Oil case to be equitable. My impression is that the fine was inflicted because some Alton official, through neglect, failed to file the tariff at Washington; also because Judge Landis would not admit testimony to show this, and to show that the 6 cent rate was in effect and legally filed over two other roads, the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad and the Illinois Central railroad, and that shipments were made over these roads at the 6 cent rate at the same time the shipments in controversy were made over the Alton railroad. While, therefore, the Alton shipments were technically illegal, they were not intentionally so, and the Standard Oil company gained no discriminating advantage thereby.

A Word for Woman's Suffrage.

Neighborhood House, 6710 May street, Chicago, March 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I wish to express my appreciation of the excellent and suggestive cartoon designed by Mr. McCutcheon, which appeared in THE TRIBUNE this morning. It is certainly an act of great injustice that one manufacturer should count more than crowds of women in the discussion of the tariff revision because he has the vote and the women have none. It is one of the best suffrage cartoons which I have seen. As your paper is urging the women to work against the present tariff it is the logical next step to picture how futile their efforts will be until they get the vote.

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY"
—Shakspeare.

"A few of us celebrated Mr. Steger's fifty-fifth birthday, and hope to celebrate many more before he is 71," writes a TRIBUNE reader to the birthday editor, referring to John V. Steger of piano fame. What the type should have said was that Mr. Steger came to Chicago in '71. In the list of celebrants today is one who really and truly is 71. He is David E. Terriere of 6930 Yale avenue, a native of Long Island, formerly an Englewood bank cashier and now connected with the Chicago Vulcanizing company.

Senator A. J. McLaurin of Mississippi, who was born and reared on a farm and is the father of ten children, is 61.

John C. Schubert of 1821 Indiana avenue, who has been county commissioner, chief smoke inspector, and clerk of the Criminal court, and is now chief clerk in the water bureau, was born in Chicago fifty-two years ago today.

Dr. Carl Beck of 42 Roslyn place is 48. In his native land, Austria, he served as first lieutenant of infantry.

William J. Watson of 2640 Prairie avenue, vice president of the Calumet and Chicago Canal and Dock company, is 66. He is identified with various banking interests.

Manton Maverick of 4150 Vincennes avenue, attorney, is 46. His college souvenirs include a "fit" diploma from Harvard and a law sheepskin from Columbia. He was born on Staten Island.

John M. Zane, attorney, whose father was chief justice of the Supreme court of Utah, is 46. Springfield, Ill., is his birthplace and Michigan his alma mater.

Dwight H. Perkins of 378 Oak street, native of Memphis, architect and member of the municipal art commission, is 42.

Frederick S. Thompson of 6522 Lafayette avenue, manager of the Main Belting company, is 55. He once was a sailor on a merchant vessel.

William F. Zimmerman, who has been identified with A. C. McClurg & Co. thirty-seven years, and is now president of that firm, is 60. He came from Germany, and some of his earlier days were spent in the oil fields of Pennsylvania.

The Rev. R. A. John, pastor of the St. Paul Reformed German Evangelical Lutheran church, will celebrate his fiftieth anniversary tonight at his church, Kemper place and Orchard street.

Louis E. Brandt, native of Hamburg, Germany, insurance broker and grand secretary of the Low German Guilds of North America, is 44. He has read THE TRIBUNE twenty-three years.

Charles A. Gimbel, 8240 Michigan avenue, member of the firm of Gimbel & Sons, is 42.

THOMAS B. REED AND THE TARIFF.

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In one important particular the position today resembles the position in which this country found itself in 1894. Just as in 1893 we had passed through the first great "silver panic" in history, so in 1908 we passed through the second great silver panic. I give the following short table of the world's price of silver bullion—the London quotation prepared by Messrs. Pixley & Abel:

	Pence.
December, 1893	31⅛
August, 1907	33 15-16
December, 1908	22

The fall in the price of silver since August, 1907, is the greatest fall of all in the history of that metal, the fall of 1893 being in the vernacular of the racecourse, "a good second, the rest nowhere."

The effect of such a collapse in silver must needs be magical. Silver is the only full legal tender currency of 800,000,000 Asiatics. The Chinese merchant in Hankow or Shanghai who bought a bill of exchange on New York for London with 5¼ taels in August, 1907, must in December, 1908, have paid nearly 8 taels for the same bill. In short, the break in the exchange made it impossible for the orient to buy our goods or Europe's goods, and especially Europe's, which are the product of the cheaper labor of Europe. Thus if Europe cannot sell to Asia Europe cannot buy freely from America. Last year then, just as in 1893, the keynote of the catastrophe was, as we should expect, the collapse of occidental exports to the orient. And as in 1893, so also in 1908, the same phenomenon is remarkable on every page of statistics.

Passing from exports, a few words only about imports, because it is here primarily that the tariff is concerned. If our exports are crippled, it is all the more important that we protect ourselves against any such stimulus to imports as a lowered tariff provides; for that way indeed lies not merely trade disaster but through disordered exchange a financial panic. History is, as I point out, repeating itself, and in the spring of 1894 Speaker Reed was "interviewed" on the subject of impending tariff changes. His view, absolutely indorsed and amplified by the economic incidence of fourteen years, I have chanced on today in the pages of the Fortnightly Review for June, 1894. Mr. Reed said:

"One thing at least I have learned since the cessation of silver purchases last year, that cheap silver is an effective stimulus to Asiatic exports, and this being the case, we have got to consider silver and the tariff not as two issues but as one. It is evidently no time to lower our tariffs when the currency of 700,000,000 of orientals is depreciating and their exporting powers to gold using nations is thereby increasing."

DIPLOMATICUS.

MANY LOOK TO THE SUBURBS AS MOVING DAY APPROACHES.

People Looking for Small Houses, It Is Said, but No Rent Reductions on May 1 Are Foreseen.

May 1, the annual "flitting day" for a considerable part of Chicago's population, will see this year an exodus to the suburban towns of many who have heretofore been satisfied to live in apartments in the city, according to the moving men and renting agencies. These persons are not going to the country merely for the summer season, either, if indications are correct, for many of them are either purchasing homes or are renting with the idea of purchasing later.

From some sources there are indications that flat life is becoming extremely tiresome, as there has been an unusual demand for small houses, a demand which it is impossible to fill, as but few houses have been built in the last ten years.

A roundup of many of the prominent renting agencies yesterday developed the fact, however, that there is likely to be less moving done this year than ever before, due principally to the fact that there is not to be a general increase in rents. One real estate man declared there would be a surplus of apartments this season, but when asked if rents would be reduced for that reason the answer was that they would not, but neither would they be advanced.

"The owners must keep up the rents in order not to lose on the money invested," he declared. "The surplus comes from the many new apartments which have been erected during the year. The people simply will pass up the old flats for the newer ones and the old ones will stand empty."

The general opinion among the real estate men that there would be less moving than usual was in every case preceded by the qualifying statement that it was too early to tell accurately. They assert that the making of new leases is put off generally until about a week before moving day.

"This is coming to be more and more the rule," said one real estate man, "contrary to the generally accepted opinion. A host of people will wait, apparently contented with their old quarters until about a week before May 1 and then become seized with the fever of moving."

Renting agencies generally report that the tenants are renewing their leases in greater numbers than ever before. This is cited as an indication that the landlords are willing to do the "square thing" in the way of making repairs and improvements. Then, too, moving is becoming more and more of a luxury. The cost of the operation now means about the same thing as adding from $2 to $2.50 a month to the rent.

Chicago built flat buildings valued at about $34,000,000 last year, and the open winter has made it possible to put up additional structures at an amazing rate.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY SIMS NOT READY TO TELL PLANS.

Returns from Conference with President Taft, but Declines to Discuss Standard Oil Cases.

District Attorney Edward Sims returned home yesterday from his conferences in Washington with President Taft and Attorney General Wickersham, happy but uncommunicative. His joyfulness can be accounted for by the fact that there is no immediate prospect of his leaving Chicago or the spacious quarters of the district attorney in the Federal building, and his failure to talk is due partly to the fact that the administration is not yet ready to announce its policy concerning the future trust busting campaign.

"I haven't heard a word of reports about changes in this office," said Mr. Sims. "Nothing was said to me about my taking any Washington position, and I'm not seeking any. This is a big office and I am well content to stay here. I discussed the various cases which are pending in this office both with Attorney General Wickersham and later with President Taft. I do not know that any conclusions have yet been reached with regard to the disposal of the pending cases against the Standard Oil company."

Special Counsel J. H. Wickersham, who accompanied Mr. Sims, also returned to work yesterday. There is little prospect that the pending suits against the Standard Oil company will be immediately pressed, and, in fact, the administration is said to be still uncertain regarding the proper course to pursue in view of the recent fiasco.

FATHER DORNEY IS RECOVERING

Widely Known Priest Has Been Suffering from an Aggravated Attack of Rheumatism.

The Rev. Maurice J. Dorney, pastor of St. Gabriel's Roman Catholic church, 721 West Forty-fifth street, and one of the most widely known priests in the country, is slowly recovering from an aggravated attack of rheumatism. The priest has been confined to his bed for more than a week. The fact of Father Dorney's illness became known following the visit of two specialists to his home. They are said to have checked the ailment, and no serious results are expected.

"WALKOUTS" TIE UP CASH

Action of Dunne Members of School Board Hits Contractors.

THREATS OF MANDAMUS.

"Strikers" Wish to Force Printing of Original Electric Contract.

Echoes of the "battle of the minutes" which was waged at the meeting of the Chicago board of education Wednesday night—a battle which extended into hours and culminated in the "walkout" of the Dunne "patriots"—rumbled about the board rooms yesterday.

The most persistent echo, perhaps, was the many calls which were received from contractors engaged in school work for payments due many of them for one month. By the action of the Dunne members in deserting the meeting nearly $300,000, which should have been issued to contractors tomorrow, will be tied up nearly a week longer.

Another echo was the threat by the "patriots" to institute mandamus proceedings to compel the board of education to print the report of the original Commonwealth Edison contract in the proceedings. Patriot Sonsteby was absent at Springfield yesterday and the backing up of the threats which were made after the "strike meeting" fell upon Patriot Wiley W. Mills. Mr. Mills declared that he thought mandamus proceedings would prove successful, but the lack of funds might form one difficulty in bringing the suit.

Respect Has Disappeared.

"Let them bring mandamus proceedings all they please," was the invitation of President Otto C. Schnejder. "I had some respect for some of those gentlemen up to last night, but it has disappeared now. They acted like children, not like men. The whole trouble lay in their desire to get the original contract with the Commonwealth Edison company into the minutes alongside of the contract which we finally adopted, which contained the improvement of a clause to the effect that the contract might be terminated on 90 days' notice.

"They want to claim the credit for the change and to point to it and say, 'See what we did.' They had no more to do with the change than any one else, and when they were not allowed to alter the record of the proceedings of the board to suit their own ends they walked out like rebellious children."

Jefferson School Dropped.

The Jefferson High school was dropped from the list of accredited high schools at the meeting of the board of inspectors of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools at the Auditorium hotel yesterday. The Lake High school, which was dropped from the list last year, was reinstated.

The list of accredited high schools was read by H. A. Hollister, inspector from the University of Illinois, but the explanation for the dropping of the Jefferson High school was left for the meeting today. After the meeting Mr. Hollister said that the principal reason for dropping the Chicago school was because of inefficient teaching in some departments and insanitary conditions in some of the schoolrooms.

"I do not know why the Jefferson school should be dropped, but the fact that it has been dropped will be a matter for Principal Charles A. Cook and the superintendent's office to look into," said President Schneider. At the close of the meeting of the inspectors yesterday officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President A. S. Whitney of the University of Michigan; vice president, H. A. Hollister of the University of Illinois; secretary, F. C. Ensign of the University of Iowa.

The Augustana College academy of Rock Island and the Beardstown High school also were dropped from the list of accredited schools.

Boys Ask Reinstatement.

To several appeals from members of the Lake View High school who were suspended for joining the Kappa Alpha Pi fraternity, in violation of the rules of the board of education, President Schneider replied that reinstatements will be left entirely in the hands of Principal Benjamin F. Buck.

"I have decided not to interfere with the school principals, but if I were to decide I would exclude these young men from the school until doomsday," said President Schneider.

"They have violated the rules of the board knowingly and there is no excuse or justification. These rules must be maintained if we are to have any system in the Chicago schools and any young man or woman who deliberately violates the rules is not entitled to any consideration or leniency."

SAYS FUTURE OF CHICAGO DEPENDS ON ITS HARBORS.

John M. Ewen Tells Real Estate Board How Important It Is to Provide for Lake Commerce.

Chicago's harbors were discussed at the monthly dinner of the real estate board at the Midday club last night by John M. Ewen, chairman of the harbor commission. He spoke of a letter written by Lord Rothschild about thirteen years ago to Lord Salisbury, who was then premier of England.

"In this letter," he said, "Lord Rothschild predicted that the time would come when the clamor for low cost of transportation would compel the United States government to develop the great waterways of the country, and to construct a deep channel from the lakes to the Gulf of Mexico.

"Some of these things have already come to pass, and it rests with Chicago to build for the future and build harbors to accommodate the traffic which would naturally come here, but which will just as surely find some way

MARY GARDEN STAR IN PARIS ROMANCE

Clash with Patron Reveals Union with Student and Baby's Birth.

MAN AND CHILD VANISH.

Support Is Withdrawn by Mrs. Mayer Because of Stories from Abroad.

Musical critics and magazine writers who have given to the public whole volumes about Mary Garden, learned yesterday that there were several interesting episodes in the life of the gifted diva that had escaped their attention.

Much had been written about the assiduous attention given to her training and the patronage of Mrs. David Mayer, but the little stories about the years spent in Paris did not become the subject of any pen until a real falling out with Mr. and Mrs. Mayer disclosed the cause of the severance of the friendship.

Then the romance—which many actors say is necessary experience for true acting—came to light. It was a love affair with a student of the Latin quarter, a union, and the birth of a baby. The name of her hero, his present whereabouts, and the whereabouts of the child have not been revealed.

Single Because "Heartwhole."

It had been accepted as a fact ever since the heroine became recognized as "the greatest American prima donna," that she had remained single because no man ever had touched her heart. She has made assertions of that sort on several occasions.

"Why have I never married?" she replied to a New York interviewer last December. "Because I've never met a man that it was possible I could marry who wouldn't have bored me as a husband. O, I don't mean that I'm easily bored—that they'd bore me at the end of a week or even if I should see them frequently, but all your life—for years—when they're there in front of you all the time—O!"

The interviewer continued in this way:

"Miss Garden's form seemed to shrink. She held out her arms as if thrusting the frightful phantom husband away from her, and her eyes looked horror."

Disappointed in Men Friends.

In the same interview she had this to say of platonic friendship:

"No, I have not found it. It is exceedingly hard to keep a friendship disinterested. No, I have not, and I have lost some of my best friends, too, some of whom I hoped so much. I have tried so often and been so often disappointed. Friendship, friendship, I think it is almost the greatest thing in the world, but, O, how scarce! I have tried so hard to keep my friends—tried to hold them—till it all becomes impossible.

Just a year prior to this interview she had given another similar in many respects.

"My work is my happiness. It is my life," she said earnestly. "O, I have thought at times that it would be nice to fall in love with a man and all that, and I have even done it, but it never lasted over twenty-four hours. One loves with one's mind, don't you think? And if one's mind is occupied with an art that requires every thought and emotion, there is not much room for love."

And before all these sayings were written into the record the blue eyed artist, it is said, had a real affair of the heart.

What Her Biographers Know.

She was young when she went abroad. They say she is 31 years old, and she went abroad about eleven years ago. Will J. Davis "discovered" her as a choir singer. He brought her to the attention of Mrs. Mayer, the wife of the junior partner of the firm of Schlesinger & Mayer, and through the kindness of that patron she began studying under Mrs. Sarah Robinson Duff.

At the end of four years her musical godmother personally chaperoned her to Paris, gave her carte blanche at the Paris branch of Schlesinger & Mayer, and placed her under the tutelage of Trabodella. Chevalier and Fugere of the Opéra Comique also helped pave the way for her in the company of that theater, and in 1901 she "got her chance" through the sudden illness of Mlle. Rioton, whom she was understudying in the rôle of Louise.

In ten minutes she won the hearts of the Parisians and for one hundred nights thereafter she was Louise. She followed that with a London success that established her standing permanently.

She returned to America in 1907 with a debut in Massenet's "Thais," and she was welcomed gloriously. Although she was born in Scotland, she was claimed for America. Her parents brought her to this country when she was 6 years old, and, after living in Brooklyn and Chicopee, Mass., brought her to Chicago, where they lived in Hyde Park.

Quarrel Reveals Romance.

Soon after Mrs. Mayer took her under her wing her parents moved to Philadelphia, where they still live. That much of her private life was known to the magazine biographers, and no more would have been known had not the singer become enraged at the demand of the Mayers that $20,000 advanced for her education be returned to them for use in "more satisfactory charity." As she was said to be receiving as high as $2,000 a night, she was able to write out a check for that amount, and then a request for the interest was advanced.

That brought out the story of the break that came several years before. Members of the Mayer family, which has several members devoted to travel, had heard in Paris first hand information about their protégé's life there. It is said they disapproved. She had been befriended by Sybil Sanderson, a favorite of Massenet, and after that singer's death the Chicagoan had starred in several of that composer's productions.

Her allowance from the Mayers was cut to a minimum, which, it is said, she was allowed to retain on condition that the Latin quarter student and all that part of her life be blotted out. He was said to have shared largely in the expenditure of the Mayer money.

Mrs. Mayer and members of her family refused—beyond a bare statement that the money would go to some "mpre deserving charity"—to discuss the prima donna's "inhuman ingratitude."

PUTS OFF ACTION ON CREAM RATES.

Prouty Does Not Think Commission's Order Should Apply to Express Companies.

SUGGESTS A CONFERENCE.

Interstate Board Files Motion to Dissolve Injunction in Missouri River Case.

Charges that the express companies have been making excessive rates for transporting cream to the large centralizing creamery companies were heard yesterday by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Prouty, who came to Chicago to investigate the complaint of the Fairmont Creamery company against the Pacific Express company. Although there was only one defendant, the practices the commission was asked to remedy were alleged to be general, and representatives of virtually all of the large express companies were present.

On March 4 the commission established a reduced scale of graduated mileage rates. The contention of the creamery companies, represented by Isaac H. Mayer, is that express companies operating over two or more lines of railroad, instead of basing their through rates on the total mileage had combined the two or more local rates of the individual railroads so as to make the total rate in some cases 75 per cent higher.

Questions Extent of Order.

The commission was asked to establish through rates for the express companies on the same basis as the railroads, with possibly a slight additional charge for the cost of the transfer. The defense of the express companies was that the transfer from one line to another involved an additional cost of service.

"It is perfectly clear to me," said Commissioner Prouty, "that many of these rates are too high. I do not think, however, that the commission's order should be applied to the express companies. The only safe way is to hold that the order ought to apply only between two points on a single line of railroad.

"If specific cases required a different rate, they must be adjusted separately.

"Let the order stand for the present, and if, after conferences between the creamery people and the express officials, the matter is not satisfactorily adjusted, another complaint can be made and the commission will take the matter under advisement."

Joke Over Harriman Control.

"In that case it would be a good thing for the shipper if Harriman owned all the roads," said Attorney Mayer, "so that all of the rate would be over a single line."

"Well, I assure you that it would simplify matters greatly for the commission in the matter of regulation if one man owned them all," was the jocular reply of the commissioner.

Before leaving the city in the afternoon Commissioner Prouty held a short conference with J. C. Stubbs, traffic director of the Harriman lines, regarding the interpretation of the commission's decision in the Spokane rate case.

Attorneys for the interstate commerce commission have asked the United States Circuit Court of Appeals to dissolve the temporary injunction issued by Judes Grosscup, Seaman, and Baker in the Missouri river rate case restraining the commission from reducing the through rates from the seaboard to the Missouri river. The motion was set for argument on April 19.

Candy Men Ask Rate Changes.

C. F. Gunther & Co. of Chicago, the National Confectioners' association, and twenty other confectionery manufacturers and associations have filed a petition with the interstate commerce commission asking for a reduction of the rates on all kinds of confectionery. They ask that the grades of candy rated as first class be changed to third class and the third class to fifth class. They allege that the present classification encourages the manufacture and sale of cheap and inferior confectionery and that it is a discrimination against the small dealer. All of the large western roads are made defendants.

Travelers between Chicago and St. Paul are congratulating themselves on the dining car service they are receiving as a result of competition said to have been started by a dining car conductor who tried to promote patronage and make his passengers feel at home by offering an occasional drink and a cigar "on the side." A rival road changed from a la carte to table d'hote service on competitive trains and in addition to increasing the size of a square meal added a drink and a cigar.

WON'T FINANCE PLANT WIZARD.

Efforts of Inventors to Capitalize Genius of Luther Burbank Have Been Abandoned.

San Francisco, Cal., March 25.—The efforts of a group of local and eastern capitalists to incorporate the results of the genius of Luther Burbank, the plant wizard of Santa Rosa, have failed.

Some time ago the Law Brothers of this city and Oscar Binner of New York announced that they had completed plans whereby the products of the noted naturalist were to be handled exclusively by a corporation which they had formed for that purpose. In giving the reason for not ratifying the agreement Burbank made the following statement:

"The early development did not indicate satisfactory results, either to the world or the parties involved in the transaction. As no corporation had yet been formed and only a preliminary contract executed when the proposition was found to be impracticable it was mutually agreed that it be abandoned."

GET CHICAGO MAN AS LEADER.

Pittsburg Civic Commission Selects Allen T. Burns to Head Reform Movement.

Allen T. Burns, dean of the Chicago School of Civics and Philanthropy, has accepted the office of secretary of the Pittsburg civic commission and will direct the reform movement that is now engaging the attention of the citizens of the Smoky city. Aroused by the revelations made by the "Pittsburg Survey," Mayor Guthrie of that city has appointed a committee of sixteen, to be enlarged to 100, to direct the reform work. The subjects to be taken up include public hygiene, lower courts, city housing conditions, legislation, rapid transit, and municipal efficiency. After looking the country over for the best man to become secretary in charge of the work the commission came to this city for its leader.

WHEAT WEAK AT THE FINISH

Heavy Selling Near Close Wipes Out Early Advances.

STRONG PRESSURE ON OATS.

Deferred Deliveries of This Cereal Sustain Losses; May Corn Up.

A late slump in wheat prices, caused by a wave of selling by local professionals when the market was bare of supporting orders, carried values to the lowest point of the day, and the close was practically at the bottom. Easier cables from foreign markets, continued liberal receipts in the northwest, favorable weather conditions, and a lack of aggressive buying were the main factors in making a weak tone. Initial quotations showed fair losses, but there was sharp rallying during the midsession trading. Final quotations were ⅝c lower. Trade was on a moderate scale, with professionals doing the bulk of the business.

Foreign Markets Are Easy.

The reported settlement of the Balkan troubles gave a weaker tone to the foreign markets which the light Argentine shipments were not sufficient to counteract, and the easy cables, with large receipts in the northwest, placed the local trade in a bearish frame of mind. Argentine exports were estimated at 3,600,000 bu, against 5,248,000 bu a year ago, and the remaining portion of the exportable surplus was estimated at 62,500,000 bu by a private cable, or 20,000,000 bu less than a year ago. Argentine wheat is said to be firmly held and comparatively moderate shipments are forecasted. Australia again shipped freely, estimated exports being 1,200,000 bu, against 440,000 bu a year ago. Liverpool closed ⅛@¼d lower, and Berlin was off ⅞c, and Paris was ¼@¾c lower.

Liberal Receipts in Northwest.

Continued liberal arrivals in the northwest brought the total primary receipts up to 472,000 bu, against 372,000 bu a year ago. Arrivals in the southwest were light, and the increasing scarcity of wheat in that section was evidenced by fair sales at extravagant prices. Winnipeg reported a fair export inquiry for wheat, but sales were not reported. Crop reports were not as numerous as recently, but a few bad reports came from Nebraska, while the advices from Kansas and the southwest were, as usual, entirely favorable. The Price Current said the outlook was encouraging, but that growth was being retarded by continued cold weather. Local cash sales were 25,000 bu. Sample prices here were steady relative to the futures. Clearances of wheat and flour were 72,000 bu. Local receipts were 59 cars, today's estimate being 31 cars.

May Corn Shows Strength.

Shorts in May corn are paying the penalty for selling too freely on the theory that the country longs would be forced to liquidate, and were obliged to cover at an advance again yesterday. Most of the upturn was lost in the last few minutes, however, and the May closed only a shade firmer, while July was ¼c lower and September ¼@⅜c off. Receipts are light, and although there is a slow cash demand the country shows no inclination to sell, and the oversold market condition has made it possible for a few big local operators to drive in the short sellers. Weather conditions were unfavorable. Cables came ½d off. Local receipts were 125 cars, with 134 cars promised for today. Cash prices were ¼c lower, with shipping sales of 125,000 bu. Clearances were 148,000 bu. Primary receipts were 391,000 bu, against 521,000 bu a year ago.

Oats Active and Lower.

Trade in oats was larger, but the increased activity was at the expense of values. The deferred months were especially weak all through the session, and final prices were ⅛@⅞c lower. The new crop months are being sold on the theory that there will be an enormous acreage this year. Consumption, moreover, has not been as large as expected and stocks are fairly liberal. Receipts here were 106 cars, with 94 cars expected today. Primary arrivals were 348,000 bu, against 484,000 bu a year ago. The sample market was easy and about ¼c lower. Shipping sales were 140,000 bu. Seeding is going on, it is claimed, in some parts of this state.

Rye Prices Are Steady.

Rye held steady. May as offered at 80c. No. 2 sold free on board at 79@80c, and No. 3, 78c. No. 4 was quoted 68@73c. Receipts were 4 cars.

Malting barley was steady, but mixing kinds sold slowly at ½c decline. Malting was quoted 66@67c, mixing 63@64c, and screenings 50@66c. Receipts were 41 cars.

Flaxseed was ½c higher. No. 1 northwestern closed at $1.65½. No. 1 from the northwest $1.64, and No. 1 southwestern $1.55½.

Timothy seed was steady. April was offered at $3.80. Country lots, $2.50@3.75. Cloverseed was unchanged at $9.00 for March. Cash lots were $7.00@8.90.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CHICAGO, March 25. — Shippers and packers were active buyers of hogs at an advance of 5c over Wednesday's best prices. A top was established at $6.95, and the average price for the day was raised to $6.79, against $6.75 on Wednesday and $6.72 a week ago. The outlet was broad enough to take care of all the hogs offered for sale, and the market closed decidedly strong, with little stock left unsold.

Steer trade was uneven, but the buyers took hold of the offerings with more alacrity, and prices averaged largely 10c higher than on Wednesday. Butcher stock trade had a fairly active tone, but values did not show any improvement, and late in the session the tendency was towards a lower level. Lamb prices were back to the season's highest level, with choice Colorado lambs selling up to $8.20, and the bulk of the desirable offerings clearing at around $8.10. Most of the sheep and yearlings on the market were shorn stock, and they sold at an appreciation of 10@15c, clipped ewes reaching a new high level at $5.15.

CATTLE.

More urgent shipping orders and a broader demand on local account, all of which had to be filled with receipts of only 5,000 head, gave the general cattle market a much healthier tone and enabled salesmen to establish steer values on a much stronger basis. All the traders were not agreed as to the actual gain made in steer prices, but most of the buyers called beeves selling at around $6.40@6.70 fully up to Monday's best prices, while the cheaper grades were only slightly lower, most of the loss sustained on Wednesday having been recovered. Three separate droves of fat steers sold at $6.70, the top of the market for full loads, while the bulk of the medium to good killers cleared at from $5.75 to $6.35, and the plain light steers sold at around $5.00.

Limited supplies of beef cows and fat heifers met with a ready outlet at steady prices, but the inferior offerings and the dairy cows were discriminated against, and did not sell until late in the session, when slight concessions were made to attract bids. Sales ranged at from $3.00 to $5.85, with most of the desirable grades at from $4.50 to $5.75. Bulls held at an unchanged level, while calves were slow sale at weak prices, best vealers clearing at around $7.75@7.85. Quotations:

Cattle at six western markets, 17,500, against 12,200 a week ago, 24,400 a year ago, and 13,700 two years ago. Total for 1909 to date, 1,717,000, against 1,851,000 the same period in 1908.

HOGS.

Shippers had orders for more than half of the total arrivals of 21,000 head, and they, with the speculators, opened the market at an advance of largely 5@10c over Wednesday's closing prices. Packers refused to follow this appreciation and insisted upon steady prices. They were unable to secure hogs without paying an advance, however, and although they did little trading during the earlier hours, they got in the trade with a will late in the session and enabled the bears to close the market in a strong position at the best figures and with all desirable offerings well sold.

Shippers paid up to $6.95 for prime fat hogs and made up droves of medium and strong weight butcher hogs at from $6.85@6.90, taking the choice light hogs at from $6.75@6.80. Packers made up their droves of mixed hogs at from $6.70@6.80, and paid up to $6.85@6.90 for prime heavy and butcher grades. Strong weight pigs met with a good demand at from $6.10@6.40, but the light pigs were neglected and a drug on the market at from $5.25@5.60. Shippers' purchases were estimated late in the day at 12,000 head, while packers were credited with droves aggregating 11,750 head. Quotations:

SHEEP.

Receipts of 10,000 head were lighter than expected after the voluminous supplies on Wednesday's market, and as the competition between packers, shippers, and outside butchers was much stronger than on the preceding day values took an upturn from the outset. Total supplies were insufficient to meet all the requirements and buyers wasted no time in bargaining when they perceived that salesmen had full control of the situation. This resulted in a good, active trade from start to finish, and intermediate grades of sheep and lambs sold at figures that showed the most advance, as buyers had to fall back on them to make up the deficit in supplies of finished stock.

A city butcher paid $8.20 for a double deck load of prime western lambs, but these were of much better quality than any other offerings on the market, and the next best price reached was $8.10. The latter figure was paid freely for choice fat wool lambs. Clipped lambs sold at $6.25@7.10, while feeders went to the country at $7.35@7.75. Shorn ewes topped at $5.15, while wool offerings reached $6.10. Clipped wethers sold at from $5.00@5.40 and yearlings made $6.25@6.35. There were no full loads of prime wool sheep or yearlings offered. Quotations:

Receipts for March 26 were estimated at 1,000 cattle, 20,000 hogs, and 6,000 sheep, against actual arrivals of 2,148 cattle, 15,084 hogs, and 8,360 sheep for Friday, March 27, 1908.

STOCKYARDS GOSSIP.

Indications of moderate receipts of hogs for later this week and the urgency of the demand for supplies from packers gave rise to a feeling of extreme bullishness on the part of the salesmen who had carried hogs over from Wednesday's market in anticipation of advancing prices, and instead of accepting the bids made in those trades declined to hold their stock over for further appreciations in prices, many of them having their mind fixed on the $7.00 mark.

J. W. P. Thomas of Delphi, Ind., marketed a flock of sheep and yearlings bought here in December at $3.50. The offerings were all shorn and sold at $5.15 for ewes, a new high level for the year, $5.40 for wethers, and $6.25 for the yearlings. Aside from this she sheep sheared an average of 6½ lbs of wool per head. This was one of the best paying consignments of fed stock on the market this season.

"Dan" McCarthy, buyer for Pfaelzar & Son, bought the only string of prime wool lambs to sell at $8.20. These lambs were of much better quality than any other on the market, and they were wanted by several of the buyers.

New high levels for the year were reached in the sheep trade when clipped ewes sold at $5.15 and western lambs topped the market at $8.20. Prime Colorado wool ewes sold at $6.10, which was the highest price of the season for a big lot, although several small bunches have sold up to $6.25 the last few days.

Shippers were the best buyers of beef steers, although the demand from local packers was much more urgent than on the preceding day. Steer values finished the day largely 10@20c higher than a week ago.

Two droves of Nebraska steers sold at $6.70, the top of the market, and the same as secured for the same class of stock on Monday's market.

Light pigs were a drug on the market and had to sell at a sharp discount under the heavier weights, which were in fair demand on local account.

Hogs left over from Wednesday's market were officially counted at 7,104.

ON THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Free selling of lard and ribs credited to a leading western packer, with moderate selling of longstuff, gave provisions a heavy tone for a time, but there was a moderate recovery and closing prices were 2½@5c up on pork, unchanged to 2½c lower for lard, and unchanged for ribs. Trade was quiet and featureless throughout the greater part of the session. Buying was scattered, local traders preferring the selling side. The hog market was a little firmer, owing to the lighter receipts than expected. Receipts here were 24,000 head, with 21,000 expected today. Western points had 66,900 hogs, against 56,100 a year ago. Packing at western points for the week was estimated at 520,000, against 505,000 a year ago. Talams at Liverpool were 6d higher, but lard was 9d lower. The export inquiry was said to be light. Domestic cash demand was called moderate.

UNDERTONE HAS STRENGTH.

Consolidated Gas Reflects Election of New President.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

NEW YORK, March 25.—[Special.]—Price changes on the stock exchange today, save in certain issues where speculative forces were at work, were confined to unimportant fractions, although the undertone of trading was undeniably strong. In Wabash shares the factors mentioned were in full operation, and this was even truer in the case of Chicago and Alton common, which, upon a limited volume of transactions, rose nearly seven points. Mexican Central also came out of the state of coma in which it has rested for several months, displaying unwonted activity and strength, both of which manifestations were unexplained by any direct development of the day.

Consolidated Gas reflected naturally enough the official announcement of Cortelyou's election to the presidency of the company. The administrative abilities of this new executive have been fully tested and proved substantial, and under his management it is altogether probable the company will enter upon a new era of prosperity having as its basis much more friendly relations with gas consumers and the people of the city at large.

Miners Action Factor.

Favorable as the action of the representatives of the miners in their meeting in Scranton on Wednesday undoubtedly was in a broad sense, yet the instructions issued by the convention to the men to continue at work after April 1 are still to be accepted by the operators. These instructions constitute for all practical purposes an extension of the prevailing agreement for a period which may be long or short, according as the miners' committee chooses to make it. The operators have been frankly opposed to an extension of the present arrangement for a period so brief as a year, and it is doubtful, therefore, whether they will be willing to permit the miners to continue work under the indefinite instructions of their representatives. Nevertheless, the outcome of the Scranton meeting is a decided admission of the unwillingness of the men to strike, and a satisfactory conclusion to further negotiations which may be expected.

Among other matters attracting more or less attention were the annual report of the American Sugar company, showing little earned above the concern's dividend requirements in 1908; announcements of further reductions in prices of certain steel materials, and of an extension of the program of wage cuts in the steel and iron trade, and the earnings statement of the Atchison for the month of February, which, with its increase of $463,000 in gross returns, seems to bear out the opinions of competent railroad men that traffic conditions are on the mend.

More Gold May Be Exported.

No further engagements of gold for export were announced today, but the small decline in foreign exchange rates, even supplemented as it is by lower discounts in London, is hardly enough to justify the conclusion that the movement is approaching its end. Quotations on time loans were unchanged, although the demand for accommodation seems a little more active. This activity is explained by the approach of the April 1 disbursements, which are always heavy, and which, it is estimated, will this year call for the payment of $150,000,000 in dividends and interest.

The weekly return of the Bank of England disclosed a small loss in the percentage of reserve to liabilities and an increase in gold, while the German bank statement also noted substantial additions to gold holdings.

IN THE FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, March 25.—The demand for money exceeded the supply today and discounts were easy. Although the Balkan situation and the approaching settlement checked fresh commitments on the stock exchange, the tone was better, with slight improvements in foreigners and Kaffirs under Paris support, while the improving bank reserve strengthened gilt edged securities. The continued influx of gold and prospects of monetary ease at the end of the quarter raised the hope of a reduction in the Bank of England's rate of discount in the near future. American securities, after temporary weakness, improved steadily on bear covering. Baltimore and Ohio, the Harriman issues, the United States Steel issues being in the lead. But New York offered stock later and the market closed dull below the best for the day.

IN THE WORLD OF FINANCE

Illinois Tunnel Company Shares Moderately Active on 'Change.

BOND PRICES RULE STEADY.

Effort to Have United States Steel Open Transfer Office Here.

Illinois Tunnel company shares were moderately active on the local exchange. The price sold off after the opening, but closed at 28. As announced yesterday, it is expected that the railroads will eventually take over the property and guarantee a certain return on the securities. It transpires that all the railroads have now entered into an agreement with the tunnel company. Within the last few days the Grand Trunk, the only road holding out, was brought into line and all the railroads entering Chicago will have connection with the tunnels.

People's Gas was but moderately active, although dealings in the "rights" were in considerable volume. Swift & Co. shares were firm on miscellaneous purchases. United Boxboard preferred was again in good demand at 15.

In the bond department prices ruled steady.

Want Steel Transfer Office.

Representatives of the Chicago stock exchange are making an effort to have the United States Steel corporation open a transfer office in Chicago. To this end H. D. Sturtevant of Shearson, Hammill & Co. left yesterday for New York to confer with E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation. Several of the banks have written strong letters urging the corporation to comply with the wishes of the exchange.

Conducting a transfer office requires an annual expenditure of $8,000 or $4,000. It should require three or four minutes' consideration on the part of Mr. Gary to order the opening of an office here.

Erie to Issue Bonds.

Erie railroad securities showed activity yesterday, based on the belief that an understanding would be reached with the public service commission of New York in the matter of the proposed $30,000,000 bond issue. At the general office of the company the following statement was issued:

"No action has been taken by the Erie company with respect to the acceptance or nonacceptance of the condition imposed by the public service commission in connection with the granting of authority to issue bonds. The precise nature and effect of the restrictions will not be known until the commission has passed upon the form of the collateral trust indenture covering the proposed bond issue. The company will submit the form of such indenture for the approval of the commission, and it is expected that it will be passed upon within a few days. The company will then be able to determine whether it can accept the terms and restriction of the order as determined by the terms of the trust indenture."

April Disbursements Large.

Total disbursements of interest and dividends for April, 1909, will exceed, it is estimated, $155,000,000, which will be a large increase over similar payments for the same month in previous years. The total dividends declared up to the present date amount to $90,480,484, which compares with $76,115,624 for April, 1908, and $71,723,720 for April, 1907. The large increase is found in the industrial and miscellaneous group of companies, many of which have resumed payments or increased their rates.

The interest disbursements will aggregate $60,669,872. This compares with $62,564,136 last year and $61,641,273 in 1907.

New Boxboard Company.

The reorganization committee of the United Boxboard and Paper company and directors of the United Boxboard company met in New York yesterday and organized the board of directors of the latter concern by the election of Sidney Mitchell as president; C. C. Adsit, vice president; Hyatt Cox, vice president and treasurer; W. C. Staley, secretary, and James Todd, general counsel.

The new company will have a capital of $15,000,000, and will begin business next Monday with a working capital of cash and quick assets amounting to $2,500,000.

Corn Products May Issue Bonds.

The talk is that a bond issue by the Corn Products Refining company, if finally authorized, will amount to $10,000,000, bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent, and have sinking fund provisions. A part of the securities, if voted, will be used to retire present underlying mortgages.

Will Pay $16,000,000 Notes.

Speyer & Co. will pay on April 1 the $10,000,000 notes of the National Railroad company of Mexico and on the same date will pay the $6,000,000 notes of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway company which were issued one year ago.

Dividends Declared.

The American Locomotive company declared its usual quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on preferred stock, payable April 21. Books close April 5 and reopen April 22.

The Great Northern railway company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent, payable May 1 to stock of record April 10.

The Distilling Company of America declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on its preferred stock, payable April 20 on stock of record April 9.

BUYS DEARBORN STREET LOT

Levi P. Morton Acquires Property Valued at $228,525.

TRADES WEST SIDE LAND.

Incumbrance of $130,000 Assumed as Part of Purchase Price.

Levi P. Morton of New York appears as the purchaser of the Star building and ground at 352-356 Dearborn street, 100 feet north of the northwest corner of Harrison street, in a deal closed yesterday. The lot fronts 50 feet, with a depth of 67 feet, running through to Custom House place, and the building is a twelve story and basement steel construction structure, which was valued by the board of review at $107,250, and the land at $121,225, making a total of $228,525.

Mr. Morton assumed an incumbrance of $130,000, being what remains of a loan secured upon the property in October, 1906, by Charles C. Heisen from William H. Jeffries, and $50,000 given in 1907 by Mr. Heisen to the Chicago Title and Trust company. These were assumed as part of the purchase price, and Mr. Morton conveyed for the rest of the consideration the property at 211 Randolph street, 20x160 feet, with an old two story and basement building valued at $55,000; also 608 feet in scattered lots in the Levi P. Morton subdivision at Twenty-second street and Marshall boulevard, and 35 acres, east front, on West Fifty-second avenue, south of Thirty-ninth street, in Cicero.

Transferred Twice in Year.

George H. Wilson is the grantor with Lester H. Cheeseman of Detroit, who acquired the property from Mr. Heisen a year ago. The Hamilton National Bank of Chicago also quitclaimed to Mr. Morton. The deal was negotiated by Walter H. Wilson & Co. and Callistus S. Ennis & Co.

Ola L. Uthur has purchased from Edward H. Olsen the apartment house property in Magnolia avenue, 242 feet south of Wilson avenue, with 50x146 feet of ground, east front, for $25,000, subject to an incumbrance of $10,000, assumed.

Ira C. Darling has purchased from Miss Laura Wheeler of Sharon, Conn., a tract of 664x659 feet at the southwest corner of Leavitt and Grace streets, comprising a little over ten acres, for $22,000. The purchaser gave back a trust deed to William D. Kerfoot for $17,000, four years, at 5 per cent.

Ellis Avenue Flat Sold.

Mrs. Sarah Stonehill has conveyed to Charles B. Haffenberg the flat property in Ellis avenue, 123 feet south of Forty-ninth street, with 50x150 feet of ground, east front, for $23,000. Mr. Haffenberg gave back a trust deed for $16,500, five years, at 5 per cent.

Albert P. Mracek has sold to Eugene Sidenberg the property at 3231-3235 Vernon avenue, 50x164½ feet, west front, with improvements, for $12,000, subject to an incumbrance of $7,500.

The State Mutual Life Assurance company of Worcester, Mass., has made a loan of $75,000, due in five years, at 5 per cent, to Max and David B. Weber, secured by the property in Wabash avenue, 372 feet north of Twentieth street, 75x168 feet, east front, with brick improvements.

Isabella S. Gardner of Boston has sold to Thomas E. Wells for $22,000 cash, 50 feet of frontage on the east side of Indiana avenue, beginning 100 feet north of Twenty-second street. M. L. Freiberger negotiated the sale.

CHAS. A. STEVENS & BROS

Women's and Children's Outfitters Exclusively.

(Copyright, 1909, by Chas. A. Stevens & Bros.)

The fascinating Millinery display has contributed largely to the signal success of our Easter Opening.

The unusual straws, rare achievements in coloring, superb feathers and birds of paradise, and the quaint and pretty floral effects, make the exhibit a very rich and beautiful one. The designs are unusual and represent the highest and most exclusive type of the fashionable hat. The two hats illustrated show their avoidance of those styles that already bid fair to become ordinary.

The superiority of our Tailored Suits is greatly appreciated.

Our extensive showing of attractive tailored suits is convincing thousands of visitors every day that they can secure tailored suits here at from $45 to $65 which are far more satisfactory in every way than they could have made by a tailor at a much higher price. We offer a far greater array of styles to choose from—while the materials and workmanship are the very best.

We will continue this splendid opening throughout the week, and hope every woman in Chicago will find it convenient to attend. We know all will feel more than repaid. We have made many changes on our first floor, in enlarging and rearranging departments, which we are sure our customers will consider decided improvements.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

Men's Light-Weight Overcoats and Cravenettes, $25, $30 and $35.

A RARE COLLECTION OF FORCEFUL VALUES.

A large variety of handsome patterns never before shown is presented in the fine light-weight coatings. The materials of the Rainproof Overcoats are "cravenetted," making them practical for the ordinary uses of overcoats as well as affording the additional protection from rain—excellent examples of fine tailoring, at $25, $30, and $35. Second Floor.

Men's New Street Gloves at Low Prices.

Main Section, pair, $1.00. Basement Section, pair, 75c.

These very special values will meet almost every demand of economical buyers. A splendid selection of shades and styles determined for wear during the next few months is shown at both prices. They are strictly first quality lines meeting the precise requirements of this store.

Distinctively Tailored New Spring Clothing for Youths.

The Suits introduce refined new features superseding the style marks of last season. A great variety of these models is shown in attractive effects—new grays, plain mixed cheviots and striped worsteds—strictly high grade garments, $25. Fourth Floor.

The Light Weight Overcoats—in tans and grays—some silk, some serge lined, in button through and fly-front models. A remarkably high grade line at a low price—$15.

Boys' Suits and Reefers Specially Priced.

At $5 we present more than an ordinary value in Boys' Sailor Suits in fancy mixed fabrics and navy blue serge—sizes 5 to 10 years.

Exceptional quality is offered in a collection of Boys' Knickerbocker Suits—the three best models—yoke Norfolk as illustrated, plain double breasted semi-fitting or derby back, finely made in every particular—$8.

Boys' Reefers for Easter wear—a special group is offered in fine mixed worsteds and cheviots in sizes 2½ to 12 years—much less than regular value—$7.50. Fourth Floor.

Boys' and Youths' Shirts for Confirmation.

The season's best selected Plain and Plaited Negligee Shirts for boys, coat style, with cuffs attached. They are made of white madras with self figures and stripes; also of fine cambric in plain and white embroidered figures, sizes 12 and 14, $1.00 to $2.25.

The Shirts for youths comprise by far the largest and greatest variety ever presented in this section. They are made from the least expensive to the very finest wash fabrics, sizes 13½, 14 and 14½, $1.50 to $3.00. Fourth Floor.

Youths' Handkerchiefs: Attractive Effects.

Our assortment of novelties, including Handkerchiefs with colored borders and figured centers and also in plain colors, affords almost no end of variety for selection. The qualities are especially good at the low prices, 25c and 50c.

Special: Youths' White Initial and Hemstitched Handkerchiefs—splendid values at prices ranging from 18c to 50c. Fourth Floor.

Men's Handsome Cravats and Suspenders, 35c.

The value-giving power of this section is clearly demonstrated in our lines at this moderate price. Extensive purchases have enabled us to secure varieties in Easter Neckwear in greatly varying shades and styles, at much below the regular value. First Floor.

Easter Novelties in Men's Handkerchiefs.

Novelty colorings, either to match the cravat or to harmonize with any other part of the dress, prevail more in the styles for men this year than during any previous season. In meeting this well-defined trend of style, we present a very comprehensive showing in many attractive effects, reasonably priced from 18c to $2.50.

Special—Unusual bargains in plain White Linen Hemstitched Handkerchiefs for men, all reduced, 10c, 15c, 18c, 25c and 35c. First Floor.
